Ford Expects To Open Rouge Plant Monday

Company and Union Accept Main Points Of Governor's Peace Formula

Ratified by Union

By the Associated Press

Detroit, April 10.—Officials of the Ford Motor Co. and the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.) today accepted Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner's appeal for settlement of the Rouge plant strike "without further delay" to help national defense, but the company insisted on some modification of the Governor's peace formula.

Whether the union leaders, first to assent to the plan, would approve the exceptions made by the company was not announced immediately.

An estimated 16,000 unionists, crowding the State Fairgrounds Coliseum, tonight approved by acclamation a motion put to them by Michael F. Widman, jr., chairman of the U. A. W.-C. I. O. Ford organizing drive, in these words:

"We accept the proposal of your Governor, then refer the matter which the Ford Motor Co. raised tonight—just a bugaboo—to your negotiating committee."

Earlier I. A. Capizzi, chief Ford counsel said that production would be resumed Monday, since it would require "at least a day" for preliminaries and the plant is normally closed on Saturday and Sunday.

Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, announced that the company was prepared to reopen its huge Rouge plant on the Governor's terms, except that "it is impossible to return all employes to their jobs at once."

Must Repair Damage, He Says

Capizzi said some damage within the plant would have to be repaired and estimated that it would be "a week or ten days" before production can reach capacity.

The company also insisted that certain complaints filed with the National Labor Relations Board here by the union and other NLRB hearings affecting the Rouge plant "be deferred and held in abeyance" until after an election, ordered recently by the NLRB to be held within 45 days.

Company Wants 'Honest Election'

Bennett's statement said the company was "not only willing but anxious to expedite the holding of an election" and added:

"The company's sole interest in

The body of Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, left Capitol Hill in a flag-covered casket borne on an Army caisson last night after hundreds of his friends filed in silent tribute past his bier in the Senate chamber.

Three troops of the Third Cavalry, its mounted band and a battery of the Fifty-fifth Field Artillery, all from Fort Myer, escorted the body to Union Station at 5:15 p. m. A few hours later the man who had served longer in Congress than any of his colleagues and who at his death Wednesday headed the important Military Affairs Committee, began the final journey from Washington to his home in Texarkana.

The ceremony of homage in the Senate, yeteran officials said, was probably without precedent.

Honor Guard of Police

At 3 p. m. a detachment of soldiers placed the casket directly in front of the Vice President's rostrum, which was covered with flowers. An honor guard of Capitol police stood at attention on either side of the casket, facing the Senator's second-row desk on which lay a spray of red carnations.

First in the procession of mourners were his Senate colleagues who walked solemnly in double file down the center aisle. Then came the hundreds who had waited for nearly a half hour in the corridor outside the chamber. They were chiefly Capitol employes and Government workers whom the Senator had befriended in the more than 38 years of his career as a law maker.

In 19 minutes nearly 500 mourners filed past the casket in an almost unbroken stream. Senators Hattie W. Caraway and Tom Connally watched from their desks.

During the afternoon, police cleared the area on the east front of the Capitol of automobiles and

U. S. to Set Up Superagency To Fix Prices

Henderson to Head Board; Controls Will Be Extended To Many Products

By Alfred Friendly
Post Staff Writer

An executive order creating a new defense agency on a par with the Office of Production Management, with almost all of the powers enjoyed by the old War Industries Board, to set prices and enforce their observance, is waiting Presidential approval, it was learned reliably last night.

Signature of the order, which would place Defense Commissioner Leon Henderson in charge of the "Office of Price Control and Consumer Protection," is believed probable within the next two days.

The new agency, to be set up under the Office of Emergency Management, would launch a much more far-reaching and intensive program of price-fixing on both defense and civilian commodities than has been undertaken up to the present, it was indicated.

Could Enforce Orders

Combining the functions of Henderson's price stabilization division and that of Miss Harriet Elliott, on consumer activity, both in the Defense Commission, the new agency also would have a more direct call on enforcement measures.

Principal weapon for effecting the division's orders would be the powers of the Selective Service Act to place compulsory orders and to "draft" any industry or concern which proves to be recalcitrant. This power would be invoked at the President's command by the Secretaries of the Army and Navy at the direct representation of Henderson to the White House.

The principal methods of setting prices, it was indicated, would remain much the same as at present, but they would be invoked over a much wider field. Generally conferences are held with leaders of the industries involved at which Henderson's staff proposes a set of maximum prices. If the situation does not mend, or grows more serious, the next step has been to issue publicly the price maxima and ask public cooperation in reporting sales at prices in excess of the limits and refusal to buy at higher prices.

Would Expand Operations

It is expected that the prospective division would also rely on public hearings and reports to Congress in the event of violations.

Although Henderson's division has been active in setting prices for several categories of metal scrap, for second-hand machine tools and coal, an official declared yesterday that so far the division "nas just been coasting," and if the new office is created, price ceilings would be set over a vastly expanded variety of subjects.

Because of the proposed inclusion of Miss Elliott's consumer division and also because of Henderson's known concern with inflation and the aspects of price on the Nation's economy as a whole, it is believed that the new agency will concern itself as much with civilian and nondefense items as with those of a military nature.

Outpost of Americas

By Hedley Donovan
Post Staff Writer

Armed forces of the United States soon will be stationed within 3 miles of the German blockade zone under terms of an agreement, announced yesterday, giving this country a virtual protectorate over Greenland.

The agreement signed Wednesday by Secretary of State Hull and Herik de Kauffmann, Danish Minister to Washington, empowers the United States to construct and man airdromes, seaplane bases and fortifications on the huge Arctic island owned by Nazi-occupied Denmark.

The agreement bluntly states that an undefended Greenland might be seized by Germany as a springboard for attack on the Western Hemisphere.

Nazi Planes Seen There

Underlining this interpretation of the Administration's dramatic extension of America's defense lines, the State Department announced that German warplanes have been seen over Greenland twice in the last fortnight.

Congressional comment on the agreement was predominantly favorable, with the new North Atlantic base viewed as a logical link in the defense chain being forged about the Americas.

Unofficially, it was suggested here that the agreement might help relieve the heavy strain on British shipping in the battle of the Atlantic by bringing convoys under observation of American air and naval forces up to the very edge of the blockade zone, 1,200 miles west of the British Isles.

Military experts said air bases in Greenland would provide a valuable stepping stone for delivery of American-built planes to Britain. The negative value of the new defense position is particularly important, they pointed out, since enemy submarines, planes or surface raiders operating from Greenland could seriously menace American communications in the North Atlantic.

Danes to Get It Back

President Roosevelt, in a message hailing the agreement as "new proof of our continuing friendliness to Denmark," pledged the United States "to make sure that when the German invasion of Denmark has ended, Greenland will remain a Danish colony."

"Meanwhile," he said, "we earnestly hope for the quick liberation of Denmark from her present invaders."

The agreement, signed on the first anniversary of Hitler's seizure of Denmark, emphasizes America's recognition of Danish sovereignty over Greenland and states that "present circumstances" prevent the govern-

President Asks Power to Seize Foreign Ships

Warns That Idle Vessels Are Needed For 'Ultimate Defense'

By Robert C. Albright
Post Staff Writer

President Roosevelt yesterday asked Congress for authority to take over any foreign-owned ships lying idle in American waters, to relieve this Nation's shipping shortage.

The proposal was not limited to the 36 Danish ships immobilized here but embraced all inactive vessels of foreign registry, including 19 owned by the French.

Leaders forecast prompt approval, and the Senate Commerce Committee ordered hearings beginning next Monday on a bill draft submitted with the message. The House Merchant Marine Committee already had slated hearings next week on a similar bill.

Stress laid by the President on the danger of accumulating goods piling up for lack of shipping led Capitol observers to speculate on possible naval escort of British-bound supplies through Western Hemisphere waters as far as proposed Greenland bases.

For Ultimate Defense

At the White House, when asked for comment on prospects of American convoying, Stephen T. Early, Presidential secretary, referred questioners to the language of the President's message.

"It is obvious," the President wrote, "that our own ultimate defense will be rendered futile if the growing shortage of shipping facilities is not arrested.

"It is also obvious that inability to remove accumulating materials from our ports can only result in stoppage of production with attendant unemployment and suspension of production contracts.

"It is, therefore, essential, both to our defense plans and to our domestic economy, that we shall not permit the continuance of the immo-

Yugoslav Navy Escapes to Join British Fleet

Serbs Reported Driving Deeper Into Albania

By the United Press

Vichy, April 10.—Yugoslavia's small but comparatively modern fleet has escaped from its bases on the Adriatic Dalmatian coast and joined the British fleet operating from Greek ports, according to dispatches reaching Yugoslav quarters in Vichy tonight.

At the same time, to the south of the severed "waistline" of Yugoslavia, Serbian troops were reported battling furiously in an effort to recapture the Vardar valley town of Skoplje from the Nazis.

Another Yugoslav force was reported driving deeper into Italian Albania to the southwest, striking across the Drin River and into the interior after taking Scutari, Lesh and Kukes.

[An International News Service dispatch from London said German advances were halted at all points in Yugoslavia excepting the Morava River Valley near the Rumanian frontier, according to an official communique which stated:

["The enemy continues to advance in the valleys of the Velika and Morava (eastern Yugoslavia) where he occupied Paratchin and Choupria.

Parachutists Rounded Up

["On the northern front the enemy had little success. He was halted in the Virovititza sector by vigilant action of our troops.

["Only slight activity was reported on the Italian front.

["Enemy parachutists were dropped at several places but all were rounded up.

["The situation in Albania was unchanged.

["Because of bad flying weather there was little aerial activity."]

(Yugoslav official quarters in London said the Yugoslavs were finding it extremely difficult to combat a new type of German mountain-climbing tank.)

Zagreb Taken, Croats Set Up State, Nazis Say

2 Guilty in Alexander's Death Called Leaders; Macek Held a Backer

By the Associated Press

Bern, Switzerland, April 10.—German motor troops rolled tonight into Zagreb, the capital of old Croatia, and German news agency dispatches said the patchwork kingdom of Yugoslavia had been ripped asunder.

The Croats, long a large, restless element of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, were declared to have established their own nation under Dr. Ante Pavelic as premier and an extremist named Kvaternik as vice premier, both once sentenced to death for complicity in the assassination of King Alexander in 1934.

Dr. Vladimer Macek, who only last week acepted vice premiership of the Yugoslav government, was portrayed as one of the prime movers of the new Zagreb government. This is a sensational about face, if true, for Macek long has been an enemy of Pavelic and a critic of the many assassinations laid to Pavelic in his campaign against Yugoslav unity.

It was Macek, however, to whom the agency Internationales Nachrichten Buro attributed announcement of the new Croat state in a radio address from Zagreb.

The German high command announced merely that Zagreb was occupied and that the Croat population greeted the Nazi troops joyously.

(Authoritative circles in London immediately called the news "the same old German game of setting up a supposedly independent state in territory their armies are attempting to subjugate."

(DNB, official German news agency, carried in Berlin a slightly different account from Bratislava, Slovakia, to the effect that the Zagreb radio announced "Gen. Sladko Kvaternik," as chief of state,

Turkish Radio Reports German Advance Down Aegean Coast

BULLETIN

Bern (Friday), April 11 (AP).—The Hungarian army has been ordered by Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy to enter Yugoslav territory separated from Hungary in 1918, the official Hungarian news agency reported early today.

Admiral Horthy in an address to the Hungarian nation said the action was taken to protect the former Hungarian territory against anarchy and was not directed against the Serb nation with which, he said, Hungary wants to live in peace in the future.

By the United Press

London (Friday), April 11.—German tank columns are driving down Greece's Aegean coast from captured Salonika upon the right flank of the main Greek army and the British expeditionary force at historic Mount Olympus, an Ankara radio broadcast said early today.

Mount Olympus is 60 miles below Saloniki and 30 miles north of the railroad center of Larissa.

Meanwhile, German armored forces driving into northern Yugoslavia were said by the C.B.S. Ankara correspondent to have seized the Yugoslav summer resort of Bled and to be advancing from the direction of Klagenfurt upon the Slovene city of Ljubljana.

Ljubljana is 60 miles northwest of Zagreb and about 30 miles below the German frontier.

Call for Egypt's Aid Reported

The C.B.S. correspondent at Ankara also reported, on the basis of diplomatic reports, that Britain had asked the Egyptian government to place its entire army at the disposal of the British command in the Middle East.

The Egyptian army and government thus far have remained technically neutral, despite the invasion of Egyptian territory and bombing of Egyptian ports serving as British bases.

Greeks, British Prepare For Titanic Battle

By the Associated Press

Athens, Friday, April 11.—Greek soldiers and their British allies grimly dug in on a solid mountain barrier in northern Greece today in preparation for a titanic battle to hold the Greek peninsula against German troops who were reported rapidly cleaning up western Thrace and the Salonika region.

Greek officials declared the overwhelming superiority of German numbers and weapons outweighed the Greeks in the border regions but that they resisted to the last bullet.

The Greeks reported fighting between the Nazis and isolated Greek forces was confined to the Bulgarian border and a spattering of German air raids on the Athens port of Piraeus and Kozane.

On Changed Ground

Official sources here declared the war in Greece definitely had entered a new phase.

In the first stage they declared, the geographical features of the border regions favored the German mechanized invaders.

Now, they added, the defenders have a mountain barrier on which to base themselves—and it is there that the forces are making ready for the battle for the Greek Peninsula.

The Greeks still holding out on the Bulgarian frontier are "giving a unique example of heroism and abnegation," said the Athens radio, but elsewhere contact with the Ger-

President May Let U. S. Ships Visit Nova Scotia Port

Copyright by New York Times

President Roosevelt was reported yesterday to be considering a plan to allow American merchant vessels to carry war materials into the belligerent waters of Halifax, Nova Scotia, starting point for most North Atlantic convoys.

An authoritative source said the President had not reached a decision, and would "exhaust every other course" before reaching any conclusion.

The plan would require changes in the neutrality act, whoch bars American ships from carrying arms to the ports of a belligerent. Some congressional leaders expressed the opinion yesterday, however, that a request by Mr. Roosevelt for an amendment would not meet serious opposition.

A Woman Scorned

Wife Asks Court to Force Husband to Live With Her

Mrs. Gladys Campbell Rodgers, 5336 Chevy Chase Parkway Northwest, yesterday petitioned United States District Court to force her estranged husband, James Milton Rodgers, a building materials manufacturer, to resume marital relations with her.

The suit, entitled a "complaint for restitution of conjugal rights," is believed to be the first of its sort in the history of the District Court here.

Mrs. Rodgers told the court through her attorney, Ray Neudecker, that her husband forced her to leave their apartment after he became interested in another woman. She declared she left their home "reluctantly and unwillingly."

Rodgers requested a divorce last June, she said, stating he "would not live with her if she were the last woman in the world." She refused and has since attempted reconciliation with her husband, it was said.

A recent decision of the United States Court of Appeals here has bearing on the Rodgers case, it was learned. The appellate court ruled that a married person who deserted his mate could obtain a divorce after five years on grounds of voluntary separation if the abandoned person had failed to make reconciliation efforts.

It was pointed out that even though the court ruled against Mrs. Rodger's petition, the suit would be evidence of an attempted reconcilation which would bar her husband from getting a divorce here on grounds of voluntary separation.

Civilian Groups In Istanbul To Be Removed

By the Associated Press

Istanbul, April 10.—A considerable portion of the 250,000 population of this storied city will be removed to the interior of Asiatic Turkey, the government announced today.

Istanbul is on the European side of the Bosporus, about 100 miles from Bulgaria and 150 miles from eastern Greece, both under German occupation. The government stated.

"It is found advisable that persons of the following categories living in Istanbul should be evacuated: Orphans, aged persons receiving civil or military pensions and who are not engaged in defense industry, and persons without occupation."

They may go anywhere except Thrace, which is on the European side of the straits; Ankara, the Turkish capital, or Izmir and Erzeroum, large population centers in Anatolia.

Applications for transportation must be made by Tuesday. Istanbul is the only major Turkish city immediately vulnerable to air attack.

Increasing numbers of Greek refugee civilians and troops were reported entering Turkey-in-Europe, and arrangements were being made to care for them.

The Rome radio today quoted "well-informed sources" as saying that Franz von Papen, German Ambassador to Turkey, had renewed assurances that "Germany has no intention of attacking Turkey."

Yugoslav Navy Joins British Fleet

escaped from the Adriatic base were said to include destroyers, torpedo boats, four submarines and a number of swift "mosquito" torpedo boats of British and German construction which will be particularly useful in British operations in the Adriatic.

Yugoslav quarters here said that, insofar as could be learned, the Yugoslav fleet has suffered no serious losses in the five days of German blitzkrieg and was able to move southward to join the British behind the screen of the Dalmatian Islands.

Although a small fleet with barely 600 officers and 7,000 men, the Yugoslav navy is comparatively modern and of good quality owing to the fact that the Belgrade government took advantage of the naval rivalry of the big powers and obtained prototypes from German, British and French shipyards.

The most obsolete vessel of the Yugoslav fleet is the German cruiser Niobe, now 41 years old and bought by Yugoslavia in 1928 for training purposes. It has been renamed the Dalmacija. The largest unit is the 1,850-ton flotilla leader Dubrovnik, built in 1931.

The four submarines are the 600-ton Smeli and Ospetnik, built by the French at Nantes in 1929, and the Hrabi and Nebojsa of 975 tons modeled on the British L-50 class.

The destroyer Dubrovnik is British-built with a speed of 37 knots, presumably equal to any Italian destroyers now in the Adriatic.

The three 1,210-ton 38-knot destroyers, the Beograd, Zagreb and Ljubljana, are less than two years old.

Of significance are the four Yugoslav naval bases along the Dalmatian coast—at Cattaro or Kotor, Dubrovnik or Lagusa, Split or Spalato and Chibenik or Sebenico.

They form an ideal extension of the British-Greek naval bases. By the same token, they would be highly useful in enemy hands. The islands along the Dalmatian coast provide perfect hiding places for submarines and mosquito boats, which could be taken in by rail and assembled.

Power Sabotage Predicted if U. S. Enters Conflict

Chicago, April 10 (AP). — Maj. Charles W. Leihy, of Chicago, declared today that "should hostilities develop," sabotage could be expected in vulnerable portions of the Nation's electric power system and would be "more dreaded than bombing."

The major, a Field Artillery officer and the editor of Electric Light and Power, suggested in a paper prepared for the Midwest power conference that the power industry consider such sabotage-combatting measures as these:

Development of radio systems for the quick dispatching of trouble and patrol crews, use of mobile equipment, standardization of equipment, circuit rearrangement to circumscribe stricken power areas, priority of restoration of service, and portable substations.

mans—which was broken off before the capture of Salonika on Wednesday—has not been reestablished.

(A National Broadcasting Co. representative in London quoted the Greek radio as saying the trapped Greek forces in the east had cut their way through the German lines to freedom and taken up new positions west of Salonika.)

A Greek government spokesman said the forces that sacrificed themselves in Macedonia and Thrace were "very few" in numbers and were holding up assaults of many more and better equipped Germans. He added that the "bulk of our forces are elsewhere, fighting the Italian aggressor."

German planes dropped magnetic mines in Piraeus Harbor again on Thursday, the Greek home security ministry announced, and several of them exploded on land, causing casualties and damage. One fell near an insane asylum, causing some casualties there.

Parts of destroyed German aircraft were found in one district of the town.

Planes which bombed Kozane, 40 miles south of the Yugoslav border and 70 miles southeast of Salonika, caused only five deaths, the Greeks said.

Await "Right Time"

On the Albanian front with the Italians, the Greek command said there was patrol and artillery activity. "Farther east there is nothing of importance to report," the communique said.

The Greeks declared they were determined to smash Hitler's invaders with British help "at the right time and in the right place."

All British residents of Salonika were reported safely removed before that city's capitulation.

(A German military spokesman said in Berlin that more than 80,000 Greeks had been captured in Thrace and that the "final count will be much greater.")

Greek military men said that "the battle for Greek independence, first won on Mount Pindus, will be repeated again on Greek mountains where in past centuries invaders have been stopped."

It was in the Pindus Mountains that stalwart Greek warriors last November hurled Benito Mussolini's Fascist invaders back into Albania.

R. A. F. bombers and fighters, despite bad weather, kept up wave assaults on the Germans in the Kilkis and Polycastron areas north of Salonika and reported inflicting heavy casualties on Nazi troop-laden transports.

Before pulling out of Salonika, the Greeks said they destroyed oil tanks and everything else that would be of value to the Nazis.

Among the oil facilities destroyed were some $1,500,000 worth of installations belonging to the Steaua-Romana Co., in which Standard Oil of New Jersey had an interest.

Two Americans Stay

All but two members of the American colony at Salonika got out ahead of the Germans with the aid of United States Consul John D. Johnson and Vice Consul Edmund A. Gullion.

Charles House, director of the American Farm School, and his wife decided to stay behind.

Those leaving included Arthur Lanckton, 27-year-old oil company executive; George Gardner, assistant director of the American Farm School; Mrs. Gardner and their two children; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Riggs, of the Anatolia College, and M. Everette Smith, a teacher.

Athens had an air raid alarm in midmorning following two night alerts, but no bomb fell in the city. Planes were heard droning overhead shortly before dawn, apparently on their way to sow more magnetic mines in Piraeus Harbor.

Refugees arriving here from Salonika said that when the last boats pulled out the city was framed in the crimson glow of fires set by the Greek rearguard.

"Flames were roaring hundreds of feet into the air from blazing warehouses, oil tanks and airport facilities," related Emmanuel Spanakis, Salonika newspaperman who was on the last boat to leave Tuesday night.

"Blasts from exploding dynamite roared across the deserted harbor. Hours later the flames still could be seen."

100,000 Serbs, Greeks Taken, Berlin Claims

By the Associated Press

Berlin, April 10.—The Germans announced today their Balkan campaign thus far has netted 100,000 prisoners—80,000 Greeks and 20,000 Serbs—and declared themselves ready now for air assaults on the British in Greece as a prelude to a clash at close quarters.

A military spokesman said the Greek prisoners were taken in Thrace, eastern neck of Greece isolated from the main Hellene forces by the Nazi drive to the Aegean port of Salonika.

"The final number will be much greater," he added, "since the count is not yet finished."

Likewise the number of Serb prisoners was declared to be "steadily increasing," with six generals constituting an entire division staff among those previously taken in South Serbia.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's air force apparently will take over the task of "softening up" the British Expeditionary Forces in Greece before Nazi ground troops tackle them.

"It is self-evident," said the commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland, which has close foreign office connections, "that the rail line on the east coast of Greece will be one of the principal objectives of German bombers."

This single-track line leads north from Pireaus, the Port of Athens, to the area where British and Greek troops are concentrated.

The Dienst indicated similar strategy would be employed against Yugoslavia. German troops are advancing westward through that country while German and Italian armies are on the northern boundary.

Aerial arms of these forces, the commentary asserted, "will be in a position to disturb Serbian food imports through the (Adriatic) harbors of Dubrovnik and Split."

German pilots, informed quarters said, swooped down to within a few feet of the heads of embattled Serbs yesterday to dislodge them from almost impregnable heights.

The high command acknowledged the loss of 19 German planes, but said these losses were more than offset by the destruction of 36 Allied planes, including 29 British and 7 Yugoslav.

Enemies' Heroism Praised

German war correspondents, who are a part of the fighting forces, paid tribute to the valor of the Greeks and Yugoslavs.

They disclosed that because of the rugged country it was impossible to bring heavy panzer units into action and that therefore there was much bitter hand-to-hand fighting.

Some of the most stubborn resistance was reported encountered in a six-hour storming of Greece's Metaxas Line in Macedonia, which the Germans claimed was broken.

It was disclosed that a German observation balloon over the Metaxas Line directed German artillery fire.

On the diplomatic front, the principal commission set up by the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact met today and discussed military, political and economic problems under the chairmanship of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop. A communique siad the commission reviewed past activity and "laid down general directions and instructions for further work."

Drive to Meet Nazis Speeded, Italy Claims

By the Associated Press

Rome, April 10.—Italy, admitting the loss of the Red Sea port of Massaua to British forces, said tonight Fascist troops were driving into Yugoslavia on two fronts to join the German armies ripping through that Balkan nation.

The Italian thrusts into Yugoslavia were from captured Kranj, in extreme northwestern Yugoslavia, along the Sava Valley toward Zagreb, and from the central Albanian frontier toward Tetova and Skoplje, now in German hands.

Dispatches indicated, however, that the Italians were serving mainly as an anvil to hold the Yugoslavs on the west while the German army hammered from the east.

The Italian fliers said they failed to encounter Yugoslav planes and assumed the Yugoslav air force was in disorder.

Italians said one of their submarines had torpedoed a British cruiser of the Liverpool class (9,100 tons, 700 men) in the eastern Mediterranean and that Italian planes had bombed British ships in the harbor at Tobruk, in eastern Libya.

Gas Ration Decreased

Copyright by New York Times

Rome, April 10.—The first economic aftermath of the war with Yugoslavia appeared today when it was announced that beginning tomorrow the rationing of gasoline for civilian consumption will be cut in half.

This measure was expected, since it was obvious that as soon as the Axis attacked Yugoslavia Italy would be cut off from her sources of supply in southeastern Europe.

Italy, as is known, imported large quantities of Rumanian oil, which came to her through Yugoslavia and the Danube River. With the destruction of communications and the impossibility of rerouting imports through Germany on account of the already very strained Italo-German railroad traffic, it was clear that further rationing had to be ordered so as to save as much as possible of the precious fuel for Italy's armed forces.

Vichy Condemns De Gaulle General

Copyright by New York Times

Vichy, April 10.—Former Gen. Georges Catroux, leader of the French dissident forces in Africa, was condemned to death in absentia today by the summary military court at Gannat, near here.

The charges against him were crimes and maneuvers against the unity and safety of the nation. Until the armistice Gen. Catroux was governor general of French Indo-China. He quit the colony to cooperate with De Gaullist units in Africa and is credited with having contributed to the plans which resulted in the British victories in Cyrenaica. It is thought that his forces have recently been operating with the British in Ethiopia.

Pan American Group Opens Congress Today

The Pan American Student Chain, collegiate and high school fraternity promoting friendly relations between students and professors of the Americas, will hold its first congress at 2 p. m. today at the Carlton Hotel.

Speakers will include Dr. Philip Brown, former United States Minister to Honduras and professor of international law at Harvard and Princeton Universities; Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland; Dr. Valdes Rodriguez, counselor of the Cuban Embassy; K. M. Marshall, president of Chevy Chase Junior College; S. E. Valverde, attache of the Dominican Embassy, and Paul Wooton, correspondent of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

This apparently is the same mysterious individual, known variously as Dr. Kvaternik and Egon Kramer, who with Pavelic was sentenced to death in absentia by French courts for the Marseille killing of King Alexander. Yugoslavia's present King Peter II is Alexander's oldest son.

Both Pavelic and Kvaternik found sanctuary in Italy, which refused extradition.

Macek, chief of 3,500,000 Croats, has been with the fugitive Yugoslav government of King Peter and Premier Gen. Dusan Simovic at an undisclosed place in central Yugoslavia, but reports here said he returned to Zagreb two days ago "to spend these decisive hours with my people."

Now 48 years old, Pavelic is head of the Ustachi, a Terrorist organization whose members for two decades have been blamed by the secret police of many lands for a score of political assassinations, poisonings and bombings in southeast Europe.

War Office Praises Aide Ousted by Italy

Copyright by New York Times

The War Department last night officially commended in most emphatic terms the services of Maj. William C. Bentley, assistant military attache and assistant air attache at Rome, who was ordered yesterday by the Italian government to leave.

The Italian government declared Maj. Bentley persona non grata in the same note in which it acceded to this government's request for the recall of Rear Admiral Alberto Lais, Italian naval attache in Washington.

Maj. Bentley, who was promoted from the rank of captain only a few weeks ago, was commended in a formal War Department statement, part of which follows:

"The War Department desires, to the end of avoiding erroneous interpretations resulting from his transfer, to state unequivocally that this officer has an excellent record, and to commend highly his service as assistant air attache at Rome, which services, moreover, have been entirely ethical and correct."

Rome, April 10.—Maj. William C. Bentley, assistant military air attache of the American Embassy, received his notice from the United Stats State Department today that he is persona non grata to the Italian government and must leave Italy as soon as possible.

There is naturally nothing against Maj. Bentley, and the embassy is not embarrassing the foreign ministry by asking for the specific charges. This is purely and simply retaliation.

Neither this measure by the Italian government nor the removal of Admiral Lais from Washington has been mentioned yet in the Italian press.

Civilians Warned to Steer Clear Of Fort Meade Firing Range

By the Associated Press

Fort George G. Meade, April 10.—Col. Gilbert M. Allen, post commander, announced today that the "commence firing" order will be given within a few days at Fort Meade's new 6,100-acre combat range and he warned civilians to keep out of the area.

The staccato rattle of machine guns and volleys of infantry fire will echo over the range from early morning until night. Danger hours for civilians will be from 7:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., and night firing may be effected later.

Col. Allen warned all persons to observe warning signs and gates, and to obey instructions of range guards who will be placed around the area during firing periods.

The new range, on which all types of infantry weapons will be fired, is located south and southwest of the main installations at Fort Meade.

In general, the area is bounded by the Fort Meade-Laurel Road on the northwest, the road leading south from the Laurel race track, the Patuxent River on the south, the Pennsylvania Railroad on the east to Odenton, and Rock Avenue in the north.

The area was acquired during the last six months. It contains 120 tracts of land, on which 120 families were living. A total of 110 families already has moved from the land and the last of those still in the danger zone are expected to leave immediately, Army authorities said.

Firing will begin upon clearance of the area.

Gates have been constructed across all roads leading into the area and troops will be posted at them when guns are in action.

Warning signs—"Danger, Range Firing"—have been posted at all trails running into the range.

A guard will be on duty atop a 50-foot observation tower, watching the danger zone closely at all times. Telephonic communication to firing points will be maintained and firing can be halted should any civilian wander into the area.

Daily bulletins to all organizations on the post will caution soldiers against entering the range.

The vacating of the area has been accomplished with minimum delay and friction, Army authorities said.

"In fact," Col. Allen stated, "we have been extremely gratified by the fine spirit of those who have bowed patriotically to the compelling necessities of national defense and given up their homes.

"Some were born and reared there. In more than one case the land has come down from generations back, even beyond the Revolution. They have made genuine sacrifices in the interests of their country."

Fort George G. Meade, Md., April 10 (AP).—The Twenty-ninth Division received 225 recruits today, most of them Pennsylvania selectees.

The group, second contingent of selects to join the division, were assigned from the Fort Meade recruit reception center to the 176th Field Artillery Regiment, from Pittsburgh.

Tomorrow, 250 more selectees will come to the division from the reception center here and 350 from Camp Lee.

Gen. Sikorski Heads South After Fort Meade Visits

Fort George G. Meade, Md., April 10 (AP).—The prime minister of the Polish government in exile headed toward Palm Beach, Fla., to visit Ignace Jan Paderewski late today, after inspecting this Army camp.

Greeted by a 19-gun artillery salute, Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski was met by Col. Gilbert M. Allen, post commander, and Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, commander of the Twenty-ninth Division. After being shown around the post, Gen. Sikorski and Ambassador Crechanowski visited Twenty-ninth Division headquarters.

There they met members of Gen. Reckord's staff and a Polish-American citizens committee from Baltimore.

Nazis Pound London After Raid on Berlin

By the Associated Press

London (Friday), April 11.—German raiders, attacking soon after the Nazi press published threats to "avenge a hundred-fold" the destructive raid by the British on Berlin, dropped bombs on London for the second time in the last 20 days and fanned out over other sections of England last night and early today.

London was under an alarm for about five hours before the all clear was sounded near dawn.

Royal Air Force nightfighters and defense guns challenged the Nazis wherever they appeared and unofficial sources expressed belief the toll of raiders might be high again. Twenty-nine German planes have been reported shot down since Tuesday night.

Fire wardens in one Midland town watched a night battle between a fighter and a raider, their tracer bullets crisscrossing the moonlit sky.

Two Shelters Hit

An intense attack developed on a West Midland town. The police station, police court and postoffice were damaged and people were believed trapped by hits on two public shelters.

Great fires sprang up in the heart of Berlin as British bombers smashed at the German capital Wednesday night for the first time since March 23, the air ministry news service reported today.

The communique acknowledged a loss of eight British planes.

Thousands of incendiaries (the Germans said they fell in bundles) were dropped in the center of the capital, the air ministry account said.

"Most pilots were under very heavy fire but there were moments when the weight of our attack baffled the defenses and a few of our our aircraft slipped through un molested," the ministry continued.

The British also said they attacked Emden and Vegesack, near Hanover; an aluminum plant in German-occupied Norway and a radio station in Denmark in overnight operations by pilots manning American-built Douglas DB-17 planes.

These machines, known as the Boston twin-engined fighter bomber, have a top speed of 320 miles an hour and a range of 1,200 miles, too short for the Berlin raid.

Berlin Opera House Razed

By the Associated Press

Berlin, April 10.—British pilots swept down upon Berlin last night while the Germans were celebrating their Balkan successes, strewing bombs along Unter Den Linden, destroying the German State Opera House and setting off a damaging blaze in the attic of the Prussian State Library.

Also damaged were Bellevue Castle, where Adolf Hitler houses distinguished guests on state visits, and the Modern Art Gallery which formerly was the Crown Prince's residence.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung observed that the Opera House "was known to be especially close to the heart of Luftwaffe Commander in Chief Goering and, like the last attack on Kiel, it will be avenged a hundred-fold."

The German high command itself reported that the British had caused "somewhat extensive damage."

"The losses in dead and wounded among the civilian population," it added, "were very low in comparison to the number of bombs dropped."

Emden, Bremen and other war centers also were raided, but the Germans claimed that it was at a heavy British cost.

British General May Be Prisoner

LIEUT. GEN. SIR RICHARD NUGENT O'CONNOR.

3 of Britain's Best Generals Believed Taken

By the Associated Press

London, April 10.—The war office acknowledged today a severe blow to its strategy in North Africa in the probable loss of three key generals and 2,000 troops believed to have been captured by German-Italian columns racing across the sands of eastern Libya.

"We are without news of three senior officers, Lieut. Gen. Philip Neame, V. C.; Lieut. Gen. Sir Richard Nugent O'Connor, and Maj. Gen. M. D. Gambier-Parry," said a communique.

(The Germans said six generals and two colonels were among 2,000 prisoners at El Mechili, 50 miles southwest of Derna.)

O'Connor was the right-hand man of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander in chief of the Near East, and was regarded as one of the best tacticians in the British army.

He and Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson were praised by Prime Minister Churchill last February for carrying out Wavell's offensive which shoved the Italians out of Egypt. Each was made a Knight Commander of the Bath.

Gambier-Parry was one of the foremost tank and tank-gunnery specialists of the British army.

Neame formerly was the commanding officer in Palestine and before the fall of France was Viscount Gort's deputy chief of staff in Flanders.

The British, however, pointed out that the Germans and Italians in their rebound were already 750 miles from their base at Tripoli, and not in a position to ship supplies to way stations along the coast, as did the British in their westward offensive last winter.

Dispatches today reported that sandstorms in north Africa made aerial operations difficult. However, casualties were declared to have been inflicted on Axis columns caught in the open.

Prisoners taken at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, were said to have totaled 5,000, while an additional 2,350 men were captured yesterday.

Don't Expect Serb 'Miracle,' Fotitch Warns

Constantin Fotitch, Yugoslav Minister to the United States, yesterday told Americans not to expect "miracles" from his embattled countrymen.

"I cannot promise you the great victories against a wicked power which you and I desire," he declared in an address before the National Press Club.

"But I can promise you," he continued, "that the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes will give a good account of themselves. They may not have the mechanized equipment, but they have the faith that they are fighting for their homes, for their churches and for their right to be free."

Fotitch, his face plainly showing the strain of recent events, received one of the most impressive ovations ever given a Press Club speaker. He was accompanied by Richard Casey, Australian Minister, and Cimon Diamantopoulos, the Greek envoy, who shared prolonged applause.

The Yugoslav Minister, though he did not discuss the present military picture in any detail, made no effort to conceal the gravity of the Allied position on the Balkan front.

"During the first World War," he recalled, "the Serbian army had to leave its country, but it reformed its ranks and it continued to fight on foreign soil. Our soldiers fought until the day came when they could return to their homes as free men, proud of their courage and proud of their independence."

He said his countrymen are fortified today by the assurance of moral and material support from America, "which to them and to their allies represents the hope of civilized mankind."

"Be it this year or next year," he declared, "in a struggle of this sort they must ultimately win."

Fotitch reviewed developments of the week before the Nazi attack, which, he said, proved conclusively that "we were willing to go a long way to avoid this war."

The present Yugoslavian government was ready to respect the Treaty of Vienna, signed by its predecessor, so long as "the honor and independence of the nation" were not infringed, he said.

The Yugoslav Minister to Berlin spent five days trying to transmit this message to the German Foreign Office, Fotitch stated, and "the only man he finally did see was the chief of protocol who handed him his passport."

Hitler took the decision to attack Yugoslavia "in cold blood and without any desire to prevent war," the envoy concluded.

"I hope you will understand me," he told the correspondents, "when I say that I am here today as a proud man and not as one asking your commiseration."

Censorship Fears False, U. S. Army Official Says

Philadelphia, April 10 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Robert Charlwood Richardson, the new director of the Army Bureau of Information, said tonight that the War Department "has no intention of establishing or asking for censorship" as long as this country is at peace.

"If we go to war, the only censorship we will impose is censorship of international communications," he said in a speech before the Philadelphia chapter of the Military Order of the World War.

"As far as domestic communications are concerned, we desire no form of censorship."

The bureau was organized, he said, not for propaganda purposes, but "with the idea of telling the truth about the Army and telling it accurately, not only about our accomplishments, but about our mistakes."

Eden and Dill Return Home In Dark Hour

Copyright by New York Times

London, April 10.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of the British imperial general staff, returned to London today but did not come back to any cheerful picture.

On the credit side of their flying trips there is the resistance of the Yugoslavs and Greeks and the tentative resistance of Turkey, with the important addendum that such resistance probably will not take place unless Turkey is attacked.

On the debit side there is the fact that all of Britain's hard-won territorial gains in northern Africa have been nullified by the Germans, and the British are now talking once more about defending Alexandria, Cairo and the Suez Canal.

There is also the fact that the British appear to have lost many prisoners and at least three senior staff officers—one of them, Lieut. Gen. Sir Richard N. O'Conor, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's best man in Libya—who appear to have been captured by roving German armored columns while they were on staff reconnaissance and apparently not covered by protective forces.

Also on the debit side is the fact that Eden never succeeded in seeing the Yugoslav leaders and persuading them, together with the Greeks and Turks, to form any kind of a coherent plan. That failure was not necessarily Eden's fault but certainly it has led to the German successes, which seem to be continuing.

So far as is known, the British have not yet been able to contact the Germans on land in the Balkans. There is considerable speculation here as to what the British are up to. It should be understood that the British decision to send troops to Greece was a political, not a military one.

It was not a good place for the British troops. If they were to go to that part of the world at all, it would have been better strategically for them to have gone to Turkey. But the heroic Greek resistance made it morally incumbent on the British to come to the aid of the Greeks and they had to do so. By now the British generals are probably wishing they had troops in Turkey ready to come in on the Germans' flank. If they had, the attack would probably have been made on Turkey, in which case the British would have wished they had a force in Greece to come in on the German flank.

George Fears Nazi Gains May Spur Japan

Senator George (Democrat), of Georgia, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, yesterday voiced belief that continued Nazi gains in the Balkans might encourage Axis moves in the Far East.

George, who left Washington last night for a weekend in Georgia, said if Allied lines fail to hold, "it would encourage the Japanese."

"I had reached the conclusion that the Japanese would not attack Singapore, but I fear now it might be different, especially if they can get an agreement with Russia," said George.

Sumners Tells Fears

Representative Sumners (Democrat), of Texas, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile in a radio address declared the United States was moving rapidly "toward actually fighting contact with this world war unprepared either to win or to defend ourselves."

The great urgency, he said was for everyone to realize "we are all in the same boat."

"We face the same dangers—laborers and capitalists, the people in the factory and the people in the office, the people in the fields—everywhere," said Sumners.

He said it "does not make sense" to have factories idle or slowed when the United States needs all it can produce working 24 hours a day for its own and Allied defense.

Former Senator Gibson, of Vermont, chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, in a "call to action" to the committee's 800 chapters, said the present Balkan situation illustrates "the danger facing America." He told chapter heads "the job of arousing America from its lethargy is our job."

People Unaware

"The people of this country," Gibson said, "still fail to perceive the terrible nearness of this danger. They have not realized even now, or they refuse to believe, that Hitler means to dominate the world. Just a week ago, they were lulled into a false sense of security by Greek heroism in Albania, British successes in Africa, and Yugoslavia's defiance of Hitler."

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), of Montana, meantime, returning from a Midwest speaking tour, declared "sentiment in the country to keep out of war is stronger than it has been in two years."

The noninterventionist leader said that "sentiment has changed materially in the last two weeks and that many of those who favored aid to the Allies, even to the extent of taking a chance on getting involved in war, have changed their views."

Long, Hard Struggle Ahead, Matsuoka Aide Tells Japan

By Otto D. Tolischus

Copyright by New York Times

Tokyo, April 10.—In a speech devoid of the belligerent defiance that featured the speeches of Foreign Minister Matsuoka before the recent Diet session, Vice Foreign Minister Chuichi Ohashi presented the conference of prefectural governors today with a sober picture of Japan's international relations.

He hewed closely to the line of Japan's "unalterable" policy centering on the triple alliance, but the whole tenor of his speech was defensive, rather than offensive, and though he predicted a bright future for the country he also prepared it for a long struggle and warned of the dangers and pitfalls besetting its course.

The main part of the speech dealt with the issues created by America's determination to aid Britain as well as Chungking. But, though he alluded to Japan's formidable armament, he also emphasized that Japan's geographic position removed her from the center of the world conflagration, and according to all available accounts he never once referred to the "greater East Asia coprosperity sphere," or Japan's southward advance.

"The United States," he said, "enacted the lease-lend bill and officially embarked upon the venture of assisting Britain even at the risk of its own national fortunes. The United States is now seething with discussion as to whether materials to aid Britain should be convoyed by its warships. That is a question which calls for serious attention on the part of this country.

"Both Britain and the United States are increasing their economic pressure on Japan. Under these circumstances the future is unpredictable."

Taking a like serious view of the "China emergency," he declared the Chiang Kai-shek regime was suffering from a shortage of materials and friction with the Communists. But he prophesied that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek would patch up his differences with the Communists, and as a result of a report to President Roosevelt by his special envoy to Chungking, Lauchlin Currie, the United States would increase its aid to Chungking. In this connection he pointed out that Gen. Chiang's regime was endeavoring to improve the Burma Road and build a railway to connect Burma with Yunnan.

"Depending on the aid of Britain and the United States, the Chiang Kai-shek regime will continue its resistance against Japan," he warned. "Under these circumstances Japan must be prepared to face the situation with determination and long-term endurance."

Fairbanks Sent South On Amity Tour

Douglas Fairbanks, jr., the Hollywood star, yesterday accepted a mission from President Roosevelt to visit several South American nations, including Argentina and Brazil, in the interest of inter-American relations.

Specifically, Fairbanks—who saw the President and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles yesterday—will seek to bring about better inter-American understanding through the theatrical arts.

Fairbanks said he would leave at the end of this month with Mrs. Fairbanks, would make the trip by air and be away from his Hollywood work about two months. Laughing, he said he was weak on Spanish, but had been studying it six weeks. He speaks French fluently.

White House Statement said the President had asked the actor to "ascertain the views and suggestions of the governments and peoples in the countries he will visit with respect to improving the role of the theatrical arts as a possible vehicle for bringing about improved inter-American understanding."

The statement said it was expected that Fairbanks will seek to learn how this Government and the movie industry can cooperate in making the motion picture "a more effective instrument for conveying comprehensive views of life, not only in the United States but in the republics of South and Central America."

Fairbanks will go to Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Uruguay, Paraguay and Panama. He has obtained a leave of absence from his studio until July 1. He is staying at the Carleton Hotel.

Judge Pollard Named To Sit at Davis Trial

Chief Justice Hughes yesterday appointed Federal District Judge Robert N. Pollard, of Richmond, Va., to preside over the trial of former Federal Circuit Judge J. Warren Davis in the Federal District Court at Philadelphia, begining Monday.

Judge Davis was indicted along with William Fox, one-time movie magnate, and Morgan Kaufman, Fox's attorney, on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice and to defraud the United States.

Walker Announces Appointment of 2 Aides

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker announced yesterday the appointment of William F. Cronin, of New York, as his executive assistant, and Harold F. Ambrose, of Winchester, Mass., as senior administrative assistant.

Cronin succeeds J. Austin Latimer, who resigned recently, while Ambrose takes Cronin's place as director of the department's information division.

Isolationists Only Ones Cool On Greenland

Favorable reaction to the United States Government's agreement to include Greenland in cooperative hemisphere defense plans were reflected last night in a cross-section of Capitol comment.

The agreement won immediate indorsement from Chairman George, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Austin (Republican), of Vermont, assistant Senate minority leader. Only isolationist Senators appeared cool to the move.

Senator George said he believed the pact not only strengthened this Nation's position for protecting the approaches to this continent, but that the proposed bases would have a high military value if needed for offensive use. George said the bases would be valuable, too, if supplies to Britain took the north Atlantic route. He said it was clearly within the executive power of the President to negotiate such an agreement without formal treaty.

Senator Austin said he thought it represented an expansion of the Monroe Doctrine, but he believed in general the action was justified as the doctrine "requires this Nation to take steps to promote the territorial integrity of the Western Hemisphere."

From Senator Reynolds (Democrat), of North Carolina, non-interventionist heir apparent to the chairmanship of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, came the charge that the Administration "is trying to avoid use of the word 'convoy' because it is unpopular."

"I interpret it," said Reynolds, "as a move to protect American shipping to Greenland for transhipment to British vessels."

Senator Clark (Democrat), of Missouri, non-interventionist leader, said the situation "needs a lot of study before we can decide about it."

Senator Ball (Republican), of Minnesota, said he favored the move. "I don't think we want Mr. Hitler to get any closer than he is now," said Ball. "He's too close for comfort already."

Senator Hatch (Democrat), of New Mexico, said he thought the President, "in assuming that responsibility, is entirely correct."

"I think we must assume every responsibility which tends toward the protection of this hemisphere," said Hatch. "The President's action with respect to Greenland is in that class."

U. S. Gets Base In Greenland

ment of King Christian X from exercising that sovereignty.

Defense officials maintained closest secrecy as to the strength of the forces to be dispatched to Greenland and the timetable of military construction at the North Atlantic base.

Acquisition of American bases in Greenland has been under discussion ever since the Nazi invasion of Denmark, however, and it is believed that Army and Navy strategists are ready with plans for swift movement of men and material to the new defense outpost.

The pact gives the United States sweeping powers "to do any and all things to insure the efficient operation and protection of defense facilities established in Greenland.

It also insures against repetition of the protracted negotiations over sites for air and naval installations that held up work on some of the eight bases acquired from Britain last September in exchange for 50 destroyers.

"Since the paramount objective sought is the early attainment of an adequate defense establishment in Greenland," the agreement reads, "the utilization of any area deemed by the United States Government to be needed for this purpose shall not be delayed pending the reaching of an agreement upon the precise terms of a formal lease."

The formal leases can be signed, according to the agreement, "within a reasonable period of time" after American defense officials have told the Greenland authorities what areas they need and why.

The pact gives the United States the right to improve harbors and construct and operate landing fields, seaplane facilities, radio and meteorological stations, roads, communication services, fortifications, repair and storage facilities and housing for military and civilian personnel.

When both parties to the pact agree that "the present dangers to the peace and security of the American Continent have passed," they will enter consultation for termination of the agreement.

The agreement states that "as a result of the present European war there is danger that Greenland may be converted into a point of aggression against nations of the American continent."

White House Secretary Stephen Early explained the pact in these words:

"This agreement puts Greenland in the same category as Canada and all of the islands off the American coast—it will be defended if attacked."

The pact provides that Greenland bases are available to the armed forces of all the American nations "for purposes connected with the common defense of the Western Hemisphere." No distinction was made, it was noted here, between the Latin-American republics and the Dominion of Canada, a belligerent.

President Roosevelt's statement, announcements by both Hull and Kauffmann and the language of the agreement itself all describe the Danish Minister here as acting "on behalf of the King of Denmark" in his capacity as sovereign of Greenland.

The legal basis for the agreement, officials explained, rests on this reasoning:

Since Denmark is occupied, the government in Copenhagen cannot exercise its sovereignty over territory coming within the scope of the Monroe Doctrine. (The act of Havana, signed by the American foreign ministers last July, declared that the American republics would oppose any change in the sovereignty of European possessions in the Western Hemisphere.) The part of Denmark that is not occupied is under Danish sovereignty, but the powers of sovereignty are exercised by the highest Danish officials not within the occupied territory, the Danish Minister in Washington and the local governors in Greenland.

Greenland, about three times the size of Texas, is the largest non-continental island in the world. Its population is estimated at 18,000, of whom a few hundred are Danes and the remainder Eskimos. Its most important natural resource is cryolite, a mineral used as a flux in the manufacture of aluminum.

Lovett Named to High Air Post; Sultan Among 50 Promoted

Assistant Secretary Position Given to World War Naval Ace

President Roosevelt yesterday filled the long vacant post of Assistant Secretary of War for Air and named 50 others to high posts in the Army hierarchy.

Robert A. Lovett, special assistant to Secretary of War Stimson, was elevated to the air assignment, unfilled for a decade, as another special assistant to Stimson, John J. McCloy, was appointed an Assistant Secretary of War. The other appointments raised nine brigadier generals to major general and 40 colonels to brigadier general.

The selection of Lovett and McCloy gives the War Department an even more decided Republican character than before. McCloy is a Republican, with "independent views," he says, while Lovett has been a member of the G. O. P. in the past. He declares he is a "mugwump."

Stimson has been a life-long Republican, like Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson before his appointment to the Federal bench some years ago.

Brig. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, former District Engineer Commissioner headed the list of Army officers promoted to major general. Gen. Sultan was named to command of the Twenty-second Infantry Brigade and acting chief of the division.

Brig. Gen. George S. Patton, former Fort Myer commandant, was another of those promoted. He commands the Second Armored Division at Fort Benning, Ga., and will continue in the post. Brig. Gen. Innis P. Swift, acting commander of the First Cavalry Division at Fort Bliss, Tex., and Brig. Gen. James P. Marley, acting commander of the Eighth Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, S. C., were also advanced to major general. Both will take regular command of the divisions, it is said.

One of the officers promoted to brigadier general, Col. Thomas Jonathan Jackson Christian, is a grandson of Stonewall Jackson. He was formerly stationed here and now commands Field Artillery replacement center at Camp Roberts, Calif.

Among the colonels promoted to brigadier general are Col. Charles Hines, executive officer of the Army-Navy Munitions Board; Col. William C. Rose, executive officer of the Adjutant General's Office; Col. Harry D. Chamberlin, of Fort Riley, Kan., world-famous equestrian, and Col. Karl S. Bradford, a native of Washington now on duty here.

Another, Col. Charles P. George, formerly commanded the Sixteenth Field Artillery at Fort Myer, and is well known here. He is a son-in-law of the late Vice President Curtis.

Six brigadiers who are serving as corps area commanders were promoted to major general. They are: Brig. Gen. Irving J. Phillipson, Second Corps Area, New York City; Brig. Gen. John P. Smith, Fourth Corps Area, Atlanta; Brig. Gen. Clement A. Trott, Fifth Corps Area, Columbus, Ohio; Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, Sixth Corps Area, Chicago; Brig. Gen. George V. Strong, former Army war plans chief here, now commanding the Seventh Corps Area, Omaha, and Brig. Gen. Richard Donovan, Eighth Corps Area, San Antonio.

ROBERT A. LOVETT

All of the new generals will be promoted under the authority granted to President Roosevelt last year to make additional temporary generals as required by the expanding Army.

The new Assistant Secretary of War for Air was a World War Navy flier, winning the Navy Cross for his war service. A Yale graduate, Lovett was a partner of the New York banking firm, Brown Bros., Harriman & Co., before coming to the War Department last fall.

McCloy was an artillery captain during the World War and practiced law in New York City before coming to Washington some months ago. His especial job at the War Department is handling matters relating to the lend lease program.

Other colonels promoted to brigadier general included:

Claude M. Thiele, Fort Brass, N. C.; John L. Homer, Fort Sheridan, Ill.; Rapp Brush, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii; Emil F. Reinhardt, Fort Warren, Wyo.; Fred L. Walker, Memphis, Tenn.; Harry L. Twaddle, on the general staff here; Ira T. Wyche, Office of the Chief of Artillery here; George H. Peine, Camp Livingstone, La.; George M. Parker, Fort Ord, Calif.

Air Corps Colonels: Howard C. Davidson, Hickam Field, Hawaii; Ralph Royce, Fort Douglas, Utah; William O. Ryan, Fort Shafter, Hawaii, and Joseph T. McNarney, on the general staff here.

Also Promoted

Also Cols. Philip S. Saze, Fort Hancock, N. J.; Kenneth T. Blood, Office of Chief of Coast Artillery, here; Harold F. Nichols, Fort Eustis, Va.; Francis P. Hardaway, Camp Callan, Calif.; John B. Maynard, Fort Hitchcock, Tex.; James B. Crawford, Camp Davis, N. C.; James I. Muir, Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.; John E. Sloan, Presidio of Monterey, Calif.; Gustav H. Franke, Fort Brass, N. C.; Edwin H. Marks, Cincinnati, Ohio; George L. Van Deusen, Fort Monmouth, N. J.; John A. Warden, Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo.; William R. Dear, Medical Corps, Fort Benning, Ga.; John M. Willis, Medical Corps, Carlisle Barracks, Pa.; Henry C. Pillsbury, Medical Corps, Lovell General Hospital, Fort Devens, Mass.; Henry C. Coburn, jr., Medical Corps, Fort Brass, N. C.; George Luberoff, Jeffersonville, Ind.; Wilmot A. Danielson, Panama Canal Zone; Lehman W. Miller, chief of military mission, Brazil; Wallace C. Philoon, Infantry, Chief of staff of Caribbean defense command.

Survey Permits Immediate Use Of Greenland

American warships can begin immediate operations in Greenland waters, officials said yesterday, as the result of a detailed secret survey made of the region last year by the Coast Guard.

Treasury sources disclosed that the Coast Guard cutters Northland and Cayuga spent from June to December last year surveying harbors, weather and ice conditions, ship-repair facilities, and oil supplies in the Danish possession.

The report of this expedition, containing the detailed data as to channel depths, available anchorage, and other information necessary for ship operations, is now in the hands of the Navy. It is said to have played an important part in the Administration's decision to assume the defense of Greenland.

Belittled by Lindbergh

Little information previously was available about these northern waters, and some reports had indicated that Greenland would be valueless as a base for air and warship operations. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh belittled the worth of an air base there.

The Coast Guard report presents a much more favorable picture, it was said. Based on the 1940 survey, it declares that operations of modern vessels are no more hazardous in Greenland waters than late winter and spring cruising in the North Atlantic, except for the need for keeping a constant vigilance for icebergs.

Belief that all Greenland ports are icebound during the winter is termed a "common fallacy." It is stated that navigation has been closed for the most part in the past because of storms, low temperatures and darkness, but that three ports—Skkertoppen, Godthaab and Faeringerhavn are usually free of ice the year around. Other ports are icebound for three to five months each year.

Military experts declare that air operations from bases in Greenland should be possible about half of the year. Warship operations of some sort also can be carried on during the greater part of the year. Fog is a great handicap but should not prevent flying and cruising, it is said.

Stepping Stone for Planes

Bases there should adequately protect the "northeastern flank" of the United States, authorities state. The acquisition not only extends the screen of island defense outposts some 900 to 1,000 miles farther north and east, but it denies submarine or raider bases to an enemy.

Air fields there, also, would be a stepping stone for plane deliveries from the United States to England, via Iceland this spring and summer.

Coinciding with the anouncement of acquistion of right to bases in Greenland, the War Department threw a cloak of secrecy about all of its offshore bases. Undersecretary of War Patterson announced that new regulations place all information as to the strength of troops, identity of units, etc., at overseas bases in the category of "confidential" information.

Patterson also disclosed that Army transportation of troops and supplies from one coast to another via the Panama Canal was being stopped and that the ships operating in this service would be diverted to supplying the bases on the leased Atlantic bases and those in American possessions.

The Greenland report states that the temperature in the southern part rarely goes below 4 degrees below zero. Ice is usually present in the greatest quantity in May and June, while most of the icebergs can be avoided by ships going to norther nor middle Greenland if ships keep at least 20 miles off shore until the latitude of Fiskernaes or Godthaab is reached.

Wheeler Backs Roosevelt's Labor Policy

By John B. Oakes
Post Staff Writer

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, bitter critic of the Administration's foreign policy, came to the support of President Roosevelt yesterday in his handling of the defense labor problem.

"I think the President is doing everything he can under the circumstances to bring about a settlement of the labor disputes, and if Congress should attempt at this time to jump in without all the facts, it might hurt rather than help," the Montana Democrat told The Post.

Stressing his opposition to any legislative action at the present time, Senator Wheeler suggested that the National Mediation Board "ought to be given an opportunity to work out the problem."

"If the President feels that he needs more legislation to strengthen his hand, then I would be inclined to follow his judgment," said Senator Wheeler.

Meanwhile, Representative Starnes (Democrat), of Alabama, acting chairman of the Dies Committee, announced that a committee investigator had declared, in a "preliminary" report, an estimated $300,000 damage had been wrought on machinery in the Ford plant at River Rouge, near Detroit.

Machine Tools Damaged

According to Starnes, the investigator reported damage to precision tools, jigs and dies. The Representative added that the investigator said he had obtained statements from several workers that some men went through the plant with sledge-hammers and deliberately destroyed equipment.

"It's a clear case of sabotage," Starnes asserted, adding that the Dies Committee should now undertake a "major effort" to check on the activities of Axis agents interfering with the defense program.

"This war will be lost or won on the assembly line of our manufacturing plants," he stated.

When he appeared before the House Military Affairs Committee's investigation of the defense program this week, OPM Director William S. Knudsen belittled the danger of foreign interference.

Hoover to Testify

The Military Affairs Committee inquiry, which recessed Wednesday, will resume next Tuesday, with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover scheduled to appear. The Senate investigation under Senator Truman (Democrat), of Missouri, and the House Naval Affairs Committee inquiry, under Representative Vinson (Democrat), of Georgia, are set to open the same day.

In Madison, Wis., six members of the State Legislature's seven-man "Little Dies Committee" said that evidence had been presented charging Communistic affiliations to two officials of the United Automobile Workers Union at the recently reopened Allis-Chalmers plant.

Kenneth Goff, a former Communist, who has testified before the Dies Committee in Washington, said that Harold Christoffel, president of the local union, and Joseph Schneider, an officer, were Communists, the committee stated. The committee was set up to investigate alleged subversive activities in defense industries.

The committee report said that Goff testified that Christoffel's wife, an employe of the United States Forest Service, was a Communist Party member under another name.

In Milwaukee, Christoffel retorted that Goff's testimony was "a fairy tale."

10 on Mercy Trip Due Here Today

Nine men and a woman, who left Wilmington, Del., Saturday, and who have been living on war food rations are due here today to appeal for the hungry of Europe.

Pushing a handcart loaded with their belongings, the group made the trip on foot and sought shelter where they could. The group intends to present a petition to the State Department seeking aid in feeding "37,000,000 people in Holland, France, Finland, Denmark, Poland and Norway."

ment requisitioning of shipping as a major factor in causing prices to rise. Ships, he said, are requisitioned to carry war materials instead of importing consumer products.

Nelson added that food costs are still below the 1935-1939 level. Rents all through the country are below the pre-depression level, he said, but are going up.

Proclaiming that the United States apparently had not learned from experience, Nelson compared the rise in the price of commodities during the Wars of the Revolution, 1812, Civil and World.

"The rise in prices during the World War, he said, did not start until 1916 and reached their peak in 1920, two years after the war ended. Then, they went down."

Willkie Leads Appeals To Aid Yugoslavs

New York, April 10 (AP).—Thirty-three citizens, including Wendell L. Willkie, appealed in a statement to the American people tonight "to give material and spiritual evidence of their support of the Yugoslavs in their fight for freedom."

They suggested that contributions be sent to the American Red Cross marked specifically for Yugoslav relief.

Ford Expects to Open River Rouge Plant on Monday

that regard is to make sure that a fair and honest election is held—an election that will represent the true wishes of the majority of its employes."

Bennett promised that the company would make its pay rolls available to NLRB officials at that time "in the plant."

In a statement on this proviso, Regional Director Frank H. Bowen of the Labor Board said, "It is quite apparent to anyone who has ever voted in any election that without a list of the eligible voters in the hands of the election officials to check with, an election is an impossibility."

No Need for Delay, Says NLRB

Discussing the company's insistence on postponing the hearing scheduled to open April 14, the statement added:

"I advise that the company and its general counsel have been aware of the pendency of this matter for the last six months, and a motion by Mr. Capizzi (company counsel) for postponement was submitted after the issuance of the complaint and denied, and inasmuch as the matters covered in the complaint extend over a considerable period, there is no apparent reason for further delay.

"Experience has shown that strikes do not stay settled nor does collective bargaining function well where either side, employer or union, attempts to interject conditions relating to the due processes of this law."

The original strike demands of the U. A. W.-C. I. O. included a 10-cent hourly wage increase, a contractual agreement, and substitution of uniformed protection men for the Ford service department.

The company has $155,000,000 in defense orders for airplane engines, bomber assemblies and small trucks for the Army.

The Governor's plan, which had the support of Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey, called for all employes to return to their jobs without discrimination, the re-establishment of grievance procedure used before the strike, and cooperation of both sides in holding an election ordered by the National Labor Relations Board.

Van Wagoner, in telegrams to the company and the U.A.W.-C.I.O., termed his proposal "practical and fair" but admitted that it probably would not completely satisfy either side.

The union acceptance, signed by R. J. Thomas, union president; Allan S. Haywood, C. I. O. national director, and Michael F. Widman, jr., director of the U. A. W.-Ford organizing committee, said the union believed the Governors' proposal was a "constructive basis for termination of the strike."

"Our decision has been influenced also by the desire of the C. I. O., the U. A. W.-C. I. O. and the Ford workers to expedite our national defense program," the letter said.

They said they would recommend adoption of the proposal at a meeting of Rouge workers tonight.

Settlement of the strike at the Rouge plant, world's largest industrial unit, would return 85,000 workers to their jobs there and provide work for a total of 200,000 when Ford branch factories and supplying concerns resume operations.

6 Withdraw, Reynolds On Ballot for Mayor

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 10 (AP).—Richard J. Reynolds, treasurer of the Democratic National Executive committee, was assured of the Democratic nomination for mayor of Winston-Salem today when the last of six other candidates withdrew.

Bituminous Conferences Are Resumed

By the Associated Press

New York, April 10.—Chief Federal Conciliator John R. Steelman ordered contract negotiators for the soft coal industry to continue sessions tonight in attempt to break a wage dispute deadlock and return 400,000 idle miners to work.

Although bituminous operators representing 68 per cent of the national production have indicated willingness to meet demands of the United Mine Workers of America (C.I.O.) for a $1-a-day wage increase and other concessions, Steelman said he wanted negotiations to continue in order to reach industry-wide accord.

A dispute between the Northern and Southern groups of the Appalachian area, which sets the wage and hour standards for the entire industry, still blocked full agreement, the South opposing elimination of a differential under which it pays 40 cents a day less per man than the North.

Negotiators were in closed conference for nearly five hours today, the longest session since negotiations began, March 14. Steelman said no statements from himself or the negotiators would be made until after the night session.

Rep. Dies' Nephew Enters Camp Lee

Harry H. Burns, 21, nephew of Representative Martin Dies (Democrat), of Texas, and chairman of the Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities, is at Camp Lee, Va., commencing a year's service with the Selective Service Army.

Burns, a practicing attorney, volunteered ahead of his draft call and was inducted at Richmond.

U. S. Acts in Probe Of Nazi Control Of Chemical Firms

New York, April 10 (INS).—Subpenas were served today calling for the books and records of six giant chemical firms and a Swiss banking concern in connection with the Federal grand jury inquiry launched by the Department of Justice into methods by which key American chemical industries are believed to have come under German control.

The subpenas call for examination of the following companies: The Sterling Products, Inc., its subsidiary, the Winthrop Chemical Co., and records of both firms regarding its relationships to the General Analine & Film Corporation; the Swiss Bank Corporation, all of New York; the Schering Corporation, of Bloomfield, N. J.; the Hoffman Laroche Co., of Nutley, N. J., and the Ciba Co., of Summit, N. J.

The Department of Justice launched its investigation to ascertain to what extent German domination of vital chemical industries in the United States and throughout Latin America has been achieved through interlocking relationships between American and German firms.

2 Steel Firms Grant 10-Cent Hourly Raise

By the Associated Press

Pittsburgh, April 10.—Return of C. I. O. President Philip Murray from Washington cleared the way today for resumption of negotiations between the C. I. O.'s Steel Workers Organizing Committee and the United States Steel Corporation on the union's demand for a 10-cents-an-hour wage increase for 261,000 workers.

Meanwhile, two additional companies independent of U. S. Steel announced such a wage boost for workers, increasing confidence of union leaders that "Big Steel" will "fall in line."

The latest to grant the pay raise were the Vanadium-Alloys Steel Co. and its subsidiary, Anchor Drawn Steel Co., employing about 600 workers in plants at Latrobe, Pa. They followed the lead of Colonial Steel Products Co. of Monaca, another Vanadium-Alloys subsidiary employing 400; the Firth-Stirling Steel Corporation, of McKeesport, employing 1,000, and the National Steel Corporation, with about 20,000 hourly rate employes.

The increase from 62½ to 72½ cents an hour minimum is retroactive to April 1.

At the Capital, Murray conferred with President Roosevelt yesterday, presumably on strikes in the steel and automobile industries. Murray issued no comment on the steel phase of their conference.

In addition to the wage issue, the S. W. O. C. and U. S. Steel have failed to agree on the closed shop and check-off of union dues from pay envelopes. Absence of any Federal mediators from the scene increased expectations, however, that an agreement would be reached soon. The U. S. Labor Department had assigned Dr. John R. Steelman, head of the Federal conciliation service, to handle the dispute, but he remained in New York to assist in the soft coal wage negotiations.

Mediators To Continue Efforts Today

Separate panels of the National Defense Mediation Board met throughout yesterday with participants of four defense strikes but adjourned the sessions until today and Monday without effecting any settlements.

The disputes under consideration were those at the Snoqualmie Fall Lumber Co., meetings on which have been recessed until Monday; and the Standard Tool Co., of Cleveland; the Cowles Tool Co., of Cleveland, and the Seas Shipping Co., of New York.

Sessions of the last three will be continued today.

In addition, another panel this afternoon will begin efforts to mediate the strike of C. I. O. electrical workers against the Phelps-Dodge Corporation at Bayway, N. J.

The stoppage, which has left 1,600 workers idle, resulted from the effort of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America to obtain union recognition.

The mediation board panel assigned to the Phelps-Dodge dispute is composed of Charles Wybanski, representing the public; Cyrus Ching, representing industry, and Emil Rieve, representing labor.

The United States Conciliation Service yesterday assigned Conciliator Bryce Holcombe, of New Orleans, to investigate a strike by employes of the Alabama Drydocks Shipbuilding Co., Mobile, Ala.

In addition to these peace moves, President Roosevelt conferred with Benjamin Fairless and Irving S. Olds, president and board chairman, respectively, of the United States Steel Corporation, and discussed a threatened strike in the corporation's far-flung plants.

Meanwhile, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson told newsmen "the strike situation generally is considerably better."

It was the first time since the wave of defense strikes began that Patterson had noted improvement, and apparent settlement of the C. I. O.-United Auto Workers' strike against the Ford Motor Co., provided additional basis for his optimisim.

"The strikes affecting the War Department," Patterson said, "are the fewest since early February. Settlement of the Allis-Chalmers strike was a great boon to the War and Navy Departments."

There are now 15 defense strikes, the more serious at small plants, Patterson said. He did not include the strike at the Ford Motor Co. at Dearborn, Mich., as being among those seriously affecting production of tools of war.

"We are very favorably impressed by the progress of the Labor Mediation Board appointed by the President," Patterson said.

Paintings by U. S. Artists to Tour Latin America

Three groups of paintings by contemporary artists of the United States will be sent on tours of Central and South America in June, Nelson A. Rockefeller, coordinator of commercial relations between the American republics, announced yesterday.

"At a moment when the creative artists of Europe are engulfed by war," said Rockefeller, "it is imperative that in at least part of the world there be preserved an order in which the arts can thrive.

"An important foundation for our scheme of hemisphere defense must be a social order in which there is balance and perspective. In no better way can this be aided than by encouragement and free interchange of the art of each American republic."

The more than 200 oils and 100 water colors have been drawn primarily from the permanent collections of the Brooklyn Museum, the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art. They will be previewed from April 19 through April 27 at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

Safety Engineers Named To Guard Defense Work

With the aim of reducing accidents in the emergency defense building program, the War Department yesterday created a safety section headed by Lloyd A. Blanchard, of Chevy Chase, Md., formerly Eastern representative of the National Safety Council.

The zone safety engineers include for Zone 3, James R. Maddy, of Washington, D. C., with headquarters in Baltimore, Md.

GLEN ECHO RELAUNCHES PAUL KAIN. Tomorrow night at the stroke of nine Paul Kain and his 12-piece band, plus Warbler Adele Van, will strike up on the bandstand of Glen Echo's Spanish Garden ballroom. As everyone knows, Glen Echo is one of the Nation's handsomest and best operated amusement parks. And Paul Kain's "sugar cane" music is in consonance with the high standards of Echo. Paul biography includes Hollywood and movie shorts, Radio City's Rainbow Grill, two seasons at Wardman Park and the leadership of the WJSV radio orchestra.

Continuous music from 1 to 7 tomorrow afternoon will be Hi Hat's new diversion treat. Jimmy Summerville and his Four M's will play from 1 to 3 and 5 to 7. Carmela Lazari will entertain at the piano and with charming songs between 3 and 5.

EASTER CELEBRATIONS. The Shoreham Blue Room will be transformed into a bower of spring flowers tomorrow for its luncheon fashion show at 1 p. m. On Easter Sunday there will be a concert by Raoul Da Costa and his quintet in the Shoreham lobby at 7:30 when the hotel's lavishly beautiful Easter decorations also will be on view. . . . The Mayflower will celebrate both its seventh anniversary and Easter Sunday at an evening concert in the Mayflower Lounge with Sidney of the Mayflower, leading Dick Koons' orchestra.

CARS IN HIGH COLOR. Katharine Hepburn, in town for the day, parked her robin's egg blue Ford convertible in front of the Carlton and right in back of Manager Frank Swadley's gay red and gray British Standard car . . . Russ Cullen, of the Pall Mall Room, has a new aquamarine convertible that sets off the curls of the pretty blonde who's in it so often.

COMING UP! Marjorie Gainesworth, gorgeous soprano who's often sung in Washington theaters, will open at the Troika on Monday. . . . Those prime troupers, the Music Hall Boys, will return to the Shoreham Blue Room on Monday. . . . The Lotus will present its new "Swingtime Revue" on Monday. There'll be Manhattan principals, flower studded production numbers. . . . Another Monday "must" is the Casino Royal's "Springtime Revue" which promises to be fresh and saucy as the first crocus.

Birthday cakes with two candles will be given to all dinner and supper guests at the Neptune Room tonight. They'll be made according to the same recipe used for the delicious and ornate cake cut at the Wednesday "First Nighter's Party," but will be in individual sizes. It'll be all a part of Neptune's second anniversary week.

FUN AT PAUL YOUNG'S. Danny White, the new emcee, turns out to be the agile dancer last seen here with Ted Lewis at the Capitol Theater. His song, "Fugitive From a Finance Company," sets the place in a roar of understanding laughter. . . . Cute, button-nosed "Butch" Austin sings all requests.

JOSE AND PAQUITA, dancing at La Salle Versailles, have a huge and glittering wardrobe of rare Mexican costumes. We looked it over, needed smoked glasses to counteract the flash of sequins, diamante and brilliant embroidery.

Mary Dean, piquant, dark-eyed and from Baltimore, is the new singing mistress of ceremonies at Kavakos' Grill.

CURRENT AND CHOICE COMBOS. The Three Smart Girls of Jack Coffey's Orchestra at Wardman Park. Close your eyes and you'll think you're listening to the Andrews Sisters. . . . Not quite current, but coming soon are delightful Rainbow Room interludes combining novachord, violin and guitar.

HOSPITALITY is Tommy Dorsey's middle name, says Pete Macias, of the Lounge Riviera, speaking of his visit to the Dorsey home in New Jersey. "I didn't have a room, I had a suite," said Pete.

ADELE VAN,
lovely singer with Paul Kain's band at Glen Echo

"Tommy's play room is big as Riviera and looks like it and, by gosh! the drapes are of pigskin!"

QUICKIES. There's a new manager at the Anchor Room. He's Louis Deme, tall and very courteous Frenchman, well known in the restaurant business. . . . Tommy Monte, steel guitarist of Don Carper's Four at Cafe Caprice, spends these sunny afternoons strolling with his handsome 2- and 4-year-old sons.

After reading two of the Olmsted luncheon ads we couldn't resist the urge and went around to try out the new 50-cent luncheon. The entrees were simply scrumptious, the lemon chiffon pie was divine and the waiters were so speedy we thought they were qualifying for foot races.

Nickel Steel Put Under Priority Status

The Office of Production Management yesterday placed all producers and distributors of nickel-bearing steel under a rigid, industry-wide priorities status made necessary by "the tight situation in the supply of nickel."

At the same time, it was intimated by defense officials and by the heads of the United States Steel Co. than an expanded program for the construction of new steel-making facilities was under consideration to meet growing defense needs.

The priorities action, the first to be taken for a steel alloy, was ordered by E. R. Stettinius, jr., OPM priorities director. It provides that defense and British orders be given preference over other demands, each category of which, according to its importance, is given a relative priority rating. Customers whose orders fall into the classes at the lower end of the scale may receive only certain percentages of their average 1940 monthly shipments.

A program for increased steel capacity, over and above that already planned for this year, was broadly intimated by Benjamin F. Fairless, president, and Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Co., following a White House conference with President Roosevelt.

They told reporters that they had brought Mr. Roosevelt up to date on the defense work undertaken by their giant corporation and that they were giving definite consideration to the problem of additional capacity.

Asked if they did not agree with the report of Gano Dunn, made to President Roosevelt on February 28, indicating that steel-making facilities were adequate, the executives quickly pointed out that the demands had changed since that date.

Fairless mentioned the Balkan situation in particular as one which might revise all previous estimates of steel needs, and implied that the expanded program contemplated under the Lease-Lend Act also changed the picture.

At the OPM, production officials emphasized that they were encouraging the building of new facilities by certifying for tax exemption all programs of projected construction and were helping in a program to get additions built to existing steel mills.

The expansion program, it was indicated, will result in several hundred thousand tons of new ingot capacity in addition to the 8,400,000 tons capacity already scheduled for this year. Because of the immediate need for the new facilities, and the desire to avoid diverting machine tools and skilled labor from actual defense products, the expanded program will be composed largely of relatively small expansions to existing plants, rather than entirely new large units, it was said.

Due to OPM and Defense Commission efforts, it was revealed yesterday, Great Lakes transportation of iron ore was opened up at the earliest date in history, with 90 per cent of the Great Lakes fleet in commission last night.

Transportation Commission Ralph Budd, of the Office of Emergency Management, announced that as a result of Coast Guard, railroad, lake carrier and highway department cooperation, ice was broken in the Soo Canal and the early opening was made possible.

Largest Blood Bank Check

G. P. O. DRIVE NETS $931.41—The largest single check in the three-year history of the Children's Hospital blood bank campaigns was presented yesterday to John J. Anderson, acting superintendent of the institution. Raised among Government Printing Office employes through movie benefits in Harding Hall, the check came to $931.41. The G. P. O. drive was sponsored by its American Legion post, whose commander, Herbert R. Street, is shown tendering the money to Anderson. James Reese Europe Post, American Legion, cooperated in the campaign. Twelve Officials Moved Up As FCC Fills Ring's Job

The naming of 12 officials of the Federal Communications Commission to receive promotions created by the recent resignation of Andrew D. Ring, was announced yesterday by the commission.

Gerald C. Gross, chief of the commission's international division, will be promoted, it was said, to the post of assistant chief engineer and chief of the engineering broadcast division. The post was left open by the resignation of Ring, who entered private practice.

The position presently held by Gross will be given to Philip F. Siling, it was announced. The remaining nine officials will receive the following positions:

George P. Adair, assistant chief of engineering broadcast division; John A. Willoughby, chief of standard broadcast applications section; Robert M. Silliman, assistant chief of that section; William C. Boese, chief of nonstandard broadcast applications section.

Others are Cyril B. Braum, assistant chief of nonstandard broadcast applications section; Clure H. Owen, chief of hearing section; H. Underwood Graham, chief of allocations section, and James E. Barr, assistant chief; A. L. Kreis, chief of monitoring equipment section, and Maxine Colonna, chief clerk of the records section.

Record Number Help Red Cross

Volunteers working with the local chapter of the American Red Cross reached an all-time numerical high last month, Gen. F. R. Keefer, chairman, announced yesterday.

A total of 8,345 volunteers served 125,789 hours in various Red Cross activities during March producing, among other things, 23,101 knitted and sewed garments and 160,943 surgical dressings.

Other activities were 71 first aid classes, four classes in home nursing and transcription and printing of some 7,000 pages for the blind by the Braille volunteers.

Public Library Expansion Held 'Imperative'

Declaring the District's rapidly expanding population has made "imperative" the immediate enlargement of the city's public library facilities, the Public Library Committee of the Board of Trade yesterday urged the Commissioners to begin construction of the first unit of the new central library building immediately.

A resolution asking that the project be started and carried through to completion "with all possible speed" was adopted unanimously at a meeting at the Harrington Hotel. The committee was informed that plans for the first unit are virtually ready and that bids will be called for about May 15.

The committee directed its chairman, B. M. McKelway, to submit a statement to the Commissioners calling their attention to the need of beginning construction, already appropriated for, of the central library and the "urgent necessity of carrying through this project to completion as planned and as authorized and partially appropriated for by Congress."

Congress has authorized $1,118,000 and appropriated a total of $610,000 for the first unit of the new main library building, which is to be erected on Pennsylvania Avenue, between Fourth and Sixth Streets Northwest.

A Supplement to Schools

The resolution asserted additional library facilities are urgently needed to fulfill the responsibilities of the free public library system to the community and as "a supplement of the public educational system of the District."

Further provision of necessary service to the schools and of new branch library facilities for the community must await the enlargement of central library facilities," the resolution said.

Albert W. Atwood, chairman of the Building Committee of the Board of Library Trustees, pointing out the need for additional branch libraries, emphasized that the present central library is "inadequate" to meet the demands of the citizens and the requirements of the existing 12 branches.

He cited the fact that Washington, with 700,000 population, lags far behind Los Angeles and other cities, but sid that real progress on branch library building must await completion of the central library.

Space Long Needed

The need for a new main library has existed for years, Mr. Atwood declared, pointing out that the book order, catalog and binding departments were crowded out and moved to the Ford Building 12 years ago. Lack of space in reading rooms and lobbies makes it impossible to give adequate service to the 3,000 persons who visit the library daily.

Even odd corners in all parts of the building, including the basement, have been pressed into service as reading rooms, and more than 120,000 volumes shelved in closed stacks are inaccessible to the public and expensive to administer, Atwood told the committee. Recently, an abandoned firehouse on Maryland Avenue 3 miles distant from the central library was pressed into service for book storage.

The quarters available for preparing and serving loan collections to the schools have been outgrown for years and office and work space are either nonexistent or totally unsuitable for the purpose, he said.

People who are not in close touch with the situation do not realize that the public library now is an integral part of the District school system, Atwood declared, taking the position that the new central library is the key to the entire library expansion program since, he said, the present ones cannot adequately service the 12 branch libraries.

Contract Bridge

1. With both sides vulnerable and North and South having a 60-point part-score, you, West, hold these cards:

♠ K 10 8 3
♡ K 5
◇ Q 10 4
♣ A 7 4 2

The bidding has gone:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	?	—	—

What call do you make?

2. Sitting North as declarer, you hold these cards:

North ♠ K J 8 4 3 — South ♠ A 9 5

How do you play this combination so as to lose no more than one trick in spades?

Solutions

1. Needing only 40 points for game, North will surely bid, even if it is only one no trump. If you do not bid, therefore, partner will probably pass with a fair hand as he doesn't know you can support his suit, and he fears a big penalty. Although your hand is not quite strong enough for a take-out double, you should nevertheless double because of the opponents' partial. Partner can then take action, whether or not North bids, knowing that he cannot incur too much of a set, if any.

2. Play the king; then lead a small spade toward dummy. If East follows, finesse the nine; if he shows out, take the ace and play the nine back toward the jack. If you cashed the ace first and then finessed, a holding of four spades, including the queen, ten, by East would lose two tricks.

Heidt and High Drama Compound Ace Program

Famous Orchestra and Enduring Melodrama Furnish Entertainment at Capitol Ranging From 'Boogie Woogie' to Taut Nerves

A FAVORITE ORCHESTRA and an old, reliable stage and screen subject, rich in the element of suspense, place this week's bill at Loew's Capitol Theater in the upper brackets, if diversity of entertainment is what is sought.

BELL

Horace Heidt, one of the most amiable and personable of the contemporary orchestra leaders, with his "Musical Knights," "Pot o'Gold" stars, or whatever one wishes to call them—but it must be laudatory—occupies the stage for a full hour with the best-balanced and most variegated "act" he ever has brought to town. It is so thoroughly satisfying in every department—music, comedy, singing and dance—that we even have ceased to miss Lobo, the almost-human police dog (there were three or four of him in succession, as a matter of fact) that used to be an important member of the Heidt organization back in the days when the orchestra still was in its swaddling clothes.

Horace—and we assume the intimate liberties of old friendship—has had the good judgment to pace his present offering to the trip-hammer requirements of radio and the microphones, just as if every performance he presents were going on the air, where "stage waits" and dragging and vacant moments are fatal. His hour flits by with the "swiftness of the wind," as Jim Barton would say, and is punctuated by both ensemble and individual contributions that put it virtually in a class by itself. The happy Heidt is his own master of ceremonies, orchestra leader, comedian and, at times, singer and dancer—or shall we say master of the art of recitative in both his singing and dancing? Anyhow, it is 60 minutes of unadulterated enjoyment.

Orchestra and Specialists Are Tops

To begin with, Horace has an instrumental group firmly welded through the years from the most proficient men in their profession. They play smoothly, rhythmically and, if occasion demand, robustly, in any of the bewildering variations of modern music. Beside all that he has a coterie of specialists under his wing who all are Grade-A. While no one who ever twirls a dial needs to be introduced to Larry Cotton's fine tenor voice, there doubtless are those in the Capital who will be glad to meet Burton Pierce, an upper-case tap dancer who finds it within his ample capabilities to offer fleeting, but illuminating, impressions of "Bill" Robinson, Eleanor Powell, Fred Astaire and Paul Draper—in addition to his own superlative, original creations. Then there is Ollie O'Toole, who varies the usual trend of impersonations by carrying his over into the field of radio announcers. You'd think he was Kaltenborn, Boake Carter, or any of the rest of them when he is not being himself or Bonnie Baker or Charlie McCarthy—just to demonstrate his versatility. Ronnie Kemper, with his sotto voce numbers, is by way of being a bit of a present-day "Whispering Jack Smith" and the sightless Fred Lowery still is a whistler who is an artist, as witness his "Valse Bluette" and "Flight of the Bumble Bee." There are some girls around, too. Donna and her Don Juans, for example, and Mimi Cabanne, who has less to do than she should have. Frankie Carle, at the piano, is an ace and Red Ferrington are comedy mainstay of the whole goings-on. It is Mrs. Heidt, if you must know, who is Horace's dancing partner in the one brief interval which the incorrigible Ferrington assures the audience "is not amateur night!"

Al Wood's Melodrama Still Worth Reviving

Of all the "revivals" that have found their way back to the screen in recent months, "The Trial of Mary Dugan" probably is most justly entitled to its resurrection. The "courtroom drama" that again reveals itself on the screen at the Capitol this week was first presented on the stage some 14 years ago, with Ann Harding in the title role. It was picturized by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in 1929, with Norma Shearer as star. Today it still is an interesting, tense and gripping play, with Laraine Day in the titular character and Robert Young as the youthful attorney who turns the tables on the sly conspirators attempting to send an innocent girl to the electric chair.

Edgar Wayne, the victim of the homicide, it seemed to me yesterday, was especially well played by Tom Conway, with Frieda Inescourt doing a comparably excellent bit of distasteful work as the widow involved in a nasty business. Marsha Hunt, in a brief role, displays an unsuspected ability to assume qualities wholly foreign to her own. John Litel, Henry O'Neill, Sara Haden, Francis Pierlot and Marjorie Main are among the others who make this one of the worthiest of the exhumations.

The Fox Movietone News bears the burden of the "auxiliaries" on a bill well worth the attention of anyone in quest of an amusement bargain.

Heidt at Height of His Form

who brings his "Pot o' Gold" stars to Loew's Capitol Theater this week to put on one of the speediest and most diverting "band acts" of the season. Mr. Heidt, of course, is no stranger to Washington, but he will be more welcome than ever after this visit. Ask anyone who has heard him and his talented crew

Louella O. Parsons'

Close-Ups and Long-Shots Of the Motion-Picture Scene

Hollywood, April 10 (INS).—I reckon it is only human to say "I told you so." Marlene Dietrich and George Raft are to be teamed in "All Through the Night," another picture for Warners. Remember I said Warners would try to keep Marlene on the lot. All the chit-chat that Marlene was battling is not only 100 per cent untrue but so ridiculous that Jerry Wald, her producer, Raoul Walsh, her director, and everyone concerned, flew to her rescue.

PARSONS

The interesting part is that not only will George and Marlene be teamed again but they'll have Raoul as their director in "All Through the Night," a story by Leonard O. Ross and Leonard Spiegelgass. The action all takes place in one night and in the telling it sounds like a box office natural, with George playing a gangster, who fights the Fifth Columnists single-handed, and Marlene playing a singer. The story is filled with color, action and excitement.

Talk about telephone numbers in boxoffice figures, Olson and Johnson have made millions in "Hellzapoppin" which has been running on Broadway for three or more years. When they signed a contract to make a movie for Universal it seemed to be one of those indefinite things, for no one ever suspected this comedy pair would leave their gold mine, but today word came that they are closing their show April 21 and, after ten days rest, will come out here to confer with Jules Levey, producer, and H. C. Potter, director.

What a trio Judy Canova, Jerry Colonna and Susan Hayward are for movies and radio. Such patter and such wit. The three of them are my guests of honor Friday night over C. B. S. in "Sis Hopkins." Jerry is just as funny off the screen as he is on. As for Judy, she can always top the next fellow and she has such talent. Susan Hayward, who made so many friends when she went out on personals for me, is doing better all the time as an actress.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Victor Mature was rushed to the Doctor's Hospital in New York with an acute attack of appendicitis. He has been appearing in the Gertrude Lawrence play "Lady in the Dark." The biggest secret romance in town is that of Stirling Hayden and Kay Aldridge; Mrs. Chester Morris, out for the first time since her divorce, with Glenn Tyrone.

Ruby Keeler is refusing to discuss the possibility of a reconciliation with Al Jolson but inside information is that it looks very good and everyone is glad; Greta Garbo was on the M.-G.-M. lot today discussing her next picture with George Cukor; now it's Lady Furness that Eddie Lowe is taking places; Helen Gilbert and Bill Marshall have taken up where they left off; Carole Landis and Raymond Hakim doing a little night clubbing; Miriam Hopkins arrives next month to spend the summer in Hollywood. Wonder if she'll take back her house? Jock Whitney rented it and it has one of the finest views of any of the hill-top homes.

Reports from the sneak preview of "Billy the Kid" should make M.-G.-M. very happy; Deanna Durbin and Vaughn Paul will start building a one-story English cottage right after their marriage; Lila Lee,

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

In Hollywood

With Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, April 10.

Cary Grant is pretty upset about the report that he's getting $250,000 for "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

HOPPER

The facts are these: Cary, as you all know, is the most generous actor in Hollywood, and has given more than any other for the support of Britain. He gave his whole salary for "Philadelphia Story." For this picture he's giving his whole salary, $125,000; he gets one dollar for his work. But the rest goes to the British, with the stipulation that every dime be spent in the United States for clothing, shoes, blankets, and medicine. Not one penny will go for advancing the war, but to help the needy victims of war.

Orson Welles' "Citizen Kane" has had the greatest number of demand performances in the private projection room of any picture done this year. Producers, directors, writers, actors have seen it, but only a few critics, and not the public. The consensus, even by those who don't like the story is that Welles is a genius, and that he's done, in his first job, what they tried to do.

He hasn't pulled any punches. He's done a straightforward, direct yarn, without resorting to camera trickery or sound. And while the fate of "Citizen Kane" is still in the balance, his work as director, producer, and actor has been put upon the highest plane. And it's just possible that for his pains he may receive an Oscar.

Carole Lombard won't do another picture until September, and her next will be directed by Greg La Cava. Title so far unknown.

That man-about-town, friend of the stars, and agent de luxe, Vic Orsatti, has been grabbed by Uncle Sam, and his percentage from now on will be the usual $21 a month.

Metro again has been entertaining those delightful gentlemen from Omaha, Bishop Ryan and Father Flannagan, of Boys Town, before showing the picture, "Men of Boys Town," which I hear is even better than the first . . . Paulette Goddard bought the Heather Angel and Ralph Forbes' home in Beverly, not for herself but for her mother.

You can imagine my surprise when I visited the "Man Hunt" set and heard Director Fritz Lang screaming, "Where's Hedda Hopper?" I stepped up to him and said, "Well, here I am—what's all the shouting about?" He said, "Not you—her!"—pointing to Heather Thatcher. Seems he couldn't pronounce her name, so throughout the picture he used mine. I'm wondering now how much I should charge for the title.

When Sam Goldwyn and Walt Disney get together, you can expect something terrific. And I don't believe you'll be disappointed. Maybe you'll have to wait a year and a half before you'll be able to see "Hans Christian Anderson," which is a story every growing child has dreamed about and digested. I've never heard Sam so enthusiastic, and Walt is just the same. That's a combination that, once started, could develop into the greatest producing unit yet formed here.

Leonard Lyons:

New York, April 10.

COMBAT: Max Baer, accompanied by Lou Nova, came to El Morocco Tuesday night. They sat at the same table throughout the evening and left together . . . "Maybe you shouldn't fraternize this way," Proprietor John Perona told Nova, "just in case you two should fight again" . . . "I could never fight Baer again," Nova confessed. "Friday night, after our fight, Max phoned me and said he wanted to come up and see my child. I invited him and he came up immediately. Max played with the youngster, who likes him immensely now. After that I could never fight Max again."

LYONS

ASSURANCE: Nova visited the Press Photographers Exhibit, where he was introduced to John Kimbrough, the new star of the football Yankees, and Douglas Hertz, owner of that team . . . "So you're the guy with the Cosmic punch?" Kimbrough asked Nova—who suggested: "It would be a good idea if you and Hertz would work out a cosmic forward pass for next fall" . . . "We probably could," said Kimbrough, "if you can guarantee that we'll be playing a team of Max Baers."

SECURITY: The Sears Roebuck Co., in an attempt to achieve better understanding in its employer-employe relationship, sent questionnaires to all the employes. There were 70 questions listed, each concerning a goal to be achieved . . . The employes were to state the order of preference . . . The matter of high wages was fourteenth in the poll. First was "Security."

ENTERPRISE: Sid Grauman, who built the Grauman theaters in California, is in New York now. Grauman had been negotiating with Adolph Zukor to take over the latter's unmortgaged million-dollar property near New City, N. Y., and develop it into an artists' colony for New Yorkers . . . Grauman arranged for Government financing, and the contracts were about to be signed. At the last moment someone reminded Grauman that no railroad runs to that territory—and so the deal was called off.

DRAMA: The stage manager and promoter in William Saroyan's new show, "The Beautiful People," is a man named Peter Xantho. Before rehearsals began Xantho also had a featured role in the show—a role in which he recited 600 words . . . "That's wonderful," he told Saroyan. "I'm an instructor in the drama school at C. C. N. Y. All my students will be proud of me" . . . "You really teach drama at college?" said Saroyan, who is making his first effort at producing and directing a play. "That's very good." He then cut Xantho's role down—to one word, the word "Yeah" . . . Now even that one word has been eliminated. And Peter Xantho plays the role of a Central Park bum.

CHATTER: Jimmy Roosevelt, who is going to Greece and London, still is trying to dispose of his film interests only for the duration of the emergency . . . The State Department is investigating the refusal of Cuban radio stations to move its wave-lengths, pursuant to the Havana agreement . . . The "Thin Man" is being auditioned for radio serialization . . . The author of a current musical just paid a $100 bet he made against "Lady in the Dark" running even six weeks. He made the bet at the Boston opening.

CHANGE: the gridiron dinner which was held in Washington last Saturday will be the last of the long series. The Washington newspapermen who write these shows no longer find amusement in bitter satires of American events—the satires which usually have featured these dinners. And the President, who usually makes strong reply to the opposition speech, made a softened one last Saturday—for it's difficult to hurl strong blows at a loyal opposition . . . And so, during the current crisis, the gridiron dinners will be abandoned.

RACE: Both M-G-M and Howard Hughes are producing pictures about Billy the Kid. They've been racing through productions, each trying to reach the screen first . . . Hughes finished before Metro did, examined the completed film—and decided upon two weeks of retakes. Metro was pleased, for this meant that they'd get the jump. But last Thursday they examined their completed film, starring Robert Taylor, and decided upon reshooting. And so now both studios again are tied in the race to release the story of the American outlaw.

QUERY: Supreme Court Justice McCooey, of Brooklyn, joined the round-table at the Stork Club, and propounded the question: "What's the difference between a gardenia and an elephant?" . . . His listeners played straight, and repeated: "What is the difference between a gardenia and an elephant?" . . . "You can put a gardenia in your lapel," said McCooey. "That's all there is to it—it's clean, and not tricky. Such dopes—not knowing the difference between a gardenia and a elephant . . ."

WASTE: George Grosz, the artist, is writing his autobiography. In discussing the American way of life, he'll report that the one thing which surprises him is the tremendous wastage of material . . . "In Europe," he cites, "if a man finds an old rubber tire, he immediately puts a roof over it, and goes into business. Here, in America—they throw away an entire motor car."

Band Canary Has Troubles Like All of Us

By Frederick C. Othman

United Press Hollywood Correspondent

Hollywood, April 10.—You go dancing of an evening and there with the famous orchestra is a beautiful girl in an evening gown who obliges now and again with song. Lucky girl, huh? You envy her?

Hold tight—and maybe you'll decide she envies you. Consider blue-eyed Harriet Hilliard, one of the most beautiful of the songstresses. She sings with Ozzie Nelson's Orchestra, one of the most famous of the bands. You'd think she couldn't be happier.

Nelson hired her seven years ago. Six years ago they were married and Miss Hilliard has been warbling almost every night, with time out for babies—she has one son, David, 4, and an infant, 10 months old. The baby is in New York now with her mother. The 4-year-old is here with Nelson and Miss Hilliard, who are playing in a Columbia movie, "Betty Co-ed." When this is finished, the band moves on to San Francisco for six weeks, and then goes to other dancing grounds.

Wed to Traveling Man

"It's like being married to a traveling salesman," Miss Hilliard reported today. "It divides your loyalties. If you stay home with the baby, you think you ought to be with your husband. If you go with him, you worry about the child.

"Ozzie is a fine man and we get along perfectly, but I'm getting mighty tired of the singing business. And that isn't all."

Not by a long shot. Miss Hilliard said that whenever she sang a song, her throat hurt. The higher the note, the more the hurt.

"I think it's because when you sing with a band, you have to sing in your throat, sort of," she said, "and you get hoarse and you can't talk. It somehow seems to be worse in California than anywhere else, though I don't want to seem to be insulting the chamber of commerce. And that still isn't all."

Nelson, who also does a lot of singing, has what is known as a nodule in his throat.

"It's a kind of wart," Miss Hilliard said. "It came from too much crooning, and while is doesn't hurt, it is a kind of bother. I'm afraid I may get one, too.

Miss Hilliard appeared in several movies at R-K-O and Paramount here a few weeks back, but that wasn't so good, either, because her husband was playing sweet music everywhere but here. She gave that movie deal up.

Now that she and Nelson are in the same picture, things are better, except that the baby's in the East. What Miss H. wants is a chance to quit the singing business in favor of the movie dramatic roles. She would not become hoarse then and she figures she could drop in on Nelson between pictures.

In this one, incidentally, she is playing a college coed. She looks like a coed, too. If the movie acting doesn't pan out, you'll be seeing her, probably, when you go dancing at the swankiest spot this summer. And of you do, don't envy her, because she'll be worrying about the baby and suffering some slight discomfort in the area of the tonsils.

Nelson Predicts Higher Taxes To Curb Prices

By the Associated Press

New York, April 10.—Donald M. Nelson said tonight that the public must expect increased taxation and Government borrowing out of its savings in order to avoid a "run away rise in all living costs."

Nelson, director of purchases for the Office of Production Management, made this statement in a talk prepared for America's Town Meeting of the Air, Broadcast by N. B. C.

"If we get a real price spiral there will be a long, long drop at the end of it, and when we hit bottom it will wreck our whole economy," he said. "That must be averted."

With much of the Nation's production diverted into defense channels, civilian buying will soon outstrip the output of the civilian consumer goods, Nelson said.

"Before very long, then, we will have to cut down the volume of civilian spending. Since you can't spend a dollar that you have already given to the Government, that innocent expression implies increased taxation and Government borrowing out of savings."

Edwin W. Kemmerer, Princeton economist, said the public should demand prompt adoption of three policies by the Government.

First, he said, the Government should cut ordinary expenditures to the bone while adequately meeting the need for defense expenditures, and secondly, "the Government should meet a large and ever increasing proportion of its expenditures out of taxation."

Thirdly, Kemmerer said, "the Government should make the terms of whatever borrowing it is compelled to do such as to cause the debt to be paid for by the public increasingly out of current income, rather to go into the banks where it is much more likely to be employed as a basis of inflation."

Trinity College Librarian for 40 Years Dies at 81

Sister Mary Patricia (Ellen C. Butler), librarian at Trinity College for nearly 40 years, died at the college yesterday after a long illness, at the age of 81.

A native of Cambridge, Mass., Sister Mary Patricia was the daughter of Patrick Butler and the former Mary Kirwin, who were born in Ireland.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the Trinity College Chapel, Franklin Street and Michigan Avenue Northeast. She will be buried in the Notre Dame Convent Cemetery at Ilchester, near Ellicott City, Md., immediately following the services.

ester Harkness ies; Secretary o Rep. Youngdahl ster Harkness, secretary to Representative Youngdahl (Republican) of Minnesota, died of a heart ment yesterday at George Washton University Hospital. He was ut 48 years old.

He had worked Wednesday and had planned to go to Valley Forge, Pa., yesterday to meet his wife, who was coming from Minneapolis. He is survived also by a daughter, Donna Mae, 13. He was formerly city editor of the Minneapolis Journal.

Representative Youngdahl, who had gone home for the Easter season, was to fly back to Washington, his aides said yesterday.

'Blossom Time' Cast to Fete Erstwhile Star

A singer who two decades ago was in the cast of the original Washington presentation of Sigmund Romberg's "Blossom Time" tonight will get a behind-the-footlights glimpse of his successors in the 1941 edition of the same operetta.

SERVAIS

Yvan Servais, the basso who sang the role of "Count Sharnoff" at the old Poli's Theater here in 1921, will go backstage to meet those in the cast at the presentation at the National Theater. There a party will be given in his honor.

Servais, now a teacher at a local music school, retired from the stage in 1929 when, he says, the depression came and the theater went into a tailspin.

The director of the B. & O. Glee Club, of Baltimore, he will lead the choral group in a British benefit program at the Mayflower Hotel April 29. He hopes to raise sufficient money through this performance and others to buy an ambulance and an airplane for Britain's forces.

Maj. Ward Davies' Funeral Today At Fort Myer

Funeral services for Maj. Ward J. Davies, 43, Air Corps, United States Army, who died April 9 at Walter Reed Hospital, will be held at 11 a. m. today at Fort Myer Chapel, with burial in Arlington Cemetery, with military honors.

Chaplain Charles I. Carpenter, of Langley Field, Va., where Maj. Davies had been stationed since September, 1936, will officiate.

A native of Philadelphia, Maj. Davies served during the World War as an enlisted man in the aviation section of the United States Army. He accepted a commission as a second lieutenant in 1926 and was promoted to major (temporary) last January.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Davies, who is residing temporarily at 8401 Piney Branch Road, Silver Spring, Md.

U. S. Indicts 96 Italians for Ship Sabotage

By the Associated Press

Newark, N. J., April 10.—The Federal grand jury today indicted 96 crew members and officers of eight Italian freighters docked at New Jersey ports on charges of sabotage. The eight indictments also named Rinaldo Negri, identified by the United States attorney's office as marine superintendent of the Italian Line.

Most of the crew members have been detained at Ellis Island since the freighters were seized by the Coast Guard on March 29 after machinery had been found damaged.

The attorney's office said Negri, whose headquarters are in New York, had furnished materials to the crews. The indictments said boilers, steering gear and other machinery had been sabotaged. The ships were the Santa Rosa, the Antoinetta, the Marglauco, the Aussa, the Arsa, the San Leonardo, the Alberta and the Brennero.

Cheers for Duce

New York, April 10 (AP).—With an outburst of cheering for Mussolini and Hitler so long and loud that military police stepped in to silence it, 505 crew members of the Italian liner Conte Biancamano, seized in the Panama Canal Zone March 30, arrived today.

The demonstration occurred on the after deck of the Army transport Leonard Wood as the ship docked at the Brooklyn Army base.

"This (the outburst) was instigated by the good rations they got on the way up," said Brig. Gen. Homer Groninger, commander of the Army base.

He said the sailors would be sent to Ellis Island. Nine of them, he said, would be sent back to Panama to face charges of sabotaging their 22,255-ton liner.

Army officials took special precautions to land the men, placing 40 military police armed with automatic rifles, pistols and blackjacks at the gangways.

Captain Is Mad at Embassy

Philadelphia, April 10 (AP).—"I'll make them remember me for this," declared Capt. Romano Tomicich of the sabotaged Italian freighter Belvedere in accusing his consulate and embassy of "abandoning me and my men."

Bystanders in the United States marshal's office were awed by the 57-year-old master's fiery protest yesterday when he and 13 other seamen were brought in to answer Federal indictments charging sabotage. Failure of attorneys to appear for the accused brought the outburst.

"You tell the consul and the embassy I did what they told me to do. Now they are abandoning me and my men," shout ! Tonicich. "They had better not let me and my men stay around for two months in jail."

Roosevelt Asks Power to Seize Idle Foreign Ships

bilization in our harbors of shipping facilities."

Early suggested that the answer might be more ships rather than naval escorts.

But coincidence of the shipping message with the Greenland hemisphere defense agreement brought increased congressional talk of a North Atlantic route for British supplies, naval patroled as far as Greenland. Isolationist Senators charged this would be "another name for convoys."

The President told Congress he was satisfied statutory authority should be provided 'to take over any such vessels as our needs may require, subject, of course, to the payment of just compensation."

Proposal that such payments be made from the $7,000,000,000 aid appropriation left little doubt that the ships commandeered or others they replace are intended for British-aid use.

While Copenhagen dispatches cited Danish foreign office instructions to neither sell nor lease idle ships, Henrik de Kauffmann, the Danish Minister, has been reported favorable to the transfer. Under the proposed bill, the President could simply requisition the ships, or effect a purchase through de Kauffmann, independent of the Nazi-controlled government, as was done in the Greenland agreement.

The President Tuesday told reporters he already had authority, under the Espionage Act, to take over the 2 German and 28 Italian ships, most of them seriously damaged by their own crews.

No idle foreign-owned ships were exempted in the bill submitted, although the French Ambassador recently said he has been assured the luxury liner Normandie and other French ships will not be seized. Foreign-owned ships in United States waters also include Norwegian, Dutch, Swedish, Yugoslavia, Estonian, Icelandic, Rumanian and Lithuanian vessels. Some of these, including Norwegian and Dutch vessels, already are in active service.

Veteran Treasury Employe Dies

Funeral services for Miss Viola Anna Cade, an employe in the accounting division of the Treasury Department for 28 years, who died Wednesday on her fifty-second birthday, will be held at 4 p. m. Sunday at the Lee funeral home, Fourth Street and Massachusetst Avenue Northeast.

Miss Cade, who was ill in Doctors Hospital only a short time, was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1889. Her home was at the All-States Hotel, 514 Nineteenth Street Northwest.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Jessie Vrooman, of Arlington, Va., and a brother who resides in Lakeland, Fla.

Bridges Foils First Attempts To Unseat Him

By the Associated Press

Los Angeles, April 10.—Harry Bridges' administration forces have won a triple victory at the C.I.O. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union convention and opponents predict a fight to unseat their alien president will fail.

After a two-hour debate, a constitutional change providing for biennial instead of annual conventions was adopted in a roll call vote, 160-75.

"Officers are elected at the convention," John Brost, of Portland, Oreg., remarked in debate. "This means that we're changing from a one-year term for officers to a two-year term?"

"Yes," Bridges replied with a smile.

The I. L. W. U. leader comes up for reelection this weekend.

Another constitutional change adopted provides that international officers may start ouster proceedings against any member who makes "false charges, unfounded accusations or malicious attacks" against any international officer outside of a union meeting or of union publications.

"Furthermore, we're going to use it," Bridges commented. "I know the guys I am going after."

He recalled that a Longshore delegate at a Seattle Industrial Union council meeting had called him the "No. 1 rat of the Pacific Coast" and Matt Meehan, international secretary, the "No. 2 rat."

A third change, adopted after Bridges pleaded for it, restricts the power of local unions to bring charges against international officers who are members of the local.

Resolutions to bar Bridges from the office of president still await convention action, but in view of the roll call vote, delegates said they probably had little chance of adoption. Similar resolutions have been rejected at previous conventions.

Mrs. Jenkins To Be Buried At Fort Lincoln

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna U. Jenkins, 75, who died Wednesday at Georgetown Hospital, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the Hines funeral home, Fourteenth and Harvard Streets. Burial will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mrs. Jenkins was born in Wisconsin and attended Dixon College, Ill. After teaching in schools of Wisconsin and Nebraska, she was married in 1894 to Austin Jenkins, a book dealer. She lived in Atlanta, Ga., for 21 years before coming to Washington in 1915.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Esther Keller, wife of the director of Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. in Honolulu, Hawaii, and six brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Mary Wright To Be Buried At Arlington

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Wright, 93, widow of Frederick A. Wright, will be held at 10:30 a. m. today at the Hines funeral home, 2901 Fourteenth Street Northwest, with burial in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Wright, a resident of Washington since 1908, had been active in church, Red Cross and other affairs until her death, despite her years. She died suddenly in her sleep early Tuesday at her residence, the Montgomery Apartments, North Capitol and M Streets.

Born in Fayette County, then in Virginia but now West Virginia, she was a daughter of Joseph and Rebecca Hull, members of pioneer families. In Washington she was active in work of the Hamline Methodist Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Miss Grace Wright and Mrs. Richard Blakenship, of Washington; one sister, Mrs. George Legg, of West Virginia; seven grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Bozarth Rites Set for Today At Mount Rainier

Funeral services for William H. Bozarth, 70, who died Wednesday at his home, 3223 Bunker Hill Road, Mount Rainier, Md., will be held today at 2:30 p. m. at Nalley's chapel, 3200 Rhode Island Avenue, Mount Rainier, Md. Burial will be in Washington Memorial Park.

A retired Government employe, Mr. Bozarth was born in 1871 in DeKalb County, Tenn. After attending college in Tennessee and Texas, he taught school in the latter State before coming to Washington in 1910, where he worked 30 years in the fingerprint section of the War Department before his retirement a year ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruby Bozarth, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Floy M. Schoolfield, both of Mount Rainier.

Defense Of Greenland

The inclusion of Greenland in the cooperative defense system being established in this hemisphere constitutes a logical and, indeed, inevitable sequel to previous measures that have been taken to strengthen the security of the New World against outside attack. In the hands of an enemy power Greenland would be a grave menace to Canada and the United States. To prevent such a development from taking place, President Roosevelt, by agreement with the Danish Minister, has decided to establish American air bases there. This does not mean that Denmark's sovereignty over the island has in any way been impaired. It means only that the United States is taking a realistic view of the facts that Denmark is today an occupied country and that she is temporarily in no position to defend Greenland. In these circumstances, we must take over the defense of Greenland for the duration of the present emergency as a part of our own national defense plans. The action of the President fits in not only with the Monroe Doctrine, since Greenland belongs to the Western Hemisphere, but also with the agreements reached at the Havana conference. Likewise it supplements the defense arrangements the United States has entered into with Canada and Mexico.

Military Secrets

The vast majority of newspaper and news-service editors have respected to the letter the request of Secretary Knox that no reports be published about the presence of British warships in American waters. The fact, however, that this silence has been almost but not quite general raises a difficult problem of journalistic ethics.

A case in point was the arrival for repair of H. M. S. Malaya in New York Harbor last Saturday. Most of the newspapers kept the news quiet, but a few printed the news and came in for criticism at the President's press conference Monday. In extenuation these few urged the fact that there was nothing hidden about the news. Certainly the arrival of a damaged battleship in the world's busiest harbor—a harbor traversed daily by hundreds of thousands of commuters and fully visible from the upper windows of any of several dozen skyscrapers—can be considered a military "secret" only by a considerable stretch of the meaning of the word. The "secret" became even more dubious in view of what then happened. Some 500 sailors and marines, with the name of their ship plainly visible on their hatbands, were given shore leave. In these circumstances there is a disposition on the part of even editors who didn't publish the news to question whether any useful purpose can be served by a policy of silence in these matters.

Still there can be no doubt that a report of the identity, location and condition of any British vessel constitutes information of great importance to the German intelligence. It is almost equally beyond doubt that it would be virtually impossible to prevent the numerous German intelligence agents in this country from gathering and transmitting such information. Thus the problem is whether for the sake of satisfying a legitimate curiosity on the part of readers, or merely for the sake of demonstrating independence of any official prompting in such matters, American newspaper reporters, photographers and editors should undertake to do the work of these spies more rapidly and more efficiently than the spies could do it themselves.

The view of the naval authorities on this point seems to be that the job of an espionage agent is by its nature normally subject to various hazards and delays, and that the value of his information depreciates in direct ratio to the amount of time it takes to transmit his information to his principals in the German admiralty. It is a truism to say that in all espionage time is the vital thing. Thus the difference between a ready-made report which the agent can transcribe into code and one that he must gather and arrange for himself under difficulties may mean a difference of several hours or possibly of days.

However, it may be questioned whether the best way to determine such points is by official "requests." As matters stand, those newspaper editors who, in good faith, feel it unwise to comply with such requests, cannot now be accused of any violation of confidence. On the other hand, any form of self-censorship must, if it is to succeed, be universal. A single exception will defeat its purpose. Thus it is surprising that newspaper publishers and editors have not undertaken to work out for themselves a code that would forbid publication of news prejudicial to the national defense.

Struggle For Ships

President Roosevelt's request for legislation permitting the Government to take over and operate foreign ships in American ports is one more step toward making American aid in the Battle of the Atlantic effective. Our first step in this direction was taken months ago when the United States traded 50 destroyers to Great Britain for Atlantic aviation and naval bases. More recently the tempo of our activities in this field has been accelerated. The Government took Italian and German vessels in American ports into protective custody last week and on Wednesday it released ten Coast Guard cutters to the British.

Under the Espionage Act of 1917 the Administration has authority to extend the protection of the United States over foreign vessels in danger of being sabotaged in American ports. If ships have actually been sabotaged by their crews, they may be taken over under the forfeiture provisions of this law. A new grant of authority is essential, however, to permit the taking of undamaged foreign ships for use by our Government. Congress will undoubtedly give the President that power without delay. The effect will be to mobilize 69 merchant vessels (39 Danish, 28 Italian and 2 German) for the battle of transportation in the Atlantic.

Reports from Copenhagen to the effect that the Danish government will not sell or lease its ships in United States ports will have no effect upon this plan. Negotiations for the purchase or charter of these Danish merchantmen have been under way for months. If proper safeguards against return of the ships to Denmark under orders from the Nazi-dominated Copenhagen government could have been worked out, they would have been chartered to American shipping lines long ago. It is true that they cannot be sold without the consent of the Danish government. Under the present plan, however, they will be taken over by the United States without regard for protests from Copenhagen. Negotiations will be confined to the subject of compensation.

Our policy of extending aid to Great Britain and her Allies in fighting the Nazi menace will be rendered futile, as President Roosevelt points out in his message, "if the growing shortage of shipping facilities is not arrested." In this emergency the national interest demands that ships be obtained from every available source. So the prospective enactment of the legislation requested by the President may be regarded as only a detail in the general policy heretofore adopted.

Setback In Libya

The recapture by a mechanized force of Germans and Italians of Bengazi, Derna and other Libyan points previously taken by Gen. Wavell's Army of the Nile will undoubtedly cheer the Italians. But the strategic importance of this victory is more potential than actual. Unless and until the Germans and Italians can destroy the Army of the Nile, or what is left of it following the dispatch of a considerable force to the Balkans, the gains made by their mechanized columns are likely to prove temporary. Nor do these gains offset the victories previously won by Gen. Wavell. In their march across Cyrenaica the British not only smashed Marshal Graziani's army, taking no fewer than 135,000 prisoners, but also captured Italian supplies that had been accumulated in Libya for five years. The present German-Italian march to Egypt means only the recapture of lost territory; it will not restore the lost Italian legions or the lost Italian supplies.

There are indications that direct contact has been made between the Axis forces and the British during the last few days and that three British generals have been captured. But it is most unlikely, with the hot season approaching, that an offensive against Alexandria and the Suez Canal can go forward at this time. Meanwhile the fall of Addis Ababa and Massawa, suggesting the proximate end of the British campaign in East Africa, will no doubt make possible the release of troops for the defense of Egypt.

It must not be assumed, however, that the changed situation in Libya is not without grave potential dangers to the British. In the first place, as Winston Churchill has pointed out, it gives the Axis new airfields from which to harass British lines of communication in Egypt and the Eastern Mediterranean. Secondly, should the Germans score a speedy triumph in the Balkans, the new front might be strengthened through the addition of a large German force. The Axis troops in Libya might find it wise to strike west instead of east, across French Africa to Dakar. Gen. Weygand could be expected to oppose such a move. But his forces in North Africa lack equipment and supplies. They might prove no match for the mechanized forces of the Reich. For all these reasons the British can ill afford to view the situation in Libya with equanimity, even though it constitutes a minor setback in comparison with the major disaster which has occurred in the Balkans.

Price Experiments

The Surplus Marketing Administration has embarked upon a rather novel experiment in price control. Contrary to the usual procedure of trying to raise prices by restricting production, the SMA is planning to "put a floor" under the prices of pork and dairy products with a view to increasing supplies. Surpluses would then be available for export to Great Britain, for distribution in domestic relief channels, and for other emergency purposes.

The Department of Agriculture has been advising farmers to raise and fatten more hogs for some time. But at the prices ruling for hogs, the cost of feed corn has been relatively high. In other words, the corn-hog ratio has been unfavorable to an increase in hog numbers, at least until recently. Consequently the Department of Agriculture now proposes not only to lift hog prices above current levels by stepping up the SMA buying program but it aims at keeping corn prices from rising by increasing acreage and leaving the present corn-loan program unchanged.

This ingenious plan is undoubtedly adapted to attainment of the desired end of increasing supplies of pork (and also of dairy) products by holding out hopes of greater profits to farmers. And if managed wisely, the program may even have a restraining effect upon living costs. For by timely release of stored stocks, the Government might prevent speculative runaway price movements. The great danger of this new experiment in price control, however, is that it will arouse the envy of growers of crops less favored by circumstances. One wonders whether corn growers will be satisfied with selling more corn if corn prices are kept from rising. And what will the cotton growers and the wheat growers think about a price-raising program from which they are excluded? The fact that export outlets for cotton and wheat are practically closed, while world and domestic supplies of both commodities are superabundant, explains why the Department of Agriculture has shown no inclination to encourage an increased output of wheat and cotton.

But farmers and their representatives in Congress have never been restrained by hard economic facts of demand and supply from seeking higher prices for their crops. There is good reason to fear, therefore, that the knowledge that hog prices are to be raised as a matter of Government policy will give impetus to the current movement to lift prices of other farm products to higher levels by means of parity or near-parity loans.

Logical Assignment

In the shift of committee assignments resulting from Senator Sheppard's death a new chairman of the Senate District Committee will doubtless come to the fore. Senator Reynolds is expected to step into Senator Sheppard's place as head of the Military Affairs Committee. That will leave Senator McCarran once more in line for the chairmanship of the District Committee. The Senator from Nevada declined this post at the beginning of the present session. Now, however, there are special reasons for hope that he may be persuaded to accept it, despite his reiterated desire to avoid the assignment. In addition to his general familiarity with District problems, Mr. McCarran is chairman of the Judiciary Subcommittee on the Capper-Sumners resolution. This proposed amendment to the Constitution giving the District representation in Congress and the Electoral College is by far the most important local legislation to be taken up at the present session. It will be a particularly happy situation if Senator McCarran consents to pilot this measure through as chairman of the District Committee as well as a spokesman for the Judiciary Committee.

EXPECT CHANGE

Never be astonished, dear.
Expect change,
Nothing is strange.

We have seen the human race
Capture all its dreams,
All except peace.

We have watched mankind like Christ
Toil up, and up,
To be hanged at the top.

No longer envying the birds,
That ancient prayer for Wings granted: therefore

The heavy sky over London,
Stallion-hoofed,
Falls on the roofs.

These are the falling years,
They will go deep.
Never weep, never weep.

With clear eyes explore the pit.
Watch the great fall
With religious awe.

Lack Of Consistency

It seems to me that one important reason behind our present disunity—strikes—is the lack of consistency between the President's speeches and recent Congressional action. The country responded to the President by acknowledging the grave threat to our way of life and he followed by asking for work sacrifice and production.

Congress, instead of conforming with that pattern, departed therefrom by voting a billion and a half dollars, not to encourage farm production, but for parity payments! This illogical, inconsistent benefice to one sector of the country is largely responsible for another section—labor—asking for theirs by striking.

If, despite the gravity of our situation, Congressmen continue to pull the rope toward them, the people cannot be blamed if they relax their effort in sheer bewilderment.

In such crises nations face danger of inflation, which can be minimized by increasing production, but if we act as if times were normal and continue to pay farmers for curbing rather than increasing production, we shall undermine our national effort. Labor cannot with impunity be paid higher wages unless we increase production by every means possible—the foundation of our effort should be production, and the President will be consistent if he vetoes the Senate Farm Act—which votes our money for the barren policy of curtailing crops.

Base On Galway

Now that we have acquired naval and air bases in Bermuda and Newfoundland, why should we not go the whole way to Galway for another naval and air base? The free Irish want American merchant shipping with American goods and guns in their ports and we need a harbor in Ireland for our men of war both of which objectives would be served by the United States taking over the port of Galway for the use of our destroyers, cruisers and airships. The purpose would not be to declare war on the Germans, but for Congress to declare the submarine to be an illegal and piratical instrument against merchant shipping and then to blast submarines on sight when discovered in the North Atlantic.

Fusing Freedom And Authority

It might be accurate to say that the present world ferment is fundamentally a groping after authority, something stable and reliable. All the peoples of the Western world, or nearly all, seem to be struggling to get away from the burden of individual responsibility for their actions in an incomprehensible environment. Fuehrers and Duces are set up to take over responsibility for the "security" of their subjects, to instruct them what to do, what to believe. Even the American people, overwhelmed and bewildered by an unmanageable economic crisis, turned to the Federal Government, the personal leadership of the President, to take over the burden they did not know how to carry.

This quest for authority has resulted in the establishment of unspeakable despotisms in Europe. Yet it is not of necessity, and in its essence, opposed to freedom. Freedom and authority are not basically in opposition, but rather complementary to each other. They are simply the two aspects of the dualism without which movement and progress, any proper human life itself, are impossible.

In fact, there can be no freedom without authority. Freedom means choice. And choice means acceptance of certain consequences which are beyond control of the determining agent. The very act of choice itself involves acceptance of an external, superior power which controls the consequences that unavoidably follow. To deny the validity of all authority is to deny the value of freedom, of choice and of the things chosen.

The underlying difficulty is that moderns have denied, or at least ignored, authority—either human or divine. The main emphasis these last 400 years has been placed upon man's exaltation of himself, upon the cult of humanism. The ideal of humanism originally freed the world from the rigid, dead-set authority of medieval rulers in church and state. But in overasserting the idea of freedom, modern people have landed themselves merely in license, in bankruptcy of mind and spirit, and in denial of the very foundation of true freedom itself.

The great task of the future is to reconcile freedom and authority. For a thousand years the pendulum of world history has been swinging back and forth from one to the other. The Middle Ages overemphasized authority, and men revolted in the Renaissance and Reformation. Since then freedom has been overstressed. The result is a revolt against freedom. In the decadent countries of central and southern Europe—for they, not the democracies, are most truly decadent—this has taken the form of a regressive trend toward the authority of mere force, of physical compulsion and primitive mass suggestion (propaganda); that is, totalitarianism.

The only alternative is a new humanism, the restoration of individual personality grounded upon divine authority, upon faith. This idea is scoffed at alike by the remaining apostles of the old, bankrupt, agnostic humanism, by the followers of Karl Marx, who want to set up the authority of the proletariat, and by those who follow the philosopher Nietzsche and want to establish the authority of the elite, the superman—the worship of power and the doctrine that might makes right.

This reconciliation or adjustment of authority and freedom is no small undertaking. It means not merely the overturn of Oriental despotisms which have taken root in Occidental countries. It means emancipation from financial oligarchies, from class tyrannies and the oppression of organized pressure groups. But the ideal undoubtedly underlies the project of the "four freedoms" announced by President Roosevelt as our national purpose: the freedoms of speech, religion, press and trade.

Can free personality be revived—and extended? We are dedicated to it, yet there are undoubtedly many who would scout the question, bluntly put. But it is a significant fact that the hero of the present war is the common man, the "little people." It is not the soldier, or even the airman, but the masses of civilian individuals who are holding back the tide of atavistic barbarism by their fortitude and poise. This may mean, when the struggle is over, the emergence of a new order of citizenship, a resurgence of individualism and a regeneration of moral values.

LLOYD M. GRAVES.

Spirit Of Jefferson

Newcomers to Virginia, my family and I have been taking advantage of every blue day in order to visit some of the many historical spots that dot the State. Our last Sunday's visit to Monticello was indeed an event.

I have stood before the Taj Mahal, wandered through the Forum, tramped the endless corridors of Fountainebleau and Versailles, and knelt in the Westminster Abbey, but I do not believe I have ever been as moved as I was when I read the simple epitaph on Jefferson's tomb:

"Here was buried THOMAS JEFFERSON, Author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom and Father of the University of Virginia."

Few words, but of tremendous import: Independence, religious freedom, education. Has any man endowed his countrymen more superbly?

At this moment Hitler is busy destroying all three in Europe and has every intention of doing so in America. Our isolationists pretend to believe that liberty can survive in the United States although dead everywhere else. Influenza traveled on the wings of the wind across the Atlantic in 1918 and left a vast pile of coffins in its wake. So will autocracy destroy our nobly won liberties if Hitler wins.

Americans, we have a priceless heritage! Shall we permit our liberty to be exchanged for totalitarian slavery?

Spirit of Jefferson, arouse us, lest we, having forgotten how to be men, perish.

ANNETTE T. JOHNSON.

Staunton, Va., April 8.

The America First

Our isolationist friends of the America First Committee, ever eager to obstruct, have seized upon the Hoover plan as a perfectly splendid means of embarrassing the Administration. In its present form, about all that can be said of the plan is that it is an excellent monkey wrench which can be thrown about all around the Government and then can be picked up again and thrown around the country as well. It will be the most efficient weapon in the committee's somewhat threadbare arsenal for disrupting the country, just now struggling toward national unity.

They will not, of course, consider the plan on its own merits, but rather for what they can get out of it. They will make no suggestions toward making the plan practical, such as a condition that Germany return the food removed from the occupied countries, that Germany allow food ships to pass unmolested to Britain, in case that beleaguered country, too, starts to starve; that France turn over her fleet to England or to us in return for food; that France cease making weapons of war with which the Nazis can kill and maim the British; that Germany release the 2,000,000 prisoners so that they may return to till their own fields.

The America First Committee will make none of these suggestions. On the contrary, it will do everything in its power to embarrass the Government, even if it must do the Nazis a favor in the process.

Confident

The sooner this war is won the better for the world. Britain will win with our help. Anything else is unthinkable, with the Nazis' utter belief in widespread brutality, enslavement and the degradation of womanhood. "Speed up" must be the watchword, and federal union the goal, so that there never will be such a holocaust again.

How To Ride A Bus

The art of riding a bus begins like the art of cooking a hare—that is, you must first catch the bus. But this "first" opens such a host of possibilities that if we explore them, it is unlikely we will reach the main subject. Therefore, I will start with the assumption that you are on the bus.

From that moment, to be successful, you must adopt an attitude of determined skepticism. For instance, you will be confronted with the necessity of paying your fare, or showing the driver your pass. At this moment the bus may be stationary, and you will feel as though you were on firm ground.

Do not be deceived. The vehicle is bound to go ahead at any moment, with a tendency to throw you back into it; or to lurch around a corner, in which case you will be jerked, not at all romantically, in the direction of the driver's lap. If, of course, the turn is to the left, you are more apt to end up against the door, or in a pile of bundles carried by a stout lady who got on the bus just after you—don't ask me how.

Confirmed skepticism will have led the experienced bus rider, before this, to have grasped anything that is nearby. If there is no crowd, he may cling to the coin receiver, to one of the maze of rails that runs through the vehicle, or to the driver's arm. If there is a crowd, he will place himself in such a position that when the bus moves, someone else will be thrown against its hard and immovable parts, and he will fall against that person. Quite frequently a well-fleshed matron, or a gentleman with a soft and yielding corporation, will be within inches; and no silken cushion could protect you better or make you more comfortable, if only you can manage to hit your mark.

But the same skepticism and foresight are needed if you should manage to pay your fare and get away before the bus moves. Such an occasion will arise when you have hit the exact point at the curb at which the bus stops, and have refused to let anyone push in front of you. For the bus ordinarily will wait until most of those remaining have also climbed in. In fact, it hardly ever will leave an aspiring passenger unless he is 2 or 3 yards away from the door and the driver can affect not to see him—or unless no more humanity can possibly be crammed into the interior.

Now, if you fail to find anyone standing in the aisle, or even—for such things do happen at certain weird hours—if you discover a seat that is vacated and does not have an oversized person occupying half of it as well as all of his own, you probably will think that all is well. At this point it is well to repeat some little warning, such as: "Remember, be skeptical . . . get set!" For there is a possibility that the last person will have entered by this time, and that the bus will start before you are seated.

In that case you will need every bit of ingenuity as you would have needed had the bus started while you were at the front, plus agility such as is usually possessed only by circus acrobats or by those who attend gym regularly and specialize in tumbling. For your ambition is not merely to avoid being thrown against something; it is to keep in control of your various members, and at the same time to sit down in a seat—and not in the lap of someone across the aisle, or several seats farther in the bus.

The best method in such a situation, I believe, is to grasp the handgrip that will be found on the back of the seat ahead of that in which you are trying to sit, and let the momentum of the bus swing you, in a sudden arc, into your place. This will work ordinarily, because if there is another person in the seat, he probably occupies the place next to the window, and you will only plunge him more firmly against the side of the bus, and thus get a little more sitting space for yourself.

The maneuver does become difficult when you happen to be carrying bundles, but in that case the bundles can be dropped. Someone will be glad to have them, and there are always more to be obtained in the stores.

If you miss your aim, however, and someone else gets into the seat, there remains but one thing to do. This is to grasp one of the overhead bars, and to hang there like a monkey. In this position you will swing in various directions but in such limited arcs that you will avoid doing yourself or anyone else serious damage—provided, of course, that your shoulder is not one of the sort that becomes easily dislocated. If it is, you should not attempt to ride a bus.

Suppose that you are hanging from such a bar. Do not be discouraged. There are certain things that may still be done. For example, if you can appear to be aged and fragile, or very seriously crippled, or if you happen to be an elderly person in very fact, then you can manage to spot some young girl who is sitting down but who displays some vague signs of a tender conscience and an old-fashioned type of breeding. You must fix her with a plaintive eye, and then glance disapprovingly at the young men who are also sitting down. Pretty soon she will begin to fidget. Shortly after that, with a shame-faced smile, she will pretend that she has reached her stop and go to stand somewhere in the bus. The seat then becomes yours.

Once seated, it is necessary to stare fixedly out of the window. If you are a male, this will make it easier not to see the women who are left standing. If you are not, it will leave you in apparent ignorance of others of your sex who are older and feebler than you, but who are still somehow on their feet.

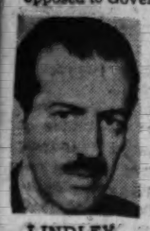
From this point on it is unlikely that you will need further instruction. Indeed, so long as you continue in rugged physical condition, you will be competent to ride even in trolley cars. EUGENE PHARO.

Suppressing News

By Ernest K. Lindley

Common Sense In Censorship

THE PRESIDENT, Stephen Early and Lowell Mellett are now emphatically on the record as opposed to Government censorship of the press. The substance of their views was set forth in this column weeks ago. Their direct public expressions of it should set at rest the qualms of the doubters.



LINDLEY

What they ask, instead, is the voluntary cooperation of the press in refraining from publishing certain types of information of military value. Unquestionably, the press is overwhelmingly disposed to cooperate, provided:

1. The unpublished information is limited to facts which really are essential to the security of the Nation and its friends.

2. There are not too many leaks—either through the failure of a few newspapers to cooperate, or through lack of uniform interpretation of what is confidential by various branches and subdivisions of the Government itself.

The press assented almost unanimously a few months ago when Secretary of the Navy Knox asked it to refrain from publishing information of four types:

1. Movements of ships and naval or Marine Corps units.

2. Technical data or descriptive matter about the performance and operation of weapons.

3. Details of new ships or aircraft.

4. Navy shore construction projects.

THE LINES of demarcation were not carefully drawn, and the last category, in particular, seemed much too broad. In February Secretary Knox issued a clarifying statement. Later the press was asked not to publish information of the same types concerning British ships coming into American harbors, including the fact of their arrival.

Then a British battleship sailed into New York Harbor in plain view of hundreds of thousands of people, including the staff of the German consulate. And a few hours later British "limeys" wearing "Malaya" hatbands could be found in the cafes of the waterfront and Broadway. Several New York papers, faithful to the letter of their pledge, refrained from publishing anything about the arrival of the Malaya. Others, including the strongly pro-British and pro-war Herald Tribune, published pictures and full details, including those concerning the damage to the ship. Finally, Secretary Knox officially "broke" the story, which was supposed, under his request, to be a secret matter, by publicly commending a majority of the press for not publishing anything about it.

IN COMMENTING on the suppression of information concerning ship arrivals and departures, Steve Early said it was chiefly a problem of "educating" the newspapers on the seaboard. The Navy Department also needs education. The ridiculous consequences of the Malaya incident could have been avoided in several ways. Perhaps the simplest would have been an announcement by the Navy Department that the Malaya was entering New York Harbor, issued promptly when the battleship did, in fact, reach it. It may be possible to keep secret, or at least delay the spreading of information about, the arrival or departure of other ships at other ports. Common sense must be the guide. But in fairness to competing newspapers, some common sense should be exercised by the Navy Department.

For months working newspapermen in Washington have had difficulty at both the War and Navy Departments in getting information they should have. They have been denied access to facts which they later dug up in published committee hearings—and even in the Encyclopedia Britannica. They have been denied facts which soon after were published without official remonstrance or rebuke.

FOR A TIME the press encountered more difficulty at the War Department than at the Navy Department. The trouble in almost every case was the failure of the armed services to define carefully what ought to be kept secret and what should not be. In recent weeks the War Department has gone a long way toward clearing up the confusion. The new chief of Press Information for the Army, Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, jr., former commandant of West Point, is a highly intelligent officer who is committed to the thesis that the public should have the maximum of facts and full right to criticize.

The attitude of the Navy Department is affected by the fact that the Navy is in the front line and must be ready to go into action at any time. Both in Washington and at the various naval centers it has erred on the side of suppression of information. The difficulties in Washington might be eased by the full separation of the Press Information Bureau from the Intelligence Division, which necessarily is highly secretive.

But in the War and Navy Departments alike, both civilian officials and high professional officers seem to be sincerely committed to the principle that the public is entitled to the fullest information consistent with national security. All assert that they do not want to have the American public misled, as the French public was, about the state of its armed defenses.

The problem is chiefly in defining carefully what information, in the national interest, should not be published. Neither the armed services nor the press can be the sole judge of this. It is a question which must be threshed out continually as new situations arise.

Calling President 'Dear Frank' Not Insane, Jury Rules

It's possible to write to the President of the United States, addressing him as "Dear Frank," and "Frankie, My Boy," and still be judged of sound mind.

It's also possible to sign yourself, "Your Wild Irish Rose," and not be committed.

Mrs. Rose M. Shriver, a widow, of 3545 Tenth Street Northwest, did these things and was judged of sound mind by a District Court jury yesterday.

Asked by the prosecution whether she knew the President personally and respected him, she replied, "Ask him."

Two Gallinger Hospital physicians declared Mrs. Shriver needed hospital care because of a "persecution complex."

First Lady Radioes Message to British

New York, April 10 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt broadcast an Easter message today to the children of Great Britain in which she said they "may be learning from the discomfort and horror of the moment that human brotherhood knows no class distinction."

"Horrible as the present conditions are," she said, "there are compensations—a breakdown of the old class feeling that has existed so strongly in England; a realization that the qualities that really count in people are character, kindness and unselfishness."

Senator McKellar In Hospital After Fainting Spell

Memphis, Tenn., April 10 (AP).—Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, protesting he was "a well man," went to a hospital today for an examination a few minutes after recovering from a fainting spell.

McKellar, Tennessee's senior Senator and chairman of the Senate Postoffice Committee, collapsed in the lobby of the Gayoso Hotel after suffering what his physician described as an attack of vertigo.

The physician, who asked that his name be withheld, said he wanted to give the 72-year-old Senator "a thorough checkover" at the hospital.

Flag Association Urges May 1 Parades

The United States Flag Association yesterday called upon "patriotic societies and loyal students in our schools" to organize parades on May 1, as "an antidote" to the parades "of Communists and their fellow travelers."

The association said that the traditional May 1 parades are anti-American, and added that the demonstrations "this year will no doubt be aided and abetted by Nazis and Fascists.

Greenland Pact In Full

A New Atlantic Base

The text of the agreement by which the United States pledges the protection of Greenland, follows:

Agreement Relating to the Defense of Greenland

Whereas:

One. After the invasion and occupation of Denmark on April 9, 1940, by foreign military forces, the United Greenland Councils at their meeting at Godhavn on May 3, 1940, adopted in the name of the people of Greenland a resolution reiterating their oath of allegiance to King Christian X of Denmark and expressing the hope that, for as long as Greenland remains cut off from the mother country, the Government of the United States of America will continue to hold in mind the exposed position of the Danish flag in Greenland, of the native Greenland and Danish population, and of established public order; and

Two. The governments of all of the American republics have agreed that the status of regions in the Western Hemisphere belonging to European powers is a subject of deep concern to the American nations, and that the course of military events in Europe and the changes resulting from them may create the grave danger that European territorial possessions in America may be converted into strategic centers of aggression against nations of the American continent; and

Three. Defense of Greenland against attack by a non-American power is essential to the preservation of the peace and security of the American continent and is a subject of vital concern to the United States of America and also to the Kingdom of Denmark; and

Four. Although the sovereignty of Denmark over Greenland is fully recognized, the present circumstances for the time being prevent the government in Denmark from exercising its powers in respect of Greenland. Therefore,

The undersigned, to wit: Cordell Hull, Secretary of State of the United States of America, acting on behalf of the Government of the United States of America, and Henrik de Kauffmann, envoy extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of His Majesty, the King of Denmark, at Washington, acting on behalf of His Majesty, the King of Denmark, in his capacity as sovereign of Greenland, whose authorities in Greenland have concurred herein, have agreed as follows:

Article I

The Government of the United States of America reiterates its recognition of and respect for the sovereignty of the Kingdom of Denmark over Greenland. Recognizing that as a result of the present European war there is danger that Greenland may be converted into a point of aggression against nations of the American continent, the Government of the United States of America, having in mind its obligations under the Act of Habana signed or July 30, 1940, accepts the responsibility of assisting Greenland in the maintenance of its present status.

Article II

It is agreed that the Government of the United States of America shall have the right to construct, maintain and operate such landing fields, seaplane facilities and radio and meteorological installations as may be necessary for the accomplishment of the purposes set forth in Article I.

Article III

The grants of the rights specified in Article II shall also include the right to improve and deepen harbors and anchorages and the approaches thereto, to install aids to navigation by air and by water and to construct roads, communication services, fortifications, repair and storage facilities and housing for personnel and, generally, the right to do any and all things necessary to insure the efficient operation, maintenance and protection of such defense facilities as may be established.

Article IV

The landing fields, seaplane, harbor and other defense facilities that may be constructed and operated by the Government of the United States of America under Articles II and III will be made available to the airplanes and vessels of all the American nations for purposes connected with the common defense of the Western Hemisphere.

Article V

It is agreed that the Government of the United States of America shall have the right to lease for such period of time as this agreement may be in force such areas of land and water as may be necessary for the construction, operation and protection of the defense facilities specified in Articles II and III. In locating the aforesaid defense areas, the fullest consideration consistent with military necessity shall be given to the welfare, health and economic needs of the native population of Greenland.

It is agreed, however, that since the paramount objective sought is the early attainment of an adequate defense establishment in Greenland, the utilization of any area deemed by the Government of the United States of America to be needed for this purpose shall not be delayed pending the reaching of an agreement upon the precise terms of a formal lease.

A description of such areas, by metes and bounds, and a statement of the purpose for which they are needed shall in each case be communicated to the Danish authorities in Greenland as soon as practicable, and the negotiation of a formal lease shall be undertaken within a reasonable period of time thereafter.

Article VI

The Kingdom of Denmark retains sovereignty over the defense areas mentioned in the preceding articles. So long as this agreement shall remain in force, the Government of the United States of America shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any such defense area in Greenland and over military and civilian personnel of the United States, and their families, as well as over all other persons within such areas except Danish citizens and native Greenlanders, it being understood, however, that the Government of the United States may turn over to the Danish authorities in Greenland for trial and punishment any person committing an offense within a defense area, if the Government of the United States shall decide not to exercise jurisdiction in such case.

The Danish authorities in Greenland will take adequate measures to insure the prosecution and punishment in case of conviction of all Danish citizens, native Greenlanders, and other persons who may be turned over to them by the authorities of the United States, for offenses committed within the said defense areas.

Article VII

It is agreed that the Government of the United States of America shall have the right to establish and maintain postal facilities and commissary stores to be used solely by military and civilian personnel of the United States, and their families, maintained in Greenland in connection with the Greenland defense establishment. If requested by the Danish authorities in Greenland, arrangements will be made to enable persons other than those mentioned to purchase necessary supplies at such commissary stores as may be established.

Article VIII

All materials, supplies and equipment for the construction, use and operation of the defense establishment and for the personal needs of military and civilian personnel of the United States, and their families, shall be permitted entry into Greenland free of customs duties, excise taxes, or other charges, and the said personnel, and their families, shall also be exempt from all forms of taxation, assessments or other levies by the Danish authorities in Greenland.

Article IX

The Government of the United States of America will respect all legitimate interests in Greenland as well as all the laws, regulations and customs pertaining to the native population and the internal administration of Greenland. In exercising the rights derived from this agreement the Government of the United States will give sympathetic consideration to all representations made by the Danish authorities in Greenland with respect to the welfare of the inhabitants of Greenland.

Article X

This agreement shall remain in force until it is agreed that the present dangers to the peace and security of the American continent have passed. At that time the modification or termination of the agreement will be the subject of consultation between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of Denmark. After due consultation has taken place, each party shall have the right to give the other party notice of its intention to terminate the agreement, and it is hereby agreed, that at the expiration of 12 months after such notice shall have been received by either party from the other this agreement shall cease to be in force.

Signed in Washington in duplicate, in the English and Danish languages, both texts having equal force, this ninth day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-one.

The Gallup Poll

Concern of British Over Shipping Losses And Food Rising in Public Survey

By Dr. George Gallup

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

Princeton, N. J., April 10.—Evidence of a sharply growing concern amongst the British people over the food situation is revealed in a survey by the British Institute of Public Opinion, affiliate of the American Institute.

With the Nazi submarine warfare taking heavy toll of merchant shipping, the British Institute's staff of 300 interviewers finds that the British public considers the food and shipping problem the most urgent issue for solution this spring. This is in sharp contrast to the situation early in the winter, when a similar survey found that the British people were chiefly concerned over the problem of night bombing.

Anxious About Shipping

The trend has been such that only 8 per cent today give night bombing as the main problem that is worrying them, whereas more than 40 per cent say that shipping losses constitute the biggest single problem facing the empire.

This mounting anxiety over shipping losses, as measured in the survey, may have an important bearing on American policy. It may bring increased pressure from London for American convoys to protect the submarine-infested Atlantic shipping lanes, which are proving to be the graveyard of so many British ships.

The British Institute has conducted two surveys to measure the public's idea of the most important war problem. The first was conducted last November, and the issue was put as follows:

"What do you consider the most important war problem the British government must solve this winter?"

The second survey, just completed and reported in the London News Chronicle, compiled sentiment on the most important war problem for this spring.

The trend of opinion follows:

MOST IMPORTANT BRITISH WAR PROBLEMS In the opinion of the British Public	November, 1940	April, 1941
Night bombing	23%	8%
Shipping losses and food supply	20	44%
Production of arms and aircraft	8	8
Health of the nation	4	7
Preparation for an offensive	4	41
Evacuation problems	2
Other miscellaneous problems	39
Today
Shipping losses and food supply		44%
Night bombing		8
Preparation for an offensive		7
Other miscellaneous reasons, including arms production, health and evacuation problems		41

It will be noted that the British public apparently considers night bombing pretty well under control, despite the heavy air raids of the winter. Other British Institute surveys have shown that 80 per cent of British voters believe it will be impossible for Germany to win the war by air attack alone.

On the other hand, the number of voters who look upon the submarine warfare and shipping losses as the prime problem has more than doubled in five months—a period during which the tonnage losses soared to new highs.

Roosevelt Message On Ships

The text of President Roosevelt's message to Congress yesterday asking authority to take over foreign vessels in American ports follows:

There are now in our ports a large number of foreign merchant vessels which have been here for considerable periods of time and which because of war conditions have not seen fit to depart.

Section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, as amended by the act of August 7, 1939, authorizes the Maritime Commission, whenever the President shall proclaim that the security of the National defense makes it advisable or during any National emergency declared by proclamation, to requisition or purchase any vessel or other watercraft owned by citizens of the United States, or under construction within the United States, or to requisition or charter the use of any such property, and provides that the owner thereof shall be paid just compensation for the property taken or for its use. The same section provides a method by which compensation shall be determined. There does not seem to be any comparable provision with respect to foreign-owned vessels lying idle in our ports.

In view of the growing shortage of available tonnage suited to our national needs, I am satisfied, after consultation with the heads of the interested departments and agencies of the Government, that we should have statutory authority to take over any such vessels as our needs may require, subject, of course, to the payment of just compensation.

It is obvious that our own ultimate defense will be rendered futile if the growing shortage of shipping facilities is not arrested.

It is also obvious that inability to remove accumulating materials from our ports can only result in stoppage of production with attendant unemployment and suspension of production contracts.

It is therefore essential, both to our defense plans and to our domestic economy, that we shall not permit the continuance of the immobilization in our harbors of shipping facilities.

I attach as of possible assistance to the Congress a draft resolution designed to accomplish the purposes above outlined. It will be noted that the draft contemplates the use of funds appropriated by the "Defense Aid Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1941," approved March 27, 1941.

Hull's Letter To Envoy

Defense Measure

Secretary Hull's letter to Danish Minister de Kauffmann and the Minister's reply, pertaining to yesterday's agreement on Greenland, follow:

April 7, 1941.

Sir: I have the honor to refer to the informal conversations which you have had with officers of the Department of State during which the concern of the Government of the United States was expressed over the effect of recent military developments, particularly affecting Greenland, upon the maintenance of the peace and security of the United States and the rest of the American continent.

You are also aware of the interest of the Government of the United States in maintaining unimpaired the safety of Greenland and the sovereignty of Denmark over that island. My Government has continuously had in mind the desire expressed by the United Greenland Councils at their meeting at Godhavn on May 3, 1940, that the Government of the United States of America would continue to hold in mind the exposed position of the Danish flag in Greenland and of the native Greenland and Danish population of the island.

My Government has taken note of the unusual situation in which Greenland now finds itself. The Kingdom of Denmark is at present under occupation by a foreign army. The Government of the United States has condemned that invasion as a violation of Danish sovereign rights, and has repeatedly expressed its friendly concern and its most earnest hope for the complete and speedy liberation of Denmark. Although the Government of the United States fully recognizes the sovereignty of the Kingdom of Denmark over Greenland, it is unhappily clear that the government in Denmark is not in a position to exercise sovereign power over Greenland so long as the present military occupation continues.

Greenland is within the area embraced by the Monroe Doctrine and by the act of Havana, with which you are familiar, and its defense against attack by a non-American power is plainly essential to the preservation of the peace and security of the American continent and of the traditional policies of this Government respecting the Western Hemisphere.

My Government has consequently proposed measures for the adequate defense of Greenland consistent with the obligations of the United States under the act of Havana signed on July 30, 1940. In doing so it is animated by sentiments of the completest friendliness for Denmark, and believes that by taking these steps it is safeguarding the eventual re-establishment of the normal relationship between Greenland and the Kingdom of Denmark.

I have the honor to enclose a draft of the proposed agreement relating to the defense of Greenland, which I believe embodies the ideas agreed upon in the course of our various conversations.

Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

CORDELL HULL.

The Minister's reply follows:

April 9, 1941.

Sir: I have received your note of the 7th instant concerning the defense of Greenland together with a draft of a new proposed agreement regarding the same subject.

It is with appreciation that I note your renewed assurance that, although the present circumstances prevent the government in Denmark for the time being from exercising its powers in respect of Greenland, your government fully recognizes the sovereignty of the Kingdom of Denmark over the island. At the same time I wish to convey to you my feelings of gratitude for the expression of friendly concern of your Government and its earnest hope for the complete and speedy liberation of Denmark.

I share your view that the proposed agreement, arrived at after an open and friendly exchange of views, is, under the singularly unusual circumstances, the best measure to assure both Greenland's present safety and the future of the island under Danish sovereignty.

Furthermore, I am of the opinion that the terms of the agreement protect, as far as possible, the interests of the native population of Greenland whose welfare traditionally has been the paramount aim of Denmark's policy in Greenland.

I, therefore, shall accept and sign the agreement as proposed, acting on behalf of His Majesty, the King of Denmark, in his capacity of sovereign over Greenland, whose authorities in Greenland have concurred herein.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to you, Mr. Secretary of State, the assurances of my highest consideration.

HENRIK DE KAUFFMANN.

Balkan Disaster

By Barnet Nover

Tragedy Of Unpreparedness

NAZI SPOKESMEN in Berlin are jubilantly predicting that Yugoslavia will have been completely knocked out by Easter Sunday and that before another fortnight has rolled by the war in the Balkans will be over. It sounds fantastic and probably is. But in view of the events of the last few days it is obvious that anything can happen, including the worst.

The German army has repeated in the Balkans the tactics it employed last year in Norway, the Low Countries and France and with the same amazing success. True, it was a victory achieved at a price, possibly at a considerable price. Had it not been for the refusal of the valiant Yugoslav people to permit their country to become a Nazi doormat, Hitler would have achieved through pressure tactics alone what he has gained through the more costly method of invasion and conquest. But there can be no minimizing that victory nor the consequences that may develop from it.

NOVER

IN FIVE BRIEF days the German army succeeded in paralyzing Yugoslav resistance in the Vardar Valley, reached Salonika, cut off the eastern wing of the Greek army which had fought with a valor recognized even by the enemy, drove on toward Albania and practically isolated Yugoslavia from her Greek and British allies.

Salonika was an important base of Allied operations in the last war. From that base the Allies launched an offensive in 1918 that proved to be the beginning of the end for the Central Powers. That base is now in German hands. They will use it to harass British communications in the eastern Mediterranean, hold up shipments of men and supplies from Egypt to Greece and in other ways hamper the British war effort in the Balkans. The fact that there were no British troops at Salonika at any time since the German attack began suggests that the British high command believed that strategic port to be untenable probably because it was uncomfortably close to German air bases in Bulgaria. Sooner or later the Germans might have taken it over anyway. What counts, however, is the speed with which that objective was encompassed.

AGAIN as in the past Hitler has made time his ally. He struck before his opponents could organize any kind of joint resistance, and he struck hard and effectively.

Under Prince Paul Yugoslavia had maintained a scrupulous neutrality while leaning economically to the Third Reich. He hoped in that way to spare his country the disaster of war and invasion. He was following the example set by so many other European nations, Norway, Belgium, Holland among them, and with the same disastrous results.

When Yugoslav public opinion rebelled against the sell-out of their country by its timorous rulers, realizing full well what it would mean in the way of provoking Hitler's wrath, the time was all too short to make any far-reaching strategic plans with the Greeks and the British. There was certainly not time enough for the British to send to Yugoslavia the mechanized equipment she needed so desperately. Now, with Salonika gone, with the key points in Yugoslavia's railroad system in German hands, with German columns penetrating into Yugoslavia's vitals, the Yugoslav army's lack of modern equipment will be felt more tragically than ever.

IN THE MEANTIME, the psychological consequences of the latest German victory are likely to be no less important than its military results. Together with the far less important recapture by a German-Italian mechanized force of most of Libya, it will give a new lease on life to the hard-pressed Italians; it will encourage the Quislings throughout Europe to continue along their treacherous course; it may persuade the timorous Turks to remain behind the shelter of their frontier indefinitely, and revive Japanese dreams of grandeur.

Now, as in the case of Norway, the Low Countries and France the initial impact of the German Wehrmacht on the enemy forces may have been so devastating that it will prove impossible for the Yugoslavs, the Greeks and the British to place an effective barrier in Hitler's path. That remains to be seen.

If it can be done the gains made by the German army during the last five days will not ultimately have the decisive character they now appear to have. If the war in the Balkans is prolonged even ultimate victory will prove of little value to Hitler. For it would mean a victory achieved at tremendous cost and in a theater of war which, after all, is not the decisive theater. The fact that, on the day of the fall of Salonika, Berlin was subjected to the fiercest bombing it has received since the beginning of the war shows that in the west Britain's offensive power is growing, despite daily air raids on British cities and a submarine and bombing plane attack on British shipping whose seriousness cannot for a moment be minimized.

The time element in the Balkan war as in every other theater of the conflict is of the utmost importance. Hitler has won the first round. His opponents have been knocked down. They have not yet been knocked out. The fight goes on. If Yugoslavia and Greece can, with British aid, recover from the bitter blow they have received, the picture may ultimately undergo a marked change. And with each passing week the American capacity to serve as the arsenal of the democracies steadily grows. It is far too early to take a despairing view of the situation.

Blossom Queens Meet

Two queens—Miss Nancy Alden Strong, of the Washington Cherry Blossom Festival, and Miss Mollie Foulkes Lee, of the Winchester Apple Blossom Festival, took a stroll yesterday under the still unblossoming Tidal Basin cherry trees, where thousands of National Capital visitors will swarm this weekend.

Miss Strong got a good, long look at the scene over which she will rule tomorrow, when, in colorful coronation ceremonies starting at 2:30 p. m., she accepts the festival crown.

Thomas P. Morgan, jr., of the festival executive committee, who escorted Miss Strong and Miss Lee to the Tidal Basin, said a crowd of 10,000 would witness the coronation and water pageant Saturday. He regarded the crowd estimate as conservative.

Miss Lee is 18, a student at the Packer Collegiate Institute in New York, where she lives, and is a direct descendant of the famous Virginian, Richard Henry Lee. She will preside over the eighteenth Winchester Apple Blossom Festival, which opens May 1 and continues through May 2. Miss Lee's parents are Comdr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lee. Commander Lee is executive vice president of the Moore-McCormack Steamship Lines. Accompanying the two queens-elect to the Tidal Basin was Miss Marie Nash, of the play, "Blossom Time," currently playing at the National Theater here.

The cherry blossoms are still hiding in the buds, but with continuing favorable weather, they are expected to appear by the weekend.

Scene of the coronation is by the Basin at the foot of Seventeenth Street Northwest. Miss Strong and her escort of 15 princesses will proceed to the throne, which faces the audience, on a barge. Civic officials and leaders will greet the party, while the United States Marine Band plays the coronation music. Following the event, the queen and court will go to the Polo Field where the Twelfth Infantry will hold a retreat parade, scheduled for 4 p. m. The event of the evening is the Cherry Blossom Ball, to begin at 9 p. m. at Uline's Arena, Third and M Streets Northeast.

Beatrice Wyman, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie S. Wyman, of 1603 Varnum Street Northwest, was named yesterday to represent American University in the court of Miss Strong at the Cherry Blossom Festival. Miss Wyman was Homecoming Queen at A. U. and is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority.

Md. Man Gets 5-Year Term In Shooting

Lawrence Wallace, 36, colored, of Scotland, Md., was sentenced at Rockville yesterday to serve five years on charges growing out of the shooting of Louis Scarla, of Silver Spring, who was wounded while shielding his brother February 9.

Wallace was sentenced by Judge Charles Woodward to four years in the Maryland Penitentiary on a charge of assault with intent to murder and one year in the Maryland House of Correction on a concealed weapon charge.

The shooting occurred on Georgia Avenue extended near Wheaton when Edward Scarla and a colored companion of Wallace became involved in a scuffle over a near traffic accident police said.

Wallace, according to police, aimed a .32-caliber pistol at Edward Scarla's back and Louis jumped into the line of fire, suffering a bullet wound in the left thigh.

The Scarla brothers own a restaurant at 3617 Colesville Road, Silver Spring, and also operate a fruit and vegetable stand at the Arcade Market, Washington.

Junior Commerce Board Honors Departing Leader

The Junior Board of Commerce held a farewell meeting at the Annapolis Hotel yesterday for A. Z. Foster Wood, who resigned as president recently to move to Wilmington, N. C., and Harold D. Fangboner, vice president, was installed as his successor.

FANGBONER

Officers and directors presented a silver bowl to Wood in appreciation of his services and several testimonial speeches were made.

Fangboner will serve out Wood's unexpired term, which ends July 1. New officers will be elected in the meantime. Fangboner, manager of the Georgia, Randolph and Taylor exchanges of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., is a charter member of the board.

Awards for their work in the 1941 Community Chest drive were presented by Bernard J. Nees to James A. Willey, Dave Wallace, Lloyd L. Coates, Samuel Samuel, Harold Bromberg and Richard K. Lyon.

Bandit Shot in Gun Fight With Police

Povich, alias Ted Patrick, 23, of 1303 N Street Northwest, remained in critical condition at Emergency Hospital, though he was reported to have regained consciousness and to have improved slightly.

Povich was taken to the hospital by friends about 7 a. m. suffering from a bullet wound in his chest. The slug, physicians said, passed completely through his body, puncturing the right lung.

He was identified by Policeman John L. Sullivan, 31, of the Fourth Precinct, as the gunman who engaged him in a pistol duel following robbery of a gasoline station at Seventh and Maine Avenue Southwest, at 4:50 a. m.

The wounded suspect also was identified by Howard Edwards, 21, of 1236 K Street Southeast, night manager of the Federal Service Station, from which the holdup man took $15.

Sullivan, a rookie with only six months' police service behind him, was "planted" in the washroom of the filling station. Similar details have been maintained for a week in almost every one of the 126 gas stations which remain open all night.

Capt. Ira E. Keck, assistant chief of detectives, ordered the "plants" in an effort to apprehend the bandit who has robbed 30 gas stations of more than $500 in two months.

Sullivan said he placed an "out-of-order" sign on the door to the men's washroom and took his post between 2 and 3 a. m. A man entered about 4:30 a. m. and was directed to the other rest room by Edwards, who at that time went outside to service a car.

When the attendant returned, Sullivan said, the man stepped from the washroom and announced:

"All right, this is a holdup."

Edwards surrendered his change carrier and the bandit turned to leave when Sullivan walked from his hiding place, gun in hand.

"O. K. stick 'em up; you're under arrest," Sullivan quoted himself. The bandit raised his gun, the policeman declared, "and then the shooting started."

"I don't know who shot first," Sullivan asserted. "He shot and so did I. Then he grabbed his shoulder and ran."

The policeman followed him out of the place and pursued him east along K Street until the bandit jumped into a waiting car. Sullivan said he emptied his gun at the man and the fleeting automobile.

Povich was taken to Emergency Hospital in a private ambulance at the direction of Dr. S. L. Tabb, of 3801 Kansas Avenue Northwest, who was called to the N Street address, to treat "an injured man." Dr. Tabb called police when he determined his patient was shot.

An automobile answering the description of the getaway car was found parked near Povich's home. In his rooms police found a United States Army sergeant's uniform and honorable Army discharge papears bearing Povich's name.

blocked off traffic from Constitution Avenue.

At 5 p. m. the mounted troops were drawn up in lines facing the Capitol. The band played, and soldiers and police held their salutes while the casket was carried down the steps.

Members of Senator Sheppard's family watched the ceremony from a window near the Senate gallery. With them was Senator Connally, Sheppard's Texas colleague, who had made most of the arrangements for his friend's rites.

"He was a good man," Senator Connally said. "He was an able man. He was a faithful man. He was an honest man.

"I feel a deep personal loss. Our relations, as colleagues in the Senate, were of the most intimate and cordial character. During our service, there was never uttered by either toward the other an unkind or an ungenerous word. That to me is a precious memory."

Earlier, the Senate adopted resolutions of profound sorrow over the death of Senator Sheppard and then adjourned as a mark of further respect. Connally, acting majority leader, made the formal death announcement and offered a resolution for the appointment of 21 Senators to attend the funeral in Texarkana at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

The Rev. Dr. Ze Barney T. Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, paid tribute to the dean of Congress and the father of prohibition in his opening prayer.

Members of the Senate funeral committee are Senators Connally, of Texas; McNary, of Oregon; McKellar, of Tennessee; Harrison, of Mississippi; Thomas, of Oklahoma; Bankhead, of Alabama; White, of Maine; Austin, of Vermont; Caraway, of Arkansas; Reynolds, of North Carolina; Clark, of Missouri; Thomas, of Utah; Hatch, of New Mexico; Bilbo, of Mississippi; Guffey, of Pennsylvania; Radcliffe, of Maryland; Andrews, of Florida; Ellender, of Louisiana; Chandler, of Kentucky; Aiken, of Vermont, and Spencer, of Arkansas.

THE ART OF Carving Ham

Place ham on platter with fat side up and with the bone end to the left and butt end to the right. Insert fork firmly in the flesh at the bone end to secure the ham on the platter. Make the first cut vertically through the meat to the bone about 2 or 3 inches in from the right or butt end of the meat.

Continue slicing toward the center of the ham until there are 6 to 8 slices. Then run carving knife from left to right horizontally across the bone, cutting the slices completely away from the bone.

Lift slices all at once on flat side of knife, securing with fork, to the side of the platter. Continue carving in this manner until sufficient meat has been cut. Then serve.

When one side of the ham is carved, turn the meat over and carve the other side in the same way.

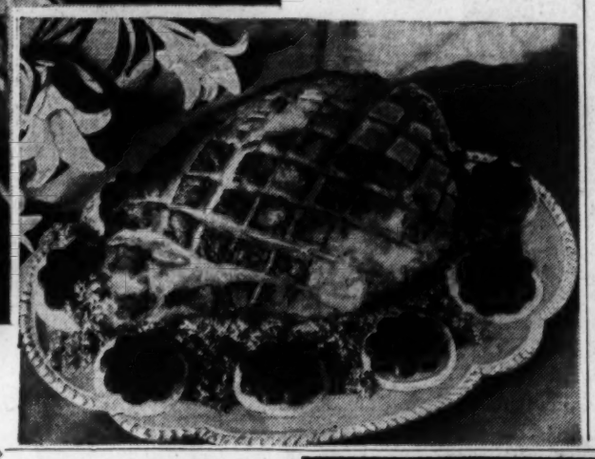
Well Garnished Ham Adds Festive Spirit to Easter

Next to Christmas, the Easter dinner in many homes is the most important of the year. In the shiny kitchen of her new home at 1625 Kalmia Road Northwest, left, Mrs. Donald A. Hay is shown cutting the tag attached to ham on which is printed schedule of cooking time. Her daughter, Marilyn, fortified with spoon, is ready to give assistance. The finished ham, shown below, is as superlative in its garnishing as it is in flavor. Garnished with parsley and ruby-red slices of canned cranberry sauce made with flower-shaped cookie cutter, the flowers are set on slices of pineapple. The cranberry-pineapple accompaniment can be served with each helping of the hame.



Traditional Dish, Easily Baked, Also Lends Itself to Decoration

By Martha Ellyn
The Post Food Editor

SONNETS have been written about the Easter bonnet and it is time that someone wrote one to the Easter ham.

There is an interesting story told—perhaps it is pure fiction—about the reason ham is served at Eastertime. This story goes that many years ago a peasant in a village by the sea killed his two hogs in the fall because there was not grain for both his hogs and his family. To save the hams he buried them in the sand under the salty sea water all winter. In the spring the peasant reclaimed the meat and hung it by the fire to dry. The smoke of the open fire caused the pork to take on new color and flavor. So pleasing was the flavor of the ham that word spread far and many people began preparing their pork in this way for the Easter table.

Martha Ellyn

Modern science has changed the long process of the peasant for curing ham. Today there is no element of chance about the quality of the ham, for there is assurance that it will have a mild uniform sugar and salt cure with a fragrant smoky flavor and great tenderness.

That successful ham baking by the novice is no fairy tale is evidenced in the experience of a young Washington wife and mother—Mrs. Donald Hay, 1625 Kalmia Road Northwest. Mrs. Hay, until a few years ago, was going to business six days a week. She didn't have either the time or the place to cook. So when she married she had to learn cooking from the "ground up."

Before Christmas this year Mrs. Hay called the Food Editor and asked for a recipe for making fruit cake. At Christmas she invited me to come and try the cake she had baked because it was "divine." I didn't have the opportunity to go but several days ago I did have dinner with the Hay family and was amazed at the expert way Mrs. Hay cooked and served a delicious meal.

I inquired of my hostess what she was going to serve for Easter dinner. She said, "I think a baked whole ham deserves to be the center of the Easter dinner because it is so easily prepared, because it can be so nicely decorated and because it is so well liked. Fortunately for me, making a ham to perfection is very easily done. The directions for baking them are given with the ham." She had saved the little folder and here are the directions for baking the ham in a way Mrs. Hay says is perfect. Here is also her dinner menu.

The directions Mrs. Hay gave for cooking ham will serve many cooks a good turn, for they not only include directions for baking ham but also the weight and cooking time. The directions follow:

If the ham is at ordinary room temperature, 70 degrees F. the cooking time for baking in a slow oven is 325 degrees, or for simmering in water, 208 degrees, (do not boil) should be in accordance with the following schedule:

WEIGHT	COOKING TIME
16 to 18 pounds	4 to 4½ hours
12 to 15 pounds	3½ to 4 hours
10 to 12 pounds	3 to 3½ hours
8 to 10 pounds	2½ to 3 hours
5 to 7 pounds	2 to 2½ hours

If the ham is taken from refrigerator and is cold, increase the cooking time about five minutes per pound. If a meat thermometer is used, simmer or bake to 150 degrees Farenheit, internal temperature.

To bake the ham, wrap it loosely in the inner wrapper or in clean wrapping paper. Place fat side up on a rack in an open pan. Use no water. Bake in a slow oven 325 degrees, according to cooking schedule. Remove paper, skin, and cover with a glaze made of 1 cup brown sugar and 2 tablespoons flour. Then brown in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for about 15 minutes (to 162 F.) internal temperature.

Horseradish cream is a zestful accompaniment for baked ham. The recipe for making it follows:

Horseradish Cream—Beat ½ cup whipping cream until it begins to thicken. Add 3 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice gradually, continuing to beat. When mixture begins to stiffen, add ¼ teaspoon salt and a dash of white pepper and fold in 2 tablespoons grated horseradish. This cream may be placed in the refrigerator tray to freeze if desired.

New potatoes are best when cooked in their jackets. And new potatoes in curry sauce are something different for the Easter dinner menu. Prepare them in this way:

Festive Menu For Easter Breakfast

EASTER breakfast is an occasion in most households in Washington. Many visitors make a pilgrimage to the Capital at this time of year, and this Easter with the cherry blossoms scheduled to burst forth for this occasion, there will be more guests than usual.

Breakfast on Easter Sunday can be a memorable meal. It is a grand opportunity to go festive. The Easter Tiding breakfast that Mrs. Alexander George, food expert for the Associated Press, suggests for a family is distinctive enough for the most important guest.

Easter Breakfast

Easter Baskets
Eggs in Nest
Browned Ham Slices
Southern Coffee Cake
Waffles Maple Cream
Coffee Cocoa

Easter Baskets—Fashion the baskets from oranges. Reserve the pulp and blend it with 1 cup seeded white cherries and 1 cup cubed pineapple. Chill, carefully pile fruits into the baskets and garnish with red cherries. Serve on paper doilies, yellow suggested.

Eggs in Nests—Half fill buttered custard cups or baking dishes with 6 beaten egg whites to which has been added ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika and ¼ teaspoon celery salt. Add 6 egg yolks, carefully, top with 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons cream. Bake for 10 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees.

Browned Ham Slices—Cut ¼ inch thick slice of ham (1½ pounds) into serving pieces. Heat a frying pan and add and quickly brown ham on both sides. Add ⅛ teaspoon white pepper and 2 tablespoons boiling water. Cover and lower heat. Cook for 10 minutes, or until tender when tested with fork. Arrange with edges overlapping on heated serving platter and garnish with parsley.

Southern Coffee Cake—Cream ¼ cup shortening and ½ cup brown sugar together. Beat 1 egg and 1 egg yolk, reserving 1 white for topping and add to the creamed mixture. Sift soft wheat flour to 2 cups with 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Add to creamed mixture alternately with ¾ cup milk. Mix into smooth batter and add 1 teaspoon vanilla extract. Pour into well-greased, paper-lined pan, 8x8x2 inches. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 25 minutes. Spread with sugar nut topping on coffee cake and continue baking for 5 minutes.

Massage Throat to Keep It Young

By Ida Jean Kain

IT is not until a woman is past the sunny side of 30 that she is troubled enough with misgivings about her throatline to be willing to work to hang on to it.

But once you have decided it's time to take such beauty measures seriously, you can do a surprising lot. You need a little exercise, plenty of cold cream, some massage, and the habit of holding your head beautifully erect. Let's take them up in the order in which you are most likely to do them.

You can't "nourish" the throat tissues with any cold cream—the only way you can do that is through the circulation. But you can keep the skin well lubricated to ward off a creepy appearance. You should use cream on your throat just as often as you use it on your face.

Before massaging the throat, cleanse carefully, then apply a generous amount of cream or oil. The technique is to work from the base of the throat up to the chinline, then out. "Knuckle massage seems to be best, for it avoids stretching the skin. Make the hands into fists and place at the throat column, then slowly "walk" the knuckles up to the chin, work deeply there on the fat padding, separate fists and continue along jawline.

Exercise for the throat and chinline is the most important measure—after all, your throat column is seven-eighths muscle. But there are good exercises which are so simple and so easy that they should not be considered a part of our daily dozen.

Here are a couple you can do in the morning before getting up or at night after you have gone to bed. Lie on the back across to be with the head hanging limply over the edge. Now, tense the throat muscles and slowly raise the head until the spine is in a straight line. Slowly return the position and relax the muscles. Repeat five times.

Roll over and lie face downward, full length on the bed—without pillow. Clasp hands in back, arms straight, and lift head and shoulders off the bed with a good stretch and pull of shoulder and neck muscles. Hold for a second and slowly return to position. Relax and repeat. This exercise not only improves the line of the throat but affects fat pad at the nape of the neck we call the "dowager's hump."

Mary Haworth's Mail

For Almost a Year, Girl Bashfully Ignored Man's Courting Intent, Which He Implied in Daily Office Visits; Then He Stopped Calling; What to Think?

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My problem concerns a young man in whom I have been interested for a long time. He is about 27 years old and works in the same office building with me. Over a year ago, he started coming into my office every day to talk with me. Both of us had attended college, and when this came to light, he said: "How about getting together one evening and talking about our colleges?" I replied, "Call me some time." He asked when he should call, but I made no direct answer to that.

The following day, he stopped in again and asked when I was going to let him come to see me. Not wanting to appear too anxious, I passed over the question and spoke of other things. He continued to drop into my office every day, but he made no further reference to calling, except to say, one day, that he would like to have dinner with me Thanksgiving Day (this was early last November), if he were not going to be out of town.

Shortly after that, I was transferred to another office for two months, and during that period I never saw him. But the very day I came back to the old office, he passed the door, saw me, and almost ran to greet me. He asked me right off if I had a sweetheart; and, also, if I didn't get lonesome some times.. I asked him, rather snappily, if he ever got lonesome; and if so, why he didn't do something about it.. He replied, with the hint of a smile, that he was trying to. I thought he might be poking fun at me, so I changed the subject by paying him a compliment on his appearance, which he seemed to appreciate.

He continued to drop in daily for the following six weeks. One day I decided he was just stringing me along, and I spoke rather abruptly. I said, "What do you know today?" He relied, "Nothing you would be interested in." (I was continually reading good books by well known authors and trying to discuss them with him). He stayed away for the following week and one day, when I ran into him in the corridor, I told him I had missed him.

He came into my office later that day, and I said: "Do you remember the time you wanted us to get together and talk about our college days?" He pondered the question and replied: "If we are going to be friends, we ought to find some form of recreation in common." I said, "Yes, I suppose so." Then he asked me what I liked to do, and I parried by asking him what he liked to do, which seemed to annoy him. He stood there grinning at me, and finally said he would think of something.

He left and has never returned. Some days later, I met him again in the corridor and paused. He started to walk by, then hesitated and entered into conversation. We had a nice talk. The following day I saw him at a distance, outside the building, and he hastened toward me, but I rushed off, in a sudden fit of self consciousness.

Now we never talk any more, and he never drops into my office. Do you think I lost a worthwhile friend by my self consciousness? People who know him say he is a worthwhile person, although rather odd. He is devoted to his mother and some people call him a "mama's boy." I have heard that he has no special girl friend; that he goes first with one girl and then with another. Please give me your appraisal of the situation. PUZZLED.

Girl's Coy Attitude Killed Man's Admiration

DEAR PUZZLED: It appears that you fumbled and lost an opportunity to make a friend, or catch a beau—beginning back at the time when you failed to respond cordially to the young man's suggestion that you get together one evening to talk about colleges. When he said, "How about it," etc., you should (if you were interested) have replied, in effect, "Why, yes; I'd love to. Why don't we do it?" And then passed on to an animated discussion of college-day incidents, supposing he didn't immediately follow through with a suggested time and place of meeting.

To his question, "When are you going to let me come to see you?" you might have replied, "Well, now, let me brood a bit. Do I understand you are asking me for a date, or just thinking of doing so? I believe I ought to wait until I've been properly asked, and then I'll consider the matter. But I'm pretty sure it could be arranged!" And then you could have smiled at, or laughed with, him—giving the impression that you were definitely interested, yes; but taking his attentions with a grain of salt.

One judges that the young man was very much interested at first; but almost as nervous as you were, and completely mystified by your show of stony indifference, whenever he mustered the courage to hint at "a date." But it was virtually inevitable that his interest would gradually, wane, as months passed and he found himself (as he might say) "not getting to first base," in his address to you. By now, I suppose, he regards you primarily as "a rather peculiar girl, who could be likeable if she would unbend a bit and give herself, and the guy, a break." You killed off the possibility of friendship, I think, by sending him away, after each conversation, with a dismal feeling of having had his ears knocked down.

Hereafter, in working toward friendship with a man (or with anyone, for that matter), remember that it is all-important to identify yourself with his sense of self-esteem by making him feel so pleased with himself when he is in your company that after he leaves he will be "walking on air," thinking what a wonderful fellow he is, and how smart you are, to to see and appreciate his true worth. M. H.

Miss Haworth will be glad to help you in solving your problems. Write her in care of The Post Woman's Page.

The Gentler Sex

By Malvina Lindsay

Tip to a Saleswoman

If you would only once remark
Of a hat that on my head you park,
"Now this on you is simply awful!
To wear it abroad should be unlawful!"
Why then I'd give you so much trust
That with any nightmare you might adjust,
By merely saying, "At last your chapeau!"
You'd see me at once fork out the dough.

Today's Social Notes

(From The Truthtown Torch)

Local socialite are aroused over the denouement to a benefit gala affair held at the Plush Sofa Club Wednesday. Winner of the $1,000 crown jewel gadget offered by the Grandduchess Amnesia was a Mrs. Z. M. Guppey.

Interest in the award had caused a large outpouring of upper crusters, and there was general consternation when the winner was announced. "WHO is Mrs. Guppey?" was the question asked on every side as the winner, a quietly dressed genteel looking woman came forward to receive the award. Investigation revealed that Mrs. Guppey's name was not in the Social Register and also that she lived in an unfashionably situated suburban section.

"It serves us all right for making these affairs so promiscuous," said Mrs. Abraham Lincoln De Peyster, chairman of the event. "I shall see that the tickets to our next benefit are only offered to a carefully selected list."

Social Feud

The social rivalry of Mrs. Parvenu Popinjay and Mrs. Roswell Clymer reached its apex last night when the two society rivals sought to outdo each other in headdresses at the benefit dance recital given by Jehitsky Leepo at Mausoleum Hall. Mrs. Popinjay entered her box wearing a towering cascade of peacock feathers. Shortly afterward Mrs. Clymer arrived wearing what resembled a Maharajah's jeweled turban.

During the intermission, both socialites disappeared. Mrs. Popinjay to return wearing a huge stuffed spread eagle in her tresses. Her glory was outdone in a moment, however, when Mrs. Clymer resumed her seat in her box wearing a red, white and blue skull cap surmounted by a golden figure of the Goddess of Liberty.

Call of Spring

"What are you ordering?"
"Oh, I don't know. . . . I just can't think of a thing I want."
"I've gotten so I simply loathe food."
"So have I. I don't have a bit of pep any more."
"That's the way with me. . . . I'm so tired. . . . And I just can't get up of mornings."
"I just can't seem to get interested in anything. I feel so lackidaisical."
"So do I. I need a tonic of some kind."
"What I need is to get away somewhere."
"That's the way with me. I need a change of scene . . . a little trip or something."
"And another thing I need is some new clothes."
"Oh, so do I! I simply hate everything I possess."
"I really ought to start out looking for an evening dress——Oh, say, did you get an invitation to Jane Twitter's party?"
"Yes, but I don't think I'll go. It's always the same old crowd."
"She told me a Mr. DeForest was coming she wanted me to meet, but I suppose it's just another lame duck——"
"DeForest! You don't mean Livingston DeForest!"
"I believe that was the name."
"Well, he's that good-looking mining engineer—you know—that's her husband's cousin, and that's just come back from South America."
"No! How wonderful!" . . . And then she mentioned a Mr. Frother."
"Not J. Carvel Frother, that big New York promoter!"
"Well he's from New York——"
"It must be the same one! Say, I believe I'll look at evening dresses too while I'm downtown."
"All right. Let's hurry up. . . . By the way, we haven't ordered."
"Oh, I believe I'll take the regular luncheon . . . with the roast beef and browned potatoes and carrots."
"I'm going to take half a spring chicken with the mashed potatoes and string beans."

Gen. and Senora Camacho Arrive For Reception at Mexican Embassy

By Hope Ridings Miller

ARRIVING IN WASHINGTON late this evening Division Gen. Maximino Avila Camacho, brother of the President of Mexico, and Senora de Camacho will be feted at a round of parties, most important of which will be a reception at the Mexican Embassy tomorrow night.

I understand that 800 invitations have been issued by the Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Castillo Najera and that plans are under way for making it one of the outstanding diplomatic parties of the season.

The complete schedule of fetes for Gen. Camacho is not yet being announced, however. It is awaiting his approval. On the last lap of a "goodwill tour," Gen. Camacho has been in Cuba and the Bahamas; and, after spending three days here, will go on to New York. The four daughters and one son who accompanied their parents on the trip, are in New York and will not be in Washington.

Coming here with Gen. and Senora de Camacho will be Dr. Jose Larumbe, who is head of the federal district health department in Mexico, and Francisco Ortiz Monasterrio, member of the foreign office in charge of relations between the United States and Mexico.

FACES AT THE RACES: Sporting society and official Washington was well represented out at the Bowie track yesterday afternoon when the ninth day of the annual spring meeting went on the boards. Assistant Secretary of State Breckinridge Long had guests in his box; as did W. W. Howes, who was accompanied by the Treasurer of the United States, William A. Julian. Hampton P. Magruder, president of the racing association, and Mrs. Magruder had a large party with them, and in a box nearby Alfons Landa entertained a few friends.

Mrs. Oscar Chapman, wearing a smart tailored blue suit with a natty turban, studied several dope sheets before she made her choices. Mrs. Thurman Arnold and Mrs. Harry W. Blair, both declaring they knew "absolutely nothing about races," consulted each other before picking their winners . . . Mrs. Donald Richberg and Mrs. Edgar Goodrich wooed Lady Luck quietly, while young Snowden Stanley gave his sister, Miss Mary Jane Stanley, several excellent tips. Miss Stanley, who was smartly turned out in a light blue suit with a matching hat, had with her Miss Betty Mills, of Baltimore. Mrs. Raymond Clapper and Mrs. Bulkley Griffin were others in a gay party who came on from a luncheon to spend an afternoon at the races.

CROWN PRINCESS MARTHA of Norway is the latest notable who has given Bjorn Egeli, Norwegian-born artist, permission to paint her portrait. And mention of that reminds me—Mr. Egeli has donated a blank canvas to the auction to be held at headquarters of the Society of the Cincinnati on April 16 at 10 p. m. A number of notables are expected to be on hand to bid for the canvas, as well as for other choice items. Proceeds are to go to the R. A. F. benefit fund, and I understand that among celebrities slated to be present is Elsa Maxwell, who is coming to Washington at the invitation of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth especially to attend the event.

CAPITAL CALENDAR: Mrs. James Boyer has asked friends to drop by her home, 2922 N Street, for an informal party any time from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. today. Seems it's an old English custom to invite in a company for hot cross buns and tea on Good Friday . . . Judge and Mrs. Harry W. Blair have invited a small company to their Alexandria home for tea on Sunday afternoon . . . All roads will be leading to the fox-hunting country tomorrow for the twenty-first annual Middleburg Hunt Race meeting over the beautiful Glenwood Park course. A number of Washingtonians are going down to enjoy the event and the round of parties afterward.

Miss Achsah Dorsey Gives Luncheon For Miss Buchanan

Miss Achsah Dorsey entertained at a luncheon yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Rosalyn Buchanan, who will be married tomorrow to Stephan Van Cortland Schuyler. The party was given at the Army and Navy Town Club.

Guests included Miss Helen Diggs, Miss Barbara Sweet, Miss Coby Ranneft, Miss Nancy Strong, Miss Kitty Claude, Miss Frances Bowie, Miss Martha Shelton, Miss Edith Hood, Miss Nancy Willard, Miss Janet Hartz, Mrs. Roscoe Dillon and Mrs. Wesley Evans Buchanan.

Dinner Given For Miss Lane

Miss Margaret Bliss Lane, who was guest of honor at a dinner given last evening by her cousins, Maj. and Mrs. Richard M. Cutts, jr., at their home, 130 Prince Street in Alexandria, Va. Miss Lane, daughter of the United States Minister to Yugoslavia and Mrs. Arthur Bliss Lane, who are now in Belgrade, is visiting her cousins here. Miss Lane, who has just arrived in Washington, will move on Monday to the Caraval, where she has taken an apartment. A photographer by profession, she has been roving around the United States ever since her arrival from Belgrade last November. It was Miss Lane who made all of the photographs for the Yugoslav Pavilion at the World's Fair, and she is working on several assignments now

Smetonas to Return

The President of Lithuania and Mme. Smetona will return to Washington for Easter from Maryland, where they have been visiting friends. They will stay at the Lithuanian Legation.

Miss Harrison To Wed April 19

Miss Virginia Gwynne Harrison, of Longwood, Boyce, Va., has completed plans for her marriage to Sherman Brownell Joost, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Brownell Joost, of New York and Quogue, L. I. The ceremony will take place Saturday, April 19, in Christ Protestant Church, Millwood, Va.

Miss Harrison is the daughter of Mrs. Walter Roesler, of Great Neck, L. I., and the late Dr. Gwynne Page Harrison, of Boyce. She has chosen her sister, Mrs. Henry Post Mitchell, of Boyce, as her matron of honor. Her other attendants will be Mrs. Ludlow Van Deventer, of Plainfield, N. J., sister of the bridegroom-elect; Mrs. Alexander A. Baldwin, of White Post, Va.; Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh, of Perrysburg, Ohio; Mrs. John A. Payne, of Woodbury, L. I.; Miss Rosalind Huidekoper, of Millwood, Va., and Miss Agnes Mitchell, of Boyce.

Sherman Brownell Joost will be best man for his son. The ushers will include Wisner Miller and Ralph Poole, of New York; Charles H. Gardner, of St. Louis; Ludlow Van Deventer, John A. Payne and Henry Post Mitchell.

A reception will be given at historic Annefield, the home of William Bell Watkins, M. F. H. of the Blue Ridge Hunt, and Mrs. Watkins.

The prospective bride, who is widely known as a horsewoman, attended the Blue Ridge Country School and the Hannah Moore Academy at Reisterstown, Md. Mr. Joost was graduated from the Hotchkiss School and, in 1934, from Princeton University, where he was a member of the Cap and Gown Club. He is a reserve officer in the Field Artillery.

Frances Brainerd, Saunders Parish Will Wed April 15

It'll be strictly a family affair when Miss Frances Brainerd becomes the bride of Saunders Parish on Tuesday, April 15. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Brainerd, of 2234 California Street, and the bride's four attendants will be her sisters, the Misses Jane, Bettie, Ethel and Edith Brainerd.

The only "outsider" in the wedding will be Sidney Alvarez, who will be best man.

The quiet ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. About 100 additional guests have been asked to the reception.

Among the prenuptial parties honoring Miss Brainerd will be the tea that Mrs. Clifford McLeod will give tomorrow afternoon at 2022 Connecticut Avenue. Mrs. McLeod is a sister of the prospective bridegroom.

Eatons Will Give Tea April 19

Capt. and Mrs. Philip B. Eaton will entertain at a large tea Saturday afternoon, April 19, from 5 to 7 o'clock, at their residence, Comynholm, in Rock Creek Park.

Mrs. Eaton, who is chairman of The Friends of Hawaii group, will entertain her committee for the United China relief benefit to be held at Constitution Hall on Sunday evening, April 27.

Among those assisting will be Mrs. Nelson Johnson, Mrs. William Borah, Mrs. Nathan Twining, Mrs. G. N. Gokey, Mrs. Edwin Halsey, Mrs. Parker West, Mrs. Fred Irish, Mrs. Ernest Green, Mrs. Irene B. Caldwell, Mrs. John Allan Dougherty and Mrs. Bruce Smith.

Fresh flower leis are to be worn by those assisting and a special gift of a fresh carnation lei is being presented to Mrs. Eaton.

Visitors Feted By Mrs. Drury

Mrs. Moran Drury, who has just returned from a vacation in Florida and Cuba, entertained at cocktails yesterday afternoon in the Mayflower lounge in honor of Mrs George Adams Howard and Mrs. Edward Peters, who are visiting here from Miami.

Mrs. Drury wore a black wool frock with a wide taffeta skirt. Her Kelly green hat swathed with veiling had three white water lilies in the center.

Senora de Pastoriza, wife of the Minister of the Dominican republic, was among the guests. Others there included Mrs. George Allen, whose dark blue ensemble was topped with a green straw hat; the Attache of the Egyptian Legation, Anwar Niazi; Mrs. James Cunningham, Hugo Rennert, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grosner, Mrs. Leo Brison Norris, whose hat was swathed in pink veiling; Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Buchanan, Mrs. Irene Caldwell, Maj. and Mrs. McKenzie Davidson, Mrs. Kathryn Fuqua, William Chapman, Mrs. Barge Hartz, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Moran and many more.

Chilean Envoy Receives Painting By Paul Meltsner

The Ambassador of Chile, Rodolfo Michels, received yesterday, at the embassy, a recently completed portrait of the actress, Lynn Fontanne. The work of the distinguished American painter, Paul Meltsner, it will be hung in the Palace of Fine Arts of the National Museum in Santiago, Chile. This is the first work of a modern American artist to be received by the Chilean institution, and the gift was made by Mr. Meltsner as a good-will gesture in furtherance of cultural relations between the two countries.

Mr. Meltsner's work is represented in the National Museum of Argentina, the Luxemburg Museum, Paris; the Boston Museum, Whitney Museum, Museum of Modern Art, Art Institute of Chicago and the Brooklyn Museum. His recent work includes a series of paintings of prominent people of the stage, among them Gertrude Lawrence, Martha Graham, John Barrymore, Marion Anderson, Carmen Miranda and Gipsy Rose Lee

Mrs. Leo Laughlin To Attend Bride

Mrs. Leo Laughlin, of Washington, will be a bridesmaid at the wedding April 19, in South Orange, N. J., of Miss Mary Margaret Scott to Donald Francis McMahon. Miss Scott is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Walter Scott, of South Orange, and Mr. McMahon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. McMahon, of Newark.

The ceremony will take place at the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows. Miss Ann Joan Scott will be her sister's maid of honor and another sister, Mrs. John Hamilton Bowers, will be matron of honor. Other bridal attendants will be the misses Cynthia Wrightson, of Orange; Clarissa O'Connor, of Brooklyn; Virginia Kearns of Staten Island; Nancy Costello, of Newark, and Miss Marie McMahon. J. Kenneth McMahon, of Drexel Hill, Pa., will be his brother's best man.

Miss Eleanor Isbell Is Married To Vincent J. De Angelis

Baskets of spring flowers and Easter lilies adorned St. Paul's Methodist Church for the wedding last evening of Miss Eleanor Virginia Isbell and Vincent James De Angelis. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hart Isbell and Mr. De Angelis is the son of Mrs. Archibald De Angelis, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The Rev. Charles F. Phillips officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an off-white satin gown with a fitted bodice and long sleeves ending in points over the waist. The yoke and peplum of the gown were embroidered with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was held with a halo trimmed with orange blossoms. A shower of freesia and lilies of the valley fell from her white prayer book.

Miss Frances Wolf served as maid of honor. She wore a frock of heaven blue faille with an embroidered net yoke and full skirt. Her headdress was of pink flowers and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink roses, sweetpeas and delphinium. The remaining attendants were Mrs. Thomas Farrell, cousin of the bride; Miss Marie De Angelis, niece of the bridegroom; Miss Ruth Locknane and Miss Evelyn Iager. They wore gowns of pale pink fashioned like that of the maid of honor with clusters of blue flowers in their hair. Their flowers were mixed bouquets.

George Freilicher was best man and ushers were Louis Hicks, Charles Isbell, Colburn Swanson and James O'Brien. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Isbell wore a gown of ashes-of-roses chiffon with a lace bodice and a corsage of gardenias. Assisting her at the reception were Mrs. James Fitzmaurice and Miss Margaret Throckmorton. When the couple left for their Southern cruise, the bride wore a beige wool suit trimmed in mink and brown accessories. Upon their return they will live at 2416 George Mason Drive, Arlington, Va.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. George Wolf, of Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Grofsick, of Laurelton, L. I.; Miss Frances Pearson, of Bluemont, Va.; William Crock, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benedum, of Round Hill, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pearson, of Bluemont, Va.

The bride attended Abbott School of Art, Corcoran Art School and George Washington University. Mr. De Angelis received his B. S. at George Washington University, where he starred in baseball.

Mrs. Cowell Will Entertain

Mrs. T. Richard Cowell will entertain at dinner at the 1925 F Street Club tomorrow evening, having as her guests of honor Mr. and Mrs. Edward Larocque Tinker, of New York City.

Mr. Tinker is well known in the literary world for his book column in the New York Times, and he and Mrs. Tinker, known as Frances Tinker, author, have recently published a set of four volumes under the general title of "Old New Orleans;" separately, "Closed Shutters," "Mardi Gras Masks," "Windows Only" and "Strife."

Mr. and Mrs. Tinker arrived in Washington yesterday and are staying at the Hay-Adams over Sunday.

Beaumont-Nesbitts Sojourn in New York

Colonial Dames Plan Thursday Breakfast Program

The Colonial Dames XVII Century, William Woodward Chapter, has arranged an interesting program for its annual breakfast, to be held Thursday at noon in the Chinese Room of the Mayflower Hotel. Mrs. Frank Morrison, organizing president, will preside.

The speaker will be Miss Earlene White, of Mississippi, honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Guy Withers will give a group of folk songs in costume, and Mrs. Frederick Sargent Nicklas, of Chicago, will be head in a group of French songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Marie Belt Ozabal.

Mrs. Minnie Ashbrook Tull is chairman of reservations for the breakfast.

Group to Study Need For Marriage Counsel

By Jessie Ash Arndt
The Post Club Editor

Following a talk before the civic section of the Twentieth Century Club yesterday by Mrs. Stuart Mudd, director of the Marriage Counsel of Philadelphia, a committee was appointed to study the advisability of establishing a similar service in Washington.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the American Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles, also present at the luncheon meeting, held in the Y. W. C. A., answered questions as to the service he directs. The Rev. John L. Mixon, of the welfare department of the Washington Federation of Churches, who presided, announced as members of the committee, on which he also will serve, Mrs. Lawrence Martin, president of the club; Ray Everett, William Savin, Dr. Paul Ewerhardt, Mrs. Worth Daniels and Maj. Charles Dodd. Mrs. Henry De F. Ralph opened the meeting in the advence of Mrs. Prentiss Willson, section chairman.

Mrs. Mudd explained that in addition to individual counseling, members of the staff of the Philadelphia marriage counsel give time for teaching in colleges and universities, where marriage courses are offered, and to lecture before clubs and other organizations. There is need for courses preparing young people for marriage, in high school as well as in college, both she and Dr. Popenoe pointed out. Many of the perplexities of young people which later may develop into problems could be relieved and eliminated if such courses were offered in both high school and college, they declared.

Mrs. Mudd said 50 per cent of the clients at the marriage counsel in Philadelphia were normal young people, either newly married or engaged to be married, seeking advice that would help them make a success of their marriages. The service there has grown through clients telling friends how their problems have been worked out, she said. Those whose difficulties are most readily adjusted are those who apply for advice with a sincere desire to cooperate in remedying the situation, whatever it may be, she said. Only 10 per cent of the clients are those whose problems cover a protracted period of time, although these too find solution for their difficulties, she said.

A mature person, happily married and emotionally well adjusted, is the one best fitted to be a counselor, said Mrs. Mudd. She herself is an attractive, happy-looking young woman and the mother of five children.

Speaking from the background of seven years' experience as head of the Philadelphia Marriage Counsel, Mrs. Mudd declared it did not offer a panacea for all marital difficulties, but was a step in the direction of solving them for many people.

"Family counseling is more relative than ever," she said, "in the face of the national emergency, for the Nation is only as strong as individuals who comprise it. Loyalty begins in the home with the trust and security born of two partners' devotion to each other, and from the home, reaches out to the community, State and Nation.

"Most young people start with high ideals in marriage," said Mrs. Mudd, "but there is tremendous waste of initiative, strength and good will through lack of knowledge of the rules of the game and lack of insight into each other's personalities."

D. F. P. Elects Mrs. Parcells As President

Mrs. Frank Howland Parcells, of Brooklyn, was elected yesterday as president of the National Society, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, to fill the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Eugene Haslet Darrach, of Indianapolis. The election took place by acclamation at the annual session of the general court, held in the Rose Room of the Washington Hotel.

Other officers elected were Miss Bessie Porter, of Maryland, to succeed Mrs. Parcells as historian, and Mrs. Edmond Burke Ball, of Indiana; Mrs. David Moore Robison, of Maryland, and Mrs. Claude M. Campbell, of Vermont, as directors.

Mrs. Charles L. Jackman, national vice president, presided at the session, which was attended by 125 members and delegates. Officers who presented their reports included Mrs. Clarence John Chandler, of Detroit, national chaplain; Mrs. Samuel B. Woodbridge, of Washington, national recording secretary.

Colonial War Daughters Will Convene

Mrs. Almerin Marston, of Ventnor, N. J., national president, will preside at the sessions of the National Society of Daughters of Colonial Wars convening on Saturday, in the Mayflower Hotel, for its tenth annual meeting.

The council will meet at 11 o'clock and will be attended by these other national officers: First vice president, Mrs. Harper D. Shepherd, of Pennsylvania; second vice president, Mrs. William H. Pouch, of New York; chaplain, Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, of Georgia; secretary, Mrs. Carl F. Little, of Ohio; treasurer, Mrs. Hesbsel W. Tenhave, of Michigan; registrar, Mrs. Frank L. Nason, of Massachusetts; historian, Mrs. Guy E. Speare, of New Hampshire.

State presidents who also will attend include Mrs. Albion M. Boothby, Massachusetts; Mrs. William A. Becker, New Jersey; Mrs. William C. Fox, Illinois; Mrs. J. Duke Harrison, New York; Mrs. Arthur M. Johnson, California; Mrs. Maurice V. Sweeney, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Arthur P. Champlin, Maine; Mrs. Edwin B. Pizzard, Ohio; Mrs. James B. Kemper, New Hampshire; Mrs. Henry B. Joy, Michigan; Mrs. Benjamin Wyche, North Carolina; Mrs. John M. Green, Maryland; Mrs. Walter C. Johnson, Tennessee; Mrs. John W. Kirkpatrick, Kansas; Mrs. Howard J. Whitet, Delaware; Mrs. S. M. Page Rees, Georgia; Mrs. John F. Weinmann, Arkansas; Mrs. Daniel S. Robinson, Indiana; Mrs. William L. Freeland, Florida; Mrs. Samuel T. Hay, Virginia; Mrs. Reuben E. Knight, Nebraska; Mrs. Benjamin F. Buckley, Kentucky; Mrs. Robert M. McLemore, Texas.

Charters will be presented to the three State societies which organized during the year: Nebraska, organized by Mrs. Knight; Kentucky, by Mrs. Buckley, and Texas, by Mrs. McLemore.

Following luncheon, annual reports of officers and State presidents will be given; also reports from the national chairmen. Mrs. Ira Springer, of Pennsylvania, will report for the insignia committee, Miss Agnes W. Storer, of New Jersey, on oragnization; Mrs. Arthur Johnson, of California, on national defense, and Mrs. Joseph E. Pryor, of New Jersey, on publicity.

Nominations of officers to be elected for a three-year term will be presented by the committee consisting of Mrs. Nathaniel U. Walker, Mrs. Eugene N. Davis, Mrs. Guy O. Vickery, Mrs. Harry C. Boden and Mrs. William J. Sweeney.

D. A. R. Dedicates 7 Carillon Bells at Valley Forge Memorial

Seven additional carillon bells were dedicated at the Washington Memorial at Valley Forge, Pa., yesterday by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The impressive occasion was the first event to usher in the Fiftieth Continental Congress which convenes Monday in Constitution Hall.

The president general, Mrs. Henry M. Robert, jr., members of her cabinet and a number of national and State officers were present at the ceremony, held at 12:30 p. m. Mrs. Robert made the address, and Mrs. Leland Stanford Duxbury, of Minneapolis, historian general, gave the dedicatory address. During her three-year term now closing, Mrs. Duxbury has secured a total of 17 bells for the great carillon.

The bells dedicated yesterday have been presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution of the following States: Alabama, middle B; North Dakota, high C sharp; Arkansas, middle F; Minnesota, middle A sharp; Mississippi, high D sharp; Oregon, highest B, and Tennessee, High C.

The great carillon now has a total of 37 bells. When completed, it will have 48 State bells and one large national bell. Thus there are a total of 11 State bells yet to be presented.

The delegates who went to Valley Forge were met by members of the Pennsylvania D. A. R. and taken to Valley Forge by automobile. Lunch was served before the dedication at the Washington Inn in Valley Forge. After the ceremony the visitors went back to Philadelphia, where they got their trains for Washington.

The various presentations were made as follows: Alabama bell, presented by Mrs. A. S. Mitchell, State regent; message by Mrs. Val Taylor, vice president general from Alabama; North Dakota bell, presented by Mrs. Joseph Cutting, State regent; Arkansas bell, presented by Mrs. Homer P. Sloan, vice president general from Arkansas; message by Mrs. James F. Clark, State chairman for the Arkansas bell project; Minnesota bell, presented by Miss Nellie L. Sloan, State regent; given by the Minnesota D. A. R., the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, American Legion Auxiliary, school children and other clubs.

Mississippi bell, presented by Mrs. Harrum Gardner, State regent; messages by Mrs. William K. Herrin, jr., of Clarksdale, Miss., corresponding secretary general; Mrs. Percy Quin, honorary State regent, and Mrs. Mary Humber, State chairman for the Mississippi bell project; Oregon bell, presented by Mrs. Howard P. Arnest, State regent; Tennessee bell, presented by Mrs. Walter M. Berry, State regent of Tennessee; message by Mrs. Willard Steele, of Tennessee, curator general. Completion of the fund for the purchase of this bell in time for the dedication was largely due to the personal efforts of Mrs. Berry.

Home Economics Group Will Hear Mrs. Clara Snyder

Mrs. Clara Gebhard Snyder, chairman of the National Home Economics Women in business department of the American Home Economics Association, will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the District Home Economics Women in Business Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Parrot Tea Room, 1701 Twentieth Street. Mrs. Snyder, who is director of the Home Economics Division of the Wheat Flour Institute, will speak on "The Business of Home Economics."

Horticultural Dinner April 19

The annual meeting and luncheon of the American Horticultural Society will be held Saturday, April 19, at the Shoreham Hotel. The business meeting is called for 11 o'clock, followed by the luncheon at 1.

Horticulturalists and garden lovers attend this meeting each year, coming from all parts of the country.

The guest speaker will be one of the directors, Mrs. Robert H. Fife, of New York, president of of the Garden Club of America.

Mrs. Fife went to South America with her husband, who is a professor at Columbia University, and during their extended tour collected much information about plant material and the beautiful gardens there, which she will present in her talk following the luncheon. Other speakers will be announced later.

Chairman Madame

By Suzanne

A FUND-RAISING CAMPAIGN has been inaugurated by the Woman's National Democratic Club to provide furnishings and equipment for a canteen for the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club, 1015 L Street, together with necessary structural changes in the building.

Mrs. Curtis Shears, president of the Democratic Club, announced yesterday the appointment of a committee to raise money and cooperate with the Woman's Army and Navy League, which has maintained the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club unaided by outside assistance, for many years. Mrs. Julian L. Schley, wife of Gen. Schley, and president of the league, estimates that $5,000 will be needed for the project, which will be one of the Democratic Club's national defense contributions.

Mrs. John B. Gordon, 2905 Woodland Drive, has been appointed chairman of the committee from the Woman's National Democratic Club, with Mrs. Roosevelt, honorary president of the club, as one of the committee members. Others serving include: Mrs. William Lee Beale, Mrs. Albert L. Cox, Mrs. J. Harry Covington, Mrs. John Allen Dougherty, Mrs. Garland S. Ferguson, jr., Mrs. Julien Friant, treasurer of the committee; Mrs. Charles B. Henderson, Mrs. Benjamin D. Hill, Mrs. James L. Houghteling, Mrs. Robert H. Jackson, Mrs. Benjamin King, Mrs. James D. Le Cron, Mrs. Henry Coit MacLean, Mrs. Paul V. McNutt, Mrs. Edward B. Meigs, Mrs. Leo Brison Norris, Mrs. James H. Patten, Mrs. Stanton Peelle, Mrs. William Jennings Price, Mrs. Charles E. Riggs, Mrs. Thomas Riggs, Mrs. Emil Schram, secretary of the committee; Mrs. Thomas E. Sebrell, jr., Mrs. Edward R. Stitt, Mrs. Frank C. Walker, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. John R. Williams.

The Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club is large and commodious, and lodges and boards at nominal prices the enlisted men from the nearby forts when they are in the city on leave. With the greatly added responsibilities occasioned by the necessity of handling thousands of additional soldiers, sailors and marines, the service officers' wives, who compose the league membership, found the burden too great to carry. Since the club is privately owned it cannot receive Governmental aid, and they, therefore, prevailed upon Mrs. Paul V. McNutt to bring their predicament to the attention of the Woman's National Democratic Club, where action was promptly taken.

BUSINESS COUNCIL TO MEET —The regular meeting of the Business Women's Council will be held Tuesday at the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Bernard Braskamp, of Gunton Temple Presbyterian Church, will lead the devotional period at 6:45, and at 8 o'clock Alice Hutchins Drake will speak on "Books and Their Makers." Strangers in the city are invited to attend.

Congresional Women Plan Lecture Series

A committee of Congressional women, Mrs. John Kee, of West Virginia, general chairman; Mrs. Claude Pepper, of Florida, chairman of arrangements, and Mrs. John Tolan, of California, have issued invitations to a series of morning lectures at the Sulgrave Club, April 22, 24 and 29 and May 2, from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

Agnes McCall Parker, British-American analyst, author and lecturer, will deliver the lectures on the general topic, "Rediscovered Self—a First Essential in National Defense."

Ramspeck Bill Signing Expected Momentarily

President Roosevelt is momentarily expected to sign an order making the Ramspeck bill effective. He has talked with half a dozen advisers and apparently his mind is made up to sign an order that would cover into civil service approximately 125,000 additional Federal jobs. The order, it is believed, would not become effective until seven months after it is signed. Meantime, the Civil Service Commission will make a study of the positions to decide which ones should be exempted from merit. Whether attorneys will be brought under civil service is doubtful. Proponents of the Frankfurter plan are certain the President agrees with them and will make the plan effective. The Civil Service Commission is opposed to the Frankfurter plan.

War Department will hire 150 additional junior hostesses and 75 principal hostesses. It has received 15,000 applications for the jobs and no more are being accepted. Representative Ross Collins insists that more than 15,000 women have written him to ask for the jobs.

Postmaster General Frank Walker yesterday made two appointments, his first since joining the Cabinet. He appointed his private secretary of years standing, William F. Cronin, executive assistant to the Postmaster General. Harold Ambrose, information chief, was appointed senior administrative assistant to the Postmaster General. He is a former Boston newsman and was brought here by Jim Farley. Cronin succeeded J. Austin Latimer.

Civil Service Commission has ordered some vacancies in its own organization filled by competitive promotion tests. The tests are limited to commission employes who have efficiency ratings of "fair" or better. Employes with efficiency ratings of "fair" will be admitted to competitive tests, but they won't be eligible for appointment until their ratings have been brought up to at least "good." Competitive promotion exams will be held for most clerical jobs such as under clerk, junior clerk, junior typist, senior typist, junior stenographer, senior stenographer and principal stenographer.

It was originally decided that efficiency ratings would count 30 per cent in promotion exams. However, the commission has now decided that efficiency ratings should count not less than 20 per cent and not more than 40 per cent, depending on the job. A bureau chief will be permitted to appoint one of the first three eligibles on a promotion register. Note to Business Office

When the police radio told of a "woman screaming" in the 2100 block of Tunlaw Road Northwest last night, The Post's police reporter called the address, identified himself and asked what was wrong.

"We haven't paid your boy," said a little girl's voice, "because he never comes around when we're home."

A Few Shots Cost District Man $20

"For shooting at the traffic sign—$10; for being drunk—$10."

Thus did Police Court Judge George D. Neilson dispose of one case before him yesterday.

The defendant, William M. Farrel, 32, of the 1200 block I Street Northwest, was arrested for shooting from his room at a parking sign with an air rifle.

D. C. Churches Announce Services for Good Friday

Christ's crucifixion on a crude Calvary cross will be commemorated at Good Friday services today, following the sacred Holy Thursday rites of yesterday.

Special interest will be focussed on the solemn three-hour individual and denominational church rites, when Jesus' seven last words (statements) on the Cross will be dramatized in sermons and sacred hymns.

Masses in Catholic churches and Holy Communion in Protestant churches yesterday recalled Jesus' Last Supper and the institution of that rite in the Christian churches. It also recalled the Saviour's dark hours in Gethsemane.

Soldiers to Worship

Hundreds of service men in this area will take part in the Good Friday and Easter rites either at their posts or in adjacent communities, commanding officers having been authorized to excuse from duty all soldiers who wish to attend, provided that no interference with public service occurs.

That announcement coming yesterday from the War Department said that approximately 950,000 troops will attend services throughout the United States.

Throngs of business firm employes are planning to worship at one of the three-hour Good Friday services starting at noon, following a plea from a special committee of religious, business and civic leaders for a recess for workers.

Many downtown business people are expected to attend the three-hour service at Epiphany Episcopal Church, 1317 G Street Northwest, where the preacher will be Dr. Ze Barney Phillips, Epiphany rector and chaplain of the Senate.

Methodists' Services

At the same hour, Methodists of the city will be uniting in worship at Foundry Methodist Church, and Lutherans either at joint rites at Grace Lutheran Church, Sixteenth and Varnum Streets Northwest, or Keller Memorial Lutheran Church, Ninth Street and Maryland Avenue Northeast.

Good Friday will be observed at the Washington Cathedral with services at 7:30 a. m., 12 noon, and 4 p. m. The first service will be held in the Chapel of St. Joseph of Arimathea. The other services will be in charge of Stanley Brown-Serman, of the Virginia Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Edward S. Dunlap, respectively. The noon service will extend three hours.

The congregation of Reformation Lutheran Church, 212 East Capitol Street, will hold services from 12 to 1 p. m., and at 8 p. m. today. Holy Communion will be celebrated at the latter time, and the cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," presented by the choir.

The Washington Catholic Evidence Guild will sponsor an "Everybody's Good Friday Service" from 12:30 to 2:30 p. m. in Franklin Park, Fourteenth and K Streets Northwest. Meditations on the Stations of the Cross will be given by Dr. Charles A. Hart, the Rev. Eugene Burke, C. S. P., and the Rev. John J. Stafford, C. F. V., all of Catholic University.

The Three-Hours' Agony will be sung from 12 noon to 3 p. m. at Immaculate Conception Church, Eighth and N Streets Northwest, by the Boy Choristers. The Rev. Herbert F. Gallagher, O. F. M., will preach, and Dr. John K. Cartwright, rector, will preside.

The National City Christian Church will hold a one-hour prayer service beginning today at noon under the auspices of the woman's council. Dr. Raphael Harwood Miller, pastor, will speak. The chorus choir will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion" at 7:45 p. m.

Church to See Play

"Out of the Darkness," a drama by Robert E. Frandon, will be given tonight at 8 by the Mount Vernon Players at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church. At the same hour, young people of Grace Reformed Church will present the Passion Play.

The cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," will be presented by the choir of Fifth Baptist Church tonight at 8 under the direction of J. Herrick Hall, minister of music. He will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Travis Johnson, National Broadcasting Company staff artists from New York City.

Among other Good Friday rites, in brief, are:

Noon, Bloomingdale area churches' three-hour rites, Memorial United Brethren Church, North Capitol and R Streets.

Noon, Southeast churches' three-hour services, North Carolina Avenue Methodist Church.

Noon, Mass of Presanctified, Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Catholic University.

Noon, "Y" employes' service, 1736 G Street Northwest.

10:30 a. m., 1:30, 4 and 8 p. m. DeMille's "King of Kings," First Congregational Church, Tenth and G Streets Northwest.

5 p. m. Meditation service, Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, Ninth Street and Massachusetts Avenue Northwest.

8 p. m. Good Friday organ recital, Washington Chapel, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Sixteenth and Columbia Road Northwest.

Dumbarton Oaks Opening Set Tomorrow

Dumbarton Oaks Park will be opened for the first time to the public tomorrow at 9 a. m., it was announced yesterday by Irving C. Root, superintendent of parks.

Latest addition to the National Capital Park system, Dumbarton Oaks will be opened for the Easter weekend between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. First visitors to the park, which was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, will be greeted by a profusion of plants, shrubs and flowering trees in full bloom, the park officials stated. They will include the yellow-blossomed spice bush and forsythia, narcissus, primroses in mixed colors, blue periwinkle and scilla, lavender soulangeana magnolia and the early white-blossomed flowering plum.

Root asked that visitors enter the park via Lovers Lane, opening from the north side of R Street between Thirtieth and Thirty-first Streets

Jews Begin Celebrations Of Passover Feast Tonight

Jewish families tonight at sundown will gather around tables for the traditional Seder rites, launching the Feast of the Passover. It extends eight days.

First observed more than 2,000 years ago, it is Judaism's oldest festival, and marks the deliverance of Israelites from bondage in Egypt to freedom in Palestine.

As part of the Seder services, the head of the family recalls the hardships of his ancestors' bondage by partaking of bitter herbs, following the washing of hands in ceremonial manner and the Kiddush ritual—sanctification of the holy wine.

The family head also will read from the Haggadah, questioning one of his children on the significance of Passover. The book tells the story of the deliverance. Matzos, unleavened bread, will be eaten.

Jewish people away from home, especially soldiers and defense workers, are invited to attend public Seder rites at 7 p. m. at Beth Sholom Synagogue, Eighth and Shepherd Streets Northwest.

The Hebrew Travelers' Sheltering Society also is inviting strangers to partake of Seder services tonight and tomorrow at 7 p. m. at 407 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest.

Draft Status Reversed In 11 Cases

D. C. Appeals Board Votes to Postpone Induction of Seven Pending Inquiry

The District Appeals Board reversed local board classifications of Washington registrants in 11 out of 37 cases heard in the past two days and voted at least to delay inductions for seven others whose appeals are to be reconsidered.

A report released yesterday after closed meetings Tuesday and Wednesday indicated the board was taking utmost pains to excuse, from current inductions men with bona fide dependents and those in defense occupations.

Meanwhile, selection officials named 45 men to be inducted today and tomorrow.

Four times the appeals unit overruled local boards which had classified men as 1-A, subject for immediate call, and placed them in Class III-A, deferred because of dependents.

In four other cases men were removed from the ready-for-service category and declared in Class II-A, deferred because of necessary defense occupations.

Instructor Secures Deferment

In one action, the board deferred for the time being a Maryland University mathematics instructor, William J. Van Stockum, for educational reasons.

Explaining the ruling a board member declared the educator was deferred "because graduation is so near" and the schooling of the instructor's students might be interrupted should he be called now. However, like undergraduate registrants, Van Stockum's deferment will extend only until the end of the academic year.

The instructor told the board he was willing to join the armed forces at that time.

Second Registration Confirmed

National selection officials confirmed previously published reports that a second registration day for men becoming 21 years of age since October 16, previous registration day, will be held this summer or fall. No definite plans are as yet under way.

Appellants whose claims for dependency deferments were upheld and the boards they represent are: Richard A. Janifer, 24, grocery deliveryman, of Board No. 21; James Kingsbury, 34, Navy Yard laborer, of Board No. 24; Nathan Ginsberg, 26, grocery clerk, of Board No. 1; and Sigmund Timberg, 30, attorney, of Board No. 1.

Those given deferments for defense occupations: Richard C. Fitzgerald, 24, War Department statistical clerk, of Board No. 15; John W. Lowenbach, 24, Navy Yard driller, of Board No. 24; Marshall C. Gleason, 32, research associate, of Board No. 3, and William J. Van Stockum, 31, Maryland University instructor, of Board No. 2.

Registrants whose appeals will be held over for reconsideration after further information is obtained are Ira O. Pile, 23, film processor, of Board No. 2; Joseph Kay, 23, skilled helper, of Board No. 5; David F. Carswell, 26, file clerk, of Board No. 2; Lawrence M. Goodman, 28, Internal Revenue examiner, of Board No. 2; Dr. Sollie Katzman, 35, of Board No. 2; Charles V. White, 25, clerk, of Board No. 2, and Ralph M. Blaso, 24, salesman, of Board No. 17.

In one instance the appeals board placed a registrant who had been deferred by a local board for dependency into Class 1-A. He is John D. Ashmore, 30-year-old filling station attendant, of Board No. 7. The appeal was made by the board's Government appeal agent.

Milton Turner, 25, clerk, of Board No. 22, was removed from Class 1-A and placed in Class 1-D with a student's reprieve from the draft until July 1 or the end of his academic year, whichever is earlier.

Appeals of the following were rejected:

Joseph A. Hawkins, 28, plumber, Board No. 6; James F. Sharkey, 25, clerk, Board No. 17; George B. Austin, 26, clerk, Board No. 2; Warren R. Dempsey, 35, salesman, Board No. 13; John Austin McCambridge, 23, messenger, Board No. 13; Thomas J. Graham, 22, clerk, Board No. 2; Carlin Scott Wiechmann, 26, file clerk, Board No. 17; John W. Sandberg, 23, classifier, Board No. 4; John Ray Wolfe, 25, hospital attendant, Board No. 24; Hilton A. Gentry, 32, hospital attendant, Board No. 24; Michael M. Miller, 22, messenger, Board No. 1; Jonthan H. Custer, 36, senior clerk, Board No. 1; Anthony L. Giuhoski, 31, construction material clerk, Board No. 2; Patrick Michael Rice, 24, ledger clerk, Board No. 2; Charles S. Walters, 29, operator, Board No. 22; Walter Van Cleve, 25, clerk, Board No. 22.

Bar Cannon, 25, contractor, of Board No. 1; Nicola M. Iosue, 33, bricklayer, of Board No. 17, and Howard J. Johnson, 25, clerk, of Board No. 1.

Following are the names of 45 selectives, including 10 replacements to be sworn in today and tomorrow.

Replacements to be inducted today (to be inducted in Baltimore):

Board No. 10 (colored)—George S. Bowman, Victor C. Prillman, John M. Brown, William H. Hammie, William F. Bryant, John C. Branch.

Board No. 13—Guy S. McAllister.

Board No. 14—Milton A. Tolson (colored)

Board No. 23—Thomas F. Newton, John C. Rice.

Registrants to Be Inducted Tomorrow

Board No. 11—James B. Bocock, Edward G. Lybbert, Lee Browning Coleman, Michael A. Norton, James M. Edwards.

Board No. 17—Daniel Powell, Anthony J. Berrang, Edward Lovinger, Arthur G Kanlogiannes, Charles J. Arnold, James C Efantis, Raymond J. Haler, Richard F Lamb, Victor S. Pinkowski.

Board No. 19—Robert P. Burton, Abraham Yaffe, Thomas J. Lauer.

Board No. 20—Herbert A. Doland, Joseph A. Burney, jr., Carl D. Woodcock, Thomas E. Geiger, Herman C. Stewart, William D Crabtree, jr., Francis W. Furyear, Donald H. Lawrence, Daniel R. Poole, Augustine J. Adomonts.

Board No. 22—Henry C. Aaron, jr., James C. English, William W. Vavior, Harold H. Harris, Dominick L. DeStefaro, Charles Cross, Gerald F. Baldwin, William A. Esser.

General Motors Displays Wonders of Science

A "FAMILY PARTY," staged last night by General Motors dealers, was attended by approximately 2,000 employes, relatives and friends. Here, R. W. Strauss, of New York, research commentator, explains a wrap made of glass and a football helmet of cotton to Margaret O'Donoghue (left), of 4339 Reno Road, and Barbara Smith, of 4514 Connecticut Avenue

Citizen Group Opposes D. C. Rent Control

The Washingtonians expressed opposition last night to establishment of a commission to regulate rents in the District as unnecessary and "unfair to the people of the District."

Meeting at the Highlands Apartments, Connecticut Avenue and California Street Northwest, the citizens organization also voted its approval of the Overton and Hunter fiscal bills after hearing L. A. Carruthers, former president of the Federation of Citizens Associations, explain them.

The proposed merger of police and municipal courts was approved, a sales tax in lieu of the present District income tax was favored and proposed closing of Virginia Avenue for erection of the new Pan American Union annex was condemned.

Citizens Ask Police Catch Speeder Near School

Congress Heights Citizens Association last night asked police action against a defiant speeder or speeders who, members said, had three times driven over and broken a police sign limiting speed to 15 miles an hour near the Congress Heights School.

The sign stands in the center of the street, south of Nichols Avenue at the intersection of Portland Street Southeast. Members asked special policemen be stationed there to apprehend the lawbreaker.

The unit also urged that angle parking be established on Mellon Street, a 68-foot wide thoroughfare, to relieve parking congestion on Nichols Avenue.

American U. Park

Unanimous disapproval of the plan advocated by Representative Jennings Randolph, chairman of the House District Committee, to have a sample blackout in Washington, was voiced last night at a meeting of the American University Park Citizens Association, and a motion adopted to oppose it vigorously.

Speaking against such a blackout, Dr. Eugene W. Higgins, chairman of the association's health and sanitation committee, declared that Washington is "neither a military objective nor an important railroad center."

In another motion adopted last night the group expressed approval of a nine-man board to plan a recreational program for District children, now being considered by the District Commissioners.

The association also discussed plans for the extensive celebration it plans to hold in Fort Bayard Park, River Road and Fessenden Street Northwest, on the Fourth of July.

General Motors Employes Hold 'Family Party'

Glimpses of General Motors Corporation's part in the national defense effort were shown in a motion picture last night at a "family party" of General Motors dealers, employes, relatives and friends, numbering about 2,000, in Constitution Hall.

With a total of $750,000,000 worth of defense orders received by General Motors to date, scenes in the plants showed Army trucks, airplane engines, machine guns, shells and other products being turned out.

Robert Strauss, of New York, research commentator for General Motors, demonstrated marvels of science, produced by industry. He made music with light. By pointing a stroboscope (neon light flashing on and off at different speeds) at an electric eye, he played a tune, "O Happy Day." He explained that the electric eye changed each vibration of light to a vibration of tone. The stroboscope is of practical use in enabling gears, wheels and pistons to be studied in motion, he explained.

The program opened with a filmed greeting from Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of General Motors; Paul Garrett, director of public relations, and other executives. Appearing in person at the program, one of a series of 20 in cities across the country, were C. A. Lewis, of New York, assistant director of public relations, and Louis Freeman, of the same department. Tom Crosby, president of the General Motors Club of Washington, was master of ceremonies.

Baby Is Burned When Lamp Overturns

Bessie Smith, colored, 5 months, was seriously burned last night when an overturned oil lamp set fire to the second-floor room in which she was sleeping at 1801 Wiltberger Street Northwest. Police said the child was being cared for by Della Carter, colored, occupant of the room.

Hitchhiker Held in Knifing Of U.S. Worker

Lawrence C. Waters, 37-year-old Agriculture Department analyst, was taken to Sibley Memorial Hospital with nine knife wounds late yesterday and police a short while later arrested a Treasury Department employe, 28, whom they said stabbed Waters as they rode in the latter's car.

Waters told police his assailant had "hitchhiked" a ride while he was driving to his home at 1243 Queen Street Northeast, after work.

The injured man said he agreed to give the man a ride and then discovered he was intoxicated. As the automobile approached Ninth and H Streets Northwest, Waters said he accused his passenger of being intoxicated and that the man drew a knife from his pocket and began to slash at him.

Waters then drove into a parking lot at Ninth and H Streets and called for help. A group of pedestrians came to his aid, police said, and some held the suspected attacker while another drove Waters to the hospital.

The suspected assailant was taken to Casualty Hospital for a cut hand and then held at the First Precinct for investigation.

A pedestrian trundling a pushcart was killed yesterday, and four men were injured in Washington traffic. The dead man was the year's twenty-fourth traffic victim, the toll being eight above last year's 16 at this time.

Thomas Minor, colored, 68, of 32 L Street Northwest, died at Sibley Hospital last night a few hours after he was struck by an automobile under the B. & O. overpass on K Street Northwest. Police held Charles E. Becker, 36, of Baltimore, for the coroner as operator of the automobile.

John Clark, colored, 29, of 1330 Sixth Street Northwest, suffered several broken ribs and a ruptured stomach when a truck loaded with gravel, which he was driving, collided with another at Sixteenth Street and Concord Avenue Northwest.

The second truck, operated by William T. Linkens, 40, of Silver Spring, Md., overturned after the collision. Linkens was given first aid at Walter Reed Hospital for cuts and bruises. Clark was taken to Emergency Hospital.

P. Amerigo, 60, of 1834 M Street Northeast, was treated at Garfield Hospital for concussion of the brain after the automobile he was driving collided with another at First Street and Rhode Island Avenue Northwest.

Knocked down by an automobile while crossing Sherman Avenue Northwest at Lamont Street, Abraham Bargad, 65, of 1001 Lamont Street, received head injuries. He was admitted to Emergency Hospital for treatment.

Nats Bow to Phils; Army Gets Lewis May 10

Carrasquel Tosses 7-4 Game Away

Leonard Hurls First 6 Innings in Good Style; Ferrell, Case Are Batting Heroes

By Shirley Povich
Post Staff Writer

Goldsboro, N. C., April 10.—The Phils, of all people, beat the Nats today. The Washington team that had licked the champion Detroit Tigers seven straight times, tossed off a 7-to-4 contest to the Phillies in Goldsboro's bright new WPA ball park.

Specifically, it was Alex Carrasquel, the Nats' Venezuelan pitcher, who tossed the game away. He made a mess of a 4-to-1 lead turned over to him by Dutch Leonard in the seventh inning. The 2,000 natives saw the Phillies rake Carrasquel for seven of their ten hits and six of their runs in those three innings."

Moreover, Carrasquel was throwing his home run pitch this afternoon. He served up homers to Bill Nagel and Stan Benjamin in the seventh and ninth—crisp clouts that cleared the left field wall by several feet. It was a dismal performance by the Venezuelan who actually forced the winning run across the plate by walking Merrill May with two out, the score tied at 4 to 4, and the bases full in the eighth inning.

Leonard in Good Form

In wonderful contrast, however, was the superb pitching of Leonard who was giving his knuckle ball its final workout before he takes it into Griffith Stadium on Monday for the opening ceremonial game with the Yankees. Leonard, pitching the first six innings, gave up only one run, and that one was thoroughly drenched in ill luck.

Leonard yielded only three hits to the Phillies, and one of those was a misplayed ground ball by Buddy Lewis. In fact, the only way the Phillies could score off Leonard was in the fourth inning when Lewis, after butchering a ground ball, dropped an easy pop fly a bit later with two out and a runner on third base.

It wasn't the fault of Rick Ferrell and George Case that the Nats didn't win. They drove in all of the Nats' four runs. Both his homers. Case greeted old Cy Blanton in the first inning with a long drive over the left field fence, and in the next inning it was his single that ultimately scored Archie who had walked. In the sixth Ferrell took a parting shot at Blanton with his homer over left-center fence, 340 feet distant, after George Archie had opened the inning with a double to left.

Nagel Connects

The Phillies didn't dally with Carrasquel when the latter poked his nose into the proceedings in the seventh. Nagel promptly bashed his homer, and then Mickey Livingston doubled. Pinch Hitter Mueller delivered a rightfield single that scored Livingston and the Nats' lead was cut to 4-3.

In the eighth the Phillies came up with the tying and winning runs. Pofahl made an incredibly sorry throw after making an incredibly brilliant stop of Marty's grounder at third base, and Marty was safe at first. Benjamin singled to left, and Etten doubled to right, and the score was tied. With runners on second and third and none out, Carrasquel threatened to escape from the inning without further damage. He caused Litwhiler to pop up, and after he walked Nagel, he also caused Warren to pop up. But in this crisis he walked May to force a run across.

Came the ninth and two more runs for the Phillies. Two were out when it began. Benjamin socked the day's longest homer over the left field fence, and after Etten walked he scored all the way from first when Ben Chapman botched Litwhiler's single into left field.

Witness Stand (No. 1), the public choice and winner of the first race at Bowie yesterday, got off to a good start to stave off the bid of Petes Bet (No. 3) and score in the 4-furlong opener for 2-year-olds. R. Scott was astride the winner. No Ending, winner of the second race, and Witness Stand completed a $38 pay-off in the daily double. (Story on Page 24.)

Lewis to Be Inducted May 10, Is Indication

Washington Infielder Makes Report to Harris; Slender Hope of Deferment

By a Staff Correspondent

Goldsboro, N. C., April 10.—The United States will induct Third Baseman John Kelly (Buddy) Lewis into its Army on May 10, it was strongly indicated today.

The Washington club's clean-up hitter made that report to Manager Bucky Harris today after a visit to his local draft board at Belmont, N. C. "May 10 is the date they said they'd probably take me," said Lewis.

Lewis, in his personal appearance before the board, made a request for a four-month deferment that would enable him to earn most of his 1941 baseball salary.

"They just smiled," said Lewis, "and I knew what that meant."

Lewis still retains a slender hope that the Belmont board will defer him because of dependents. He will know his fate on Wednesday when the board said it would act on his case following reception of the official report of his physical examination at Orlando, Fla. The Orlando board has already approved him physically.

The North Carolina board told Lewis it would examine, meanwhile, his claim for deferment. Dependent on the player's income, he says, are his parents.

"But I have a 14-acre farm, 10 acres of it under cultivation, and the board may rule that my parents can live off the farm," said Lewis. "In that case, it looks like I'm just about in the Army."

Others Already Called

Lewis declared he would not ask for further deferment if his number were called late in the season. "I need my 1941 income to carry my parents through if I had to stay in the Army for three or four years," he said. "If I don't collect my 1941 salary, and have to serve a long time in the Army, it will be pretty tough."

Draftees holding numbers lower than Lewis in the North Carolina district have already been called up, the board pointed out. Lewis might have been called up on April 8 or April 22, save for the fact that there was a delay in receiving his physical report from Florida.

The North Carolina board indicated that it was "on the spot" in his case, inasmuch as numbers higher than his had already been called and that any deferment in his case might smack of favoritism because he is a somewhat famous native son.

May 1 Deadline For W.B.C. Entries

Entries for the western division of the Boys Club baseball league will close on May 1, Athletic Director Paul Casassa announced last night. Play will begin May 3 with the games to be played on the Western High School diamond.

There will be two divisions: Insects for players 16 and under, and Peewee, for players 14 and under. The franchise fee will be $1 for each player, which includes membership in the Boys Club.

Gold baseballs will be awarded the players on the winning teams in each division. Batting champions will receive prizes also.

For further information call Casassa at Michigan 2122, or drop by the club, 2726 M Street Northwest.

Bruins Beat Red Wings, 2-1; Near Crown

By the Associated Press

Detroit, April 10.—The Boston Bruins, National Hockey League champions, made it three straight victories over the Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup finals with a 4 to 2 conquest here before 10,137 spectators tonight and drew within a game of possession of the Venerable Ice Trophy.

The defeat brought the Red Wings, battling with a rookie-filled line-up, to the brink of elimination from the cup series. Boston now can win the cup by beating Detroit in the fourth game here Saturday night.

Twice tonight in the first period the Bruins, on the dazzling individual work of Milt Schmidt and Eddie Wiseman, came from behind to nullify Detroit goals.

The might of the champions became evident in the second period when Schmidt bagged his second goal of the evening, a terrific 25-foot sizzler that caught Goalie Johnny Mowers flat-footed, 59 seconds after the period opened, to put the Bruins ahead for the first time.

The Bostonians controlled the game after that, holding the frantically rushing Red Wings with the aid of some sensational saves by Goalie Frank Brimsek and adding a fourth goal by Art Jackson three minutes before the end of the game while Alex Motter was in the penalty box.

Chicago Awards Cage Letters to Only Four Men

By the Associated Press

Chicago, April 10.—Four members of the University of Chicago basketball squad had varsity letters tonight to show for their season's work.

The powers that award athletic letters didn't think the team that lost all 12 of its Big Ten games had more than four men worth a letter.

Cleveland Wins Hockey Title in Beating Bears

Cleveland, April 10 (AP).—The Cleveland Barons tonight won the American League hockey championship with a 3-to-2 victory over the Hershey Bears in an overtime game before 10,743. Earl Bartholome, Baron winger, flipped in the winning shot at 1:25 of the overtime.

Joe Schenck Takes $10,000 Tropical Stake

By the Associated Press

Miami, Fla., April 10.—Herbert M. Woolf's Joe Schenck held his own through a stirring stretch duel today and won the $10,000 added Tropical Handicap, last big horse race of the Florida season.

The favored Get Off, with top weight of 120 pounds, was nipped at the wire for the place by W. C. Stroube's Sirasia.

Little Kenny McCombs, newly signed to ride for Woolf's Woolford Farm string, gave Joe Schenck brilliant handling—enabling the bettors to collect to the tune of $20.30 for a $2 win ticket, $11 to place and $5.80 to show.

Sirasia paid off $23.10 and $10.90, while the cautious who planked down their bet on Get Off to show got back $4.40.

The winner's time of 1:42 3-5 for the mile and one-sixteenth was only one-fifth of a second off the Tropical Park record.

In at 110 pounds, Joe Schenck stayed with the leaders through the early stages, dropped back a bit on the back side, then was called upon to make his bid coming into the stretch.

Get Off and Joe Schenck pounded toward the finish noses apart. One had to give way, and it was the favorite.

Ferrier's 66 Is Best In British Benefit

Australian Is Only Subpar Shooter of Day; Sarazen Has 70, Thomson and Smith Each 71

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Big Jim Ferrier, the Australian champion with the dipsy-doodle in his swing, put together one of the finest rounds of golf ever played over the Chevy Chase course yesterday to overshadow the other visiting stars in the British War Relief matches. The fund realized approximately $1,000 from the show.

Ferrier, playing in the first foursome with Allan Burton as a partner against Gene Sarazen and Fred McLeod, scattered seven birdies over the testing par 69-layout and finished with a 66, three under perfect figures. For the first six holes of the back nine Ferrier posted the dream score of 2-4-3-3-3-3, four under par.

Sarazen was playing fine golf but in contrast to Ferrier's great round his 70 was mediocre and Australia's Open and Amateur champion beat Sarazen and McLeod without any help, 5 and 4.

Horton Smith, two-time Augusta Masters champion, used his delicate putting touch to perfection on the eighteenth hole, knocking a 12-footer into the cup to earn a halve for himself and host pro Bob Barnett against George Dawson, Chicago's ranking amateur and Al Houghton, of Beaver Dam.

Ferrier Equals Best Ball

The anticipated slugging match in the third foursome attracted the day's largest gallery and Jimmy Thomson proved he was somewhat of a putter as well as the tee-shop champion. The Chicopee, Mass., stroker knocked in four birdie putts to help him and Cliff Spencer to a 2 and 1 victory over Wiffy Cox, playing one of his first rounds of the year, and Clayton Heafner, of Linville, N. C. Heafner was far off his usual form and finished with a 76 after hooking tee shots, irons and running into a spell of three-putting.

Ferrier's score alone was equal to the lowest best-ball count of the day. His 66 was matched by the best ball of Smith and Barnett, while Thomson and Spencer had 67, Dawson and Houghton 69, Cox and Heafner and Sarazen and McLeod, 70 each.

A 73 by Wiffy Cox was the best of the six local players. He dropped a wedge shot into the cup on the fourteenth hole for a birdie 3 and was hitting the ball well with the exception of an occasionally strayed iron shot. Bob Barnett was in there with three birdies to help Horton Smith. Al Houghton, who discovered his best driver was broken on

Brownell, Brooke Qualify at Athens

Athens, Ga., April 10 (AP).—Bobby Brownell, Duke University student from Washington, D. C., and F. Dixon Brooke, National Intercollegiate champion from the University of Virginia, were among the championship flight qualifiers in the Southern Intercollegiate Tournament here today.

Medal honors went to Earl Stewart, L. S. U., with 74-68, 142. Brownell qualified with a 36-hole total of 150 and Brooke, 157. Prominent qualifiers included Haywood Nelms and Bill Battle, Virginia, with 154 and 155, respectively, and Chuck Alexander, Duke, 154.

Bogart Loses To Williams At Pinehurst

By the Associated Press

Pinehurst, N. C., April 10.—Richard D. Chapman, the National Amateur champion, continued to play subpar golf today and eliminated Al Dowtin, North Carolina shotmaker, 5 and 4, in the second round of the North and South Amateur golf tournament.

Chapman's putter still worked like magic and he had eight one-putt greens in the 14 holes the match lasted. He was out in 33, three under par, and was even par for the five in holes.

The upset of the day was the defeat of W. B. McCullough, of Philadelphia, runner-up to Chapman in the national tournament by Arthur Pony, of Detroit. Pomy won on the final green when McCullough three-putted.

Bogart Beaten

Ralph Bogart, District of Columbia champion, ran into Harold Williams, a stout youngster from Tuscaloosa, Ala. The boy from Alabam' had something in his tee shot which fitted his weight and made second strokes comparatively easy, even over the long championship course.

Bogart and Williams went along all square until the fifth when the Alabama lad lost two holes in a row. But he won them back at seven and eight and lost the ninth to be one down at the turn.

They divided the next two holes and at 12 Williams knocked his second six feet from the hole and then jumped a stymie to win in three. He pitched over Bogart's ball, four feet high, but made it. He won the next when Bogart bunkered his tee stroke, to lead one up.

Bogart squared the game at the short fifteenth, with a par 3 as Williams was bunkered off the tee. Williams won the long sixteenth, with a birdie 4 and the seventeenth, with a par 3 when Bogart 3-putted.

Walter Burkemo, of Chicago, defeated Dr. R. L. Pittman, of Fayetteville, N. C., 6 and 5.

Frank Strafaci beat Henry Russell, of Miami, Fla., 2 up; Skip Alexander, of Durham, N. C., eliminated Guthrie Bicknell, of Cleveland, Ohio, 5 and 4; Bill Cozart, of Durham, defeated J. Raymond Lenahan, of Providence, R. I., in a 20-hole match; Bobby Dunkelberger, of High Point, trounced Grover Dillon, jr., of Raleigh, 3 and 2.

WASHINGTON, APR. 11, 1941

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

'Say It Ain't So, Joe'

Greensboro, N. C., April 10.—I met a poor old rich man yesterday. In his garage he has a Packard and a Buick, and he owns the finest mansion in Greenville, S. C., but he's busted, broke—broken-hearted. He's sick, and he's afraid he's going to die in what for 20 years has been his disgrace.

POVICH

I sat with Shoeless Joe Jackson in the rickety grandstand as the Nats played the Tigers in Greenville. In disguised curiosity, players of the Detroit and Washington teams sauntered past to glimpse the man when his presence in the park was whispered about. They wanted a gander at the fellow their fathers had told them about. They stared at the man who, their dads had told them, could do more things better on a baseball field than any player who ever lived.

They saw a stout, florid-faced, powerful-looking man of 53. I found him sitting with his doctor. Without his physician, he could not go to the ball game. The latest of his heart attacks occurred only two weeks ago. "It was only a little jolt," he said, "but it's got me scared." He smiled when he said it, and he didn't look scared. Neither was there a scare only resignation, to his tone when he continued, "I don't think I'll last long, now."

How to begin, how to ask a man like that about the tragedy in his life—the fixed World Series of 1919 that brought his banishment from baseball.

He saved me the trouble. He was anticipating me. He said, "I know what you're going to ask me. It's what they all ask me when they get their nerve up. Well, Sonny, I'm as innocent as you are. I had no part in that fix in 1919."

How now to draw him out? Was he bitter toward baseball, I asked. Did he have any resentment toward the game that had thrown him out?

"No," he said, curtly. "Not bitter toward baseball. I don't care for Judge Landis."

He didn't like Judge Landis?

"No, he didn't keep his bargain with me. He said if the courts declared me not guilty, he'd stand by me. That word wasn't kept when the court acquitted me in the Black Sox trial. How can I like Judge Landis?"

Now he was talking more freely about the Black Sox scandal. "The evidence in court showed that Buck Weaver and I were innocent. Even the fellows who were in on the fix testified that we had no part in it. My God, Sonny, did you ever look up the records of that World Series.'

What about the records, Joe, I asked.

"I can take you home and show them to you," he said. "The only three games the White Sox won in the series, Buck Weaver and I won for 'em. Did you know that I made more hits—Twelve—than anybody in that series. And that it stood as a World Series record for total hits until 1930 when Pepper Martin got 13. Does that sound like I was laying down. My God, Sonny, all you have to do is look at the records."

Hoped Name Would Be Cleared

Some day, perhaps, they'd reinstate him, I said.

"I've lost hope, Sonny. That would be a happy day, but it won't come. It's hard to take, but what can a fellow do, 'specially when he's not going to be around much longer. They cut me off at my prime, I was only 32. But I don't mind that so much as the black mark I'll be taking along with me. I used to hope that they'd clear my name, but I guess they never will. My God, Sonny, that's the hard part."

He was born and raised in these parts, we remembered.

"That's right, Sonny, and they've fine people down here. They've always believed that Shoeless Joe Jackson never did anything wrong. They were so proud of me that this thing is hard on them, too. A few years ago the mayor of Greenville and 5,000 citizens signed a petition asking Judge Landis to clear my name, they wanted to show me they believed in me and that was wonderful. I only felt sadder when Landis turned them down."

One of the shoddy tricks against him he says, was the story about his "confession" of guilt in throwing the World Series to the Reds.

"There never was any confession by me. That was trumped up by the court lawyers. They couldn't produce it in court. They said it was stolen from the vaults. Does that sound right?"

I looked at him again and tried to visualize the superb athlete who could run and throw and field and hit so well that he was pressing Ty Cobb for ancient American League batting championships. I asked him how much he weighed in those days.

"In 1908 when I broke in, I weighed 175. When I got out in '20 it was 185. Today it's 235, and the doctor says some of it has to come off. I feel it when I'm in my garden."

What sort of a garden did he have?

"Hundreds of tulips, and white Scuppernong vines—I guess you call them white grapes. My wife and I have put in peach and cherry trees, that's where I spend most of my time. I only go to my business—I'm in the liquor business—for about an hour a day."

Scarcely true I thought could be those stories about the illiterate Joe Jackson who came out of the Carolina back country as a bare-

White Sox Rout Dizzy Dean and Defeat Chicago Cubs, 18-13

Yanks Bow To Dodgers; Reiser Hurt

Derringer in Form As Reds Win Over Bosox; Hubbell Stars For N. Y. Giants

By the Associated Press

Wichita, Kans., April 10.—Chicago's White Sox got to Dizzy Dean for five hits, five walks and six runs in two innings today and then went on to wallop the Cubs, 18 to 13, in another of their free-hitting exhibitions.

The cross town rivals added five more homers to their imposing total which in their last six games has reached 37—22 by the Bruins and 15 by the Sox.

Joe Kuhel got two for the Sox today and Dom Dallessandro two for the Cubs. Lou Novikoff also connected for the National Leaguers who open a three-game series in Chicago tomorrow with a 6-to-5 game advantage over their rivals.

Dodgers Beat Yanks

Wilmington, Del., April 10 (AP).—Pete Reiser, hard-hitting young outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, pulled a muscle in his back in the eighth inning today as the Dodgers beat the New York Yankees, 3 to 2.

A physician said Reiser suffered only a wrenched muscle, but that he would need to rest three or four days. The injury came within 24 hours after Peewee Reese, Brooklyn's star shortstop, had hurt his heel in an exhibition at Baltimore.

The triumph today was the Dodgers' eleventh straight and fourth in a row over the Yankees.

Reds Down Bosox

Cincinnati, April 10 (AP).—Backing up superb hurling by Paul Derringer and Jim Turner with devastating power at the plate, Cincinnati's world champion Reds won, 5 to 2, from Boston's Red Sox today to close the clubs' preseason series with an 8-7 advantage.

Big Paul, hinted starter in next Tuesday's opener, appeared in July form in yielding three hits over his five-frame route. Two of them came in the fourth when Left Fielder Stan Spence singled and crossed the plate on Bobby Doerr's double.

Durable Mike Ryba scattered five of his nine hits effectively and until the sixth, the Reds were able to do business only in the third, when Eddie Joost doubled and scored on Jim Gleeson's single. In the sixth, successive doubles by Bill Werber and Frank McCormick and Ernie Lombardi's single netted two, with a triple by Harry Craft wasted.

Hubbell in Form

Charleston, W. Va., April 10 (AP).—Carl Hubbell and Joe Moore, two veterans who had been relegated to inconspicuous places in the 1941 outlook of the New York Giants, earned a second chance today by shutting out the Cleveland Indians, 2 to 0.

Hubbell wafted his screwball past the Indians for seven innings, fanning five and allowing only four scattered hits. Only two men reached second. Moore drove in both the Giants' runs, first with a long fly in the second inning, and later with a triple in the ninth.

A's Lose to Pirates

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 10 (AP).—A ringing double by Rookie Edward Perry Stewart in the last of the ninth, with two men out, scored Bob Elliott today with the run which gave Pittsburgh its second straight victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 10 to 9.

The game was a see-saw affair, with Maurice Van Robays delivering two home runs for the Pirates and Bob Johnson two for the A's, making three for him in two days.

Bill Lee's Salary Talk Leaves Him a Holdout

Associated Press WIREPHOTO

By the Associated Press

Chicago, April 10.—The Chicago Cubs and two of their highest salaried stars tightened their battle lines today for what loomed as the most serious holdout "siege" in the club's history.

In a grim, strained atmosphere, Pitcher Bill Lee parted from James Gallagher, Cub general manager, after an hour's conference had failed to settle their salary differences. At the same time Gallagher said he had "heard nothing" from Hank Leiber, the big outfielder who has anchored himself at his ranch near Tucson, Ariz.

Lee, who slumped to a record of 9 wins and 17 defeats last season after winning 22 games in 1938 and 19 in 1939, obviously was unhappy but determined as he left Gallagher.

Started at $15,000

"I started the discussion at $15,000," the tall hurler said. "But Gallagher said his offer was $10,000. Then I offered to pitch for $12,500 if assured I would get the difference between $12,500 and $15,000 if I had a good season. But Gallagher said $10,000. I can't pitch for that."

Asked whether he cared to comment, Gallagher said crisply: "I haven't anything to say." Later he said he would not ask Lee in for a second conference, although the pitcher said he planned to remain here for a few days and hoped to work out at the University of Chicago fieldhouse. He said he weighed 200 pounds, his pitching weight, and was in good shape.

Holds Out 42 Days

Lee and Leiber have been holdouts 42 days, dating back to the opening of training at Catalina Island. The Cubs had offered Lee $12,500—a cut of $5,000 from his 1940 salary—but cut it further to $10,000 when he failed to report at spring camp. Leiber, who hit .302 in 117 games last season—getting 17 homers—has made no move to confer with Gallagher, who said today he "hadn't heard a thing" from the husky blond fly chaser. The Cubs and Pittsburgh open the season here Tuesday.

The Lee-Gallagher controversy apparently has reached an impasse, for the Cub general manager has the backing of Owner P. K. Wrigley, who has let it be known that Gallagher is in the driver's seat. The consensus seems to be that the Cubs could get along without Leiber but would be in a bad way without Lee, who in seven years with the club has won 115 games while losing 87.

Simon-Louis Bout Switched Outdoors

By the United Press

New York, April 10.—Joe Louis probably will defend his heavyweight title outdoors against Abe Simon, it appeared today.

Promoter Mike Jacobs announced that Middleweight Champion Ken Overlin will defend his title against Billy Soose in Madison Square Garden on May 9, the date originally was reserved for the return Louis-Simon fight. Soose and Overlin had been scheduled to meet on May 23.

Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins and Bob Montgomery, of Philadelphia, will meet in the Garden on May 16 in a ten-round nontitle fight. On May 23 Anton Christoforidis and Gus Lesnevich will fight 15 rounds in the Garden. They originally were scheduled to meet there on June 12.

East Potomac Host Today To Golf Stars

Jimmy Thomson and George Dawson, two of the low scorers in the British matches here yesterday, will stay over for an informal exhibition match at East Potomac this morning at 10 o'clock.

Thomson and Manager Tommy Doerer, jr., will take on Dawson and Cliff Spencer, host pro, in an 18-hole best-ball encounter. The public is invited.

Doerer announced following the matches yesterday that Gene Sarazen has promised him a visit at East Potomac on Sunday, June 15. Sarazen and Fred McLeod will pair against Doerer and Spencer late in the afternoon.

Dawson and Thomson were the only ones of the six visiting stars to remain here. Ferrier and his wife left immediately after the match for Chicago, where he will assume his new pro duties at the Elmhurst Club.

Sport Writers Pick Yanks And Indians

By the Associated Press

New York, April 10.—Eighty-three sports writers can't be wrong, but more than half of them are going to be when the 1941 American League race has been completed. No matter which team wins, the voters for that team in the Associated Press poll among sports scribes in major league cities will be outnumbered by those who picked some other team to come home first.

In contrast to last year, when 66 of 77 voters picked the Yankees, this year there is a virtual deadlock between the Yanks and the Cleveland Indians. Only four voters failed to name one or the other for first place.

The Indians drew one more first-place vote than the Yankees—40 to 39, but on a point basis, based on eight points for first, seven for second, etc., the Yankees edged out the Tribe, 612 to 611.

Tigers Draw Two Votes

The champion Detroit Tigers drew only two first-place votes, and the Chicago White Sox and the—surprise—St. Louis Browns, one each.

The Yankees were picked no lower than third in any selection. The Indians were picked for fourth by one voter, the others conceding the Tribe would finish 1-2-3. Detroit, however, was picked for the first six places, with 20 scribes shoving the champions down to fourth.

The Boston Red Sox boom apparently has faded, as they are moved out of the first division in favor of the White Sox. One optimist picked Boston for second, but most of the votes were for fourth place on down through seventh.

Not Rated Good

The Philadelphia Athletics were rated no better than sixth by any voter, while the Washington Senators, although polling more last-place votes than any other club, were rated as high as fourth by at least one expert.

Simmered down, the vote reveals that the scribes vision a two-club race, with the other six teams in a free-for-all for what's left.

The point total of the clubs:

New York, 612; Cleveland, 611; Detroit, 583; Chicago, 377; Boston, 363; St. Louis, 268; Washington, 138; Philadelphia, 136.

E. Dusek Defeats Bockwinkle In Arena Wrestling Match

Ernie Dusek defeated Warren Bockwinkle in the top bout of the wrestling show at Turner's Arena last night before a crowd of 1,600 fans who grew restive before the termination of hostilities.

In a reversal of last week's casting, Dusek was the villain in the scuffle last night and he worked the entire match on the theory that cheating may not win, but it certainly helps a lit. From the opening whistle Ernie threw the dictionary of foul tactics at the hapless Bockwinkle who had to be assisted from the ring after the brawl was over. Gouging, strangling and even biting was in vogue, with Dusek being the chief offender.

During the greater portion of the bout Bockwinkle seemed to have the top hand and Dusek was forced to plead for mercy during several of Bock's toe-to-toe slugging attacks. Dusek gathered his spent forces and threw a series of crotch holds and a body press on Bockwinkle to take the match at the end of 47 minutes.

The Green Hornet took the semi-final from Fred Grobmier in 17 minutes with a back drop. Grobby was the hero, even in defeat, and he had the masked Hornet puffing like a man running uphill in a hurricane as he sought to elude Grobmier's famed stomping attack. The end came while Grobby was clinging to the Hornet's back like the Old Man of the Sea. The cunning Hornet simply rolled over backwards and pinned Grobmier with his bulk while Referee Casey Berger counted him out.

Lou Plummer and Milo Steinborn battled 30 minutes to a draw. Plummer, an accomplished thespian who thrives on the crowd's hate, introduced a piquant note when he crumpled some peanut hulls and fondly massaged the Steinborn puss with them.

Big Len Macaluso won his match from Abe Yourist, of New York, in 17 minutes with a cradle hold.

In the opener, Gama Parker, the Hindu, made Carl Gray yell "uncle" in 20:25 by the application of a crotch hold and body press.

Woman Angler Claims Record Shark Catch

By the Associated Press

Miami, Fla., April 10.—A 647-pound mako shark, claimed as a world record for women anglers, was an entry today in the metropolitan Miami fishing tournament.

Mrs. Emory Ford, of Detroit, boated the big fellow, classified as a game fish, on a 39-thread line after a battle of an hour nad 43 minutes. Reports reaching here said the shark made three tremendous leaps before being brought to gaff.

Mrs. Ford was fishing from the cruiser Osprey, skippered by Eddie Moore out of Cat Cay, Bahamas.

Miss V. G. S. Taylor, of London, holds the listed women's record for mako shark, with a 495-pounder caught in the Bay of Islands, New Zealand, in 1912. It was there also that H. White-Wickam boated the open world record mako, a 798-pounder.

Records here indicated Mrs. Ford's catch was the fourth largest mako shark ever caught, only White-Wickam, author Ernest Hemingway and Michael Lerner bettering it.

The fish was a probable winner of the Duke of Windsor Trophy for the largest catch of any species during the tournament.

The tournament ends April 20.

G. W. High Beats Falmouth Nine, 7 to 6

Alexandria, Va., April 10.—A single run scored by Johnnie Shelton in the ninth inning on a hit, two stolen bases and an error gave George Washington High a 7-6 victory over Falmouth High in the opening game of the season here this afternoon.

Off to a 5-0 lead in the early stages of the game, Pitcher Jimmy Higgins weakened and allowed the visitors to tie up the score at 5-all in the fifth. Each team scored a single run in the sixth, and the score was still deadlocked in the final frame when Shelton singled sharply, stole second and third, and came home with the winning tally on Pitcher Rose's overthrow to third base.

OLD JORDAN
KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

For extra smoothness, extra richness —because it's still made the old-fashioned "slow" way

MEN who know bourbon know what it takes to achieve the delicious extra-smooth, extra-rich taste of our Old Jordan Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

We stick to the old methods that take more time, more care—the "slow" way we started 100 years ago. We still buy premium grains. Use more of them to a gallon. Simmer our mash slowly. But we're in no hurry. That's how we get such extra smoothness, extra richness. That's why Old Jordan—straight whiskey every drop—sells best in the "bourbon country." Yes, Old Jordan costs more to make, but not to drink! So treat yourself to the extra pleasure of Old Jordan.

Greer's Cape Cod Scores in Bowie Feature by Five Lengths

8,000 Fans View Races; Winner Pays $8.10; Jockey Smith Rides 3-Year-Old

By Walter Haight

A Staff Correspondent

Bowie, Md., April 10.—G. C Greer's Cape Cod ran one of his best races today to turn back seven other 3-year-olds in the 6-furlong event that topped the Thursday program here in Prince Georges County. The black colt, a son of Bostonian, made no mistakes under the handling of Jockey Glen Smith and romped to the imaginary wire five lengths ahead of the nearest opposition, in this case Mrs. H. S. Horkheimer's Real Value. Two lengths farther back came H. M. Babylon's Becomly to be third.

Cape Cod had a fair backing in the crowd of 8,000 and returned $8.10 for each $2 investment. His time of 1:14 was good over this fast but slightly deep track. The program was conducted under the best of Bowie spring conditions.

Becomly broke on top but was soon accompanied by Cape Cod. In the run to the first turn, Cape Cod took a half length lead and Real Value moved up beside Becomly. Smith steadied the leader on the trip to the stretch and Becomly dropped back. Jockey Sterling Young, on Real Value, shook up his mount and that was the signal for Smith to rally Cape Cod. The colt responded and drew out to a long advantage through the straightaway.

Double Returns $35.80

A favorite and a horse with a scattered backing figured in a $35.80 pay-off in the daily double. Witness Stand, owned by C. W. Shaw, jr., won the first race by hopping to the front at once and staying there to defeat Pete's Bet by a length in the usual 2-year-old dash of a half-mile. Third money in the field of eight went to The General. Pete's Bet ran out at the stretch turn and then closed gamely but too late to collar the winner which paid $4.60.

J. B. Partridge's No Ending, paying a $17.10 mutuel, won the second race in a photo finish from Schley Goree, of half-mile fame. Miss Maker was third in the field of a dozen sprinters. Boston Mary was a heavily-played favorite in the race but she went very lame and had to be pulled up. She finished last. Jockey G. Smith rode the winner.

Cleveland 'Y' Wins

The Cleveland Park Y. M. C. A. nine opened its season with a 5-to-4 victory over the Cleveland Clippers yesterday on Hearst Field. Richard Gravely pitched for the winners and fanned 11. To the winners went 10 tickets to the opening game on Monday.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ONE TIP, $3.30, $2.20, $2.30; CHALCOLITE, $2.60, $2.60; WOODBUCK, $4.50.

ONE TIP, much the best, was steadied in the early stages, responded boldly when asked for speed to take command and drew out without effort. CHALCOLITE cut in front of horses at the first turn to take the lead, drew clear, was no match for the winner, but was best of the others. WOODBUCK was unprepared for the start and was off poorly, but showed a good effort. GOLDEN MOWLEE ran out at the first turn, moved up and then weakened.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs (chute). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gate. Won easily; place driving. Went to post at 4:01½. Off at 4:03. Winner, G. C. Greer's blk. c. (3), by Bostonian—Little Lie. Trained by B. B. Archer. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:14.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CAPE COD, $8.10, $4.70, $2.50; REAL VALUE, $4.00, $2.40; BECOMLY, $2.30.

CAPE COD withstood early challenges from BECOMLY and REAL VALUE to draw out and won with some speed in reserve. REAL VALUE was off slowly, went to contention boldly, but was no match for the winner while closing gamely. BECOMLY was hard used early and weakened. STAR CHARTER closed full of run from a sluggish beginning.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:30. Winner, H. G. Bedwell's b. g. (6), by Sickle—Zephyretta. Trained by H. G. Bedwell. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:48⅘.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TRANSMITTER, $10.80, $6.00, $3.60; IDA ROGERS, $6.20, $3.80; HAREBELL, $4.40.

TRANSMITTER, allowed to settle into his best stride and a trailer early, worked his way to serious contention at the far turn and came gamely to wear down IDA ROGERS in the concluding sixteenth. IDA ROGERS set a good pace and held on gamely in the stretch drive. HAREBELL closed with good energy. THE KNIGHTESS had no excuses.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 4:56. Off at 4:56. Winner, G. J. McCurry's b. g. (6), by Pharos—Taque. Trained by R. Troxler. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 1:58.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CUCKOO, $9.80, $3.40, $2.90; MONEY MUDDLE, $2.80, $2.50; BREEZING ALONG, $3.80.

CUCKOO, rated closest to the pace of TYR, took command when called upon, drew out, but had to be put to pressure to hold MONEY MUDDLE safe. The latter could not keep up early, worked his way to contention on the outside and closed gamely, but could not menace the winner seriously. BREEZING ALONG saved ground and hung in the final drive. KNOXVILLE was a forward factor until tiring in the stretch run.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 5:20. Off at 5:20½. Winner, W. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ACTRESS, $17.40, $4.50, $2.80; SUN FOX (entry), $2.70, $2.30; HOWARD, $3.00.

ACTRESS, steadied along in the first flight, took command when placed to a drive approaching the stretch and held SUN FOX safe in the closing drive. SUN FOX, within striking distance from the start, saved ground entering the stretch to move up menacingly and hung in the final drive. HOWARD, off slowly, was forced to weave between horses early and hung at the end. EASTER HOLIDAY moved up on the outside with good energy and weakened suddenly.

Redskins Sign Dick Meyers

The Washington Redskins yesterday acquired the services of Dick Meyers, 250-pound tackle from Eastern Washington College of Cheney, Wash.

Meyers is the nineteenth player to come to terms for the coming campaign. He is 22 years old and stands 6 feet 3 inches tall.

Meyers comes to the Redskins highly recommended by coaches of the Northwest. Besides being a big bruising tackle, he is said to be exceptionally fast for his weight. Coach Red Reese, of Eastern Washington College, says that Meyers played his best ball against the toughest competition.

During his junior and senior year he was chosen all-Washington intercollegiate tackle and was team captain in 1940.

Selections at Bowie

Dear Al:

Walter Haight makes his racing debut today. As has been written before, the colt was foaled on Walter Haight's birthday, April 11, 1939, and makes his debut on his second anniversary and Haight's forty-second. As is natural, the colt carries high weight of 118 pounds. The stewards say that the reason for the small field (only six were named) is because Walter Haight is so broad that there wouldn't be room for more horses. Somebody suggested that they were all afraid of the colt. Well, anyway, he is No. 1 post position and one of the press box wise crackers says this is the only time he ever will be on top. Of course, being a little close to Walter Haight, the pounds, I'm going to play $2 on him if I can raise that much by post time. However, he is green as the infield grass and what he will do remains to be seen. He has broken out of the starting gate three times and improved on each occasion. He is small and chubby. His pap was Mowlee. Alen Clarke's stallion which died a year ago. His mama is Nora's Grace, who was something of a queen on the half-milers some years back. Walter Haight is stabled over at the half-mile pole, where this race starts. He will be running away from his dinner when he leaves the gate and for that reason he may not leave that spot. I might get Jake to stand on the rail near the finish line and wave a bunch of carrots. That might give him an incentive. But win, lose or dead heat, they will have to carry his name in the charts from coast to coast. The press box boys pulled some honeys in their comments on him in selections. One was "Fugitive from Jimmy Lake's," another was "What next?" And another was "Name story him." We shall see what we shall see. BILL

First Race—ABOUT FACE was a fast closing second in that previous race. Needs only to run back to that effort to defeat this gang. CHAFFER is a royally-bred filly from the W. L. Brann barn. WALTER HAIGHT probably will need racing education.

Second Race—IRISH MOON, second twice at the meeting, comes back after a rest to meet his kind. The weight is right and he needs only intelligent handling. RAZACIA has been showing fair form and belongs high with these. BLABLAH, when right, can whip this kind.

Third Race — DRIFT ALONG comes from the Bedwell barn and seems to have the right brand of opposition in this. I see no reason for mistakes. NILON may come up a good thing. Has been threatening. MISS FIXIT likes the track.

Fourth Race — MATCH POINT just missed in that last. Seems well placed among these Maryland foals and any price will be a good one. RED JACK may be good. COUNTY CORK has trained well over this track and should be right there.

Fifth Race—HAPPY HUNTING had poor racing luck last out and almost overcame it to win. Promises to improve off that effort and looks like a good betting proposition. BARRYMORE stumbled leaving the gate last out. Carries high weight but must be respected. GINO BEAU for the minor award.

Sixth Race—KIMESHA rallied in the stretch last out and finally hung in the last sixteenth. Probably needed that as a sharpener and I'm going to string along today. BROOKIE BOY won last out and will be a factor this time. REMOLEE promises to make a money appearance.

Seventh Race—OUR FLORENCE bit off more than she could chew last out. Seems better placed in this field and I see no reason for mistakes. STINGALING had a rough trip in that recent try and is dangerous. HERE AGAIN to take care of the others.

Eighth Race—CLINGENDAAL is the class of the day's finale and seems best of the small field. UVALDE won here and will be in the thick of contention. DARK MAY also showed excellent form in a local race and will be a keen factor.

Best Bet—OUR FLORENCE.

CLOCKER MIKE'S BOWIE SELECTIONS

1—About Face, Very Graceful, Chaffer.
2—Razacla, Blablah, Irish Moon.
3—Jeanny, Dorothy Pomp, Happy Hostess.
4—County Cork, Broomoria, Match Point.
5—Barrymore, Riding Light, Happy Hunting.
6—Black Boo, Part One, Remolee.
7—Here Again, Matab, Our Florence.
8—Count Maurice, Addis, Clingendaal.
Best bet—Black Boo.

Episcopal High Trackmen Defeat Central by Two Points

1-Mile Relay, Final Event, Is Decisive

Herbert Wins Three Events for Victors; Dunn Is Central's High Point Scorer

Special Dispatch to The Post

Alexandria, Va., April 10.—Offsetting a two-point deficit with a decisive victory in the mile relay, the final event of the day, Episcopal High School trackmen opened their season in successful style here this afternoon by turning back Central High School's Vikings, 67 2-3 to 59 1-3.

The teams contested on even terms throughout the meet, and the lead changed hands almost with every event until, going into the relay, Central led, 59 1-3 to 57 1-3. Episcopal's veteran quartet, composed of Allen, Hopkins, Dodson and Herbert, won the event by a comfortable margin.

Episcopal took eight first places, including its victory in the relay, while the Vikings won six events. The Washingtonians took all three places in the javelin throw, but the Maroons offset that advantage by scoring a clean sweep in the broad jump.

Herbert, of Episcopal, took high-scoring for the afternoon by winning the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and the broad jump, and running the anchor position on the winning relay team. Dunn paced the Vikings, taking first place in the 440-yard run; placing second in the 100 and third in the 220.

100-YARD DASH—Won by Herbert (E.); second, Dunn (C.); third, Adams (C.). Time, 0:10.7.

220-YARD DASH—Won by Herbert (E.); second, Adams (C.); third, Dunn (C.). Time, 0:23.9.

440-YARD DASH—Won by Dunn (C.); second, Hopkins (E.); third, Sampston (C.). Time, 0:53.2.

880-YARD RUN—Won by Lentz (C.); second, Minninger (E.); third, Waldrop (E.). Time, 2:8.7.

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Todd (E.); second, Williams (E.); third, Heller (C.). Time, 0:17.1.

MILE RUN—Won by Diotti (C.); second, Lentz (C.); third, Hallrock (E.). Time, 4:55.9.

HIGH JUMP—Won by Roberts (C.); second, Tucker (C.); third, tie, Semmes (E.), Brothart (E.), High (C.). Height, 5 ft. 6 in.

POLE VAULT—Won by Semmes (E.); second, Tucker (C.); third, Jettmar (C.). Height, 11 ft. 6¾ in.

SHOT PUT—Won by Kurz (C.); second, McGrath (C.); third, Barringer (E.). Distance, 45 ft. 8 in.

DISCUS THROW—Won by Stewart (E.); second, Houston (E.); third, Chacos (C.). Distance, 103 ft. 4 in.

BROAD JUMP—Won by Herbert (E.); second, Semmes (E.); third, Barclay (E.). Distance, 19 ft. 5¼ in.

JAVELIN THROW—Won by Lavinder (C.); second, Adams (C.); third, Kurz (C.). Distance, 148 ft. 2 in.

MILE RELAY—Won by Episcopal (Allen, Hopkins, Dodson, Herbert). Time, 3:40.3.

G.W. Netmen Lose To Richmond, 7-2

Davey Johnsen and Bus Fleming, his doubles partner, were still the only winners as George Washington's tennis team bowed to the University of Richmond, 7-2, yesterday at Columbia Club, Johnsen beat Bill Snyder, 6—1, 6—1, then paired with Fleming to whip Snyder and Shackleford, 6—1, 6—4.

G. W.'s outfit, still deprived of practice because of a wet spring, faces Boston College tomorrow on the Columbia courts.

Singles

Johnsen (G. W.) defeated Snyder, 6—1, 6—1; Shackelford (Rich.) defeated Zeller, 6—2, 6—0; Jones (Rich.) defeated Fleming, 6—3, 3—6, 6—4; Gordon (Rich.) defeated Lefschultz, 6—0, 6—3; Croxton (Rich.) defeated Gee, 6—0, 6—3; Philips (Rich.) defeated Mann, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2.

Doubles

Johnsen and Fleming (G. W.) defeated Snyder and Shackleford, 6—1, 6—4; Jones and Gordon (Rich.) defeated Mann and Zeller, 6—3, 6—4; Croxton and Philips defeated Newell and Lefschultz, 6—3, 6—1.

Hamilton, James In Squash Finals

Lieut. T. J. Hamilton, of the Naval Air Station, and R. H. James, of the Naval Academy, won their semi-finals matches yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. in the District A. A. U. Squash Racquets Championships.

Hamilton's hard-driving style outsteadied the corner-shot game of Edward Adelsheim of the Y in a long, hard-fought match. The score by games was 15 to 12, 15 to 17, 15 to 13, 17 to 15. James, crafty ace player from Annapolis, defeated Nat Rogg of the Y in straight games, 15 to 12, 15 to 8, 15 to 10.

Today Hamilton and James play in the finals, and Adelsheim and Rogg are matched together in play for the third-place bronze medal.

Angott's Manager Sets Fight Date

Louisville, Ky., April 10 (AP).—Charley Jones, manager of Sammy Angott, the National Boxing Association's lightweight champion, said today the Louisville Italian would make the first defense of his title at Flint, Mich., June 21 against an opponent yet to be selected.

Jones said he had signed articles for the bout.

Sammy will meet Dave Castilloux in a nontitle bout here Derby eve, May 2.

Jim Ferrier Leads Scores In Golf Play

the third hole, came to Dawson's help with two birdies and a par on the third hole.

Spencer played 18 holes without a birdie but four times came through with pars while Thomson was out. McLeod posted a well-played 74, but halved his partner, Sarazen, on 14 of the 18 holes, and thus could not get through with any help. Burton, cochairman of the event, was off his game and was no help to Ferrier.

The fans who were intent on watching the driving prowess of the individuals in the last foursome found that when they all let out it was Thomson by some 25 yards. The husky, tousle-haired professional carried his drive on the fifth hole into a trap just short of the green on the 346-yard par 4, the longest poke of the day.. When they all hit good balls, it was Thomson on top, Spencer by a shade over Heafner and Cox just a step back.

The putting treat of the day came on the tenth green, when Wiffy Cox holed a 40-footer for a par 3, Thomson trickled in a 35-footer for his second deuce in a row and Heafner followed by rolling in a 20-foot putt. Thomson also knocked in consecutive birdie putts of 4 and 20 feet on the sixteenth and seventeenth.

Ferrier made his first par on the fourth hole, an inauspicious start to a great round. He was over the first green and took three from the edge of the third for bogeys, sandwiching a birdie on the second. He missed the long sixth in regulation figures and went over par but birdied five and eight with sizable putts.

Aussie Amazes Again

Starting back, Ferrier played six amazing holes. He canned a seven-footer for a two on 10 and barely missed a birdie on 11. He rolled one in from 25 feet on 12, parred 13 and then knocked long approach shots dead to the pin on the next two holes. He grazed the hole for still another birdie on 16 and with par for a 65 trapped his second against the wind on 17 for a bogey and finished with a nice par on 18.

Sarazen and Smith, the former conspicuously without his conventional knickers and the latter taking dressing honors for the day in his usual immaculate style each played fine golf, nothing spectacular but consistently good. Dawson, not very well known here but one of the top amateurs for years, pleased the second foursome followers with his great iron play.

With CONSIDINE

In Which Your Correspondent Loses a Bet

New York, April 10.—What interests you today in this sorry world?

Baseball?—Well, it interests me at the moment. I lost ten bucks the day before yesterday when Bill Terry put Hank Danning back behind the plate, thus ending one of the cheerless leader's noblest experiments. I bet Abraham Lyman, the red-hot sports fan who occasionally takes time out to lead a band, that Danning would start the season in the outfield and play at least half of it there. Two more co-makers and I'll be able to raise the cash to pay him.

CONSIDINE

Jack Lait, the reformed baseball writer, was about the first fellow we met who said Danning would never stay in the outfield. He pointed out that Danning differs physically from Hank Greenberg, who successfully made the switch, in that he hasn't any of Greenberg's muscular ease, or balance, or speed or whatever that nameless thing is that gives one ball player class and dexterity and yet skips the next player. Danning recognized his shortcomings and hoped to make up for his lack of speed and offset the low trajectory of his throwing arm by getting the ball away from him quickly, as if he were trying to catch a stealing runner. He liked the idea of an outfield job because it promised to prolong his baseball career, and stay the hour of the inevitable paycut which old ball players must take. But he just couldn't make it. Joe DiMaggio.

P. S. Is Terry desperate?

Louis Slipping—But Not Far Enough

Boxing?—Joe Louis may be slipping, or maybe it's a mirage. He's only 26 and has taken better care of himself than most fighters. I thought some time ago that he was beyond his prime. But it's hard to say so with any certainty. His style is changing. It is much more conservative than it was against the Carneras, Baers, Schmelings, Braddocks, etc. It is changing because men are fighting him differently. They stoop down until there is nothing for him to hit except the top of their hard heads. He has to fight differently against that sort of defense. He must wait and wait for an opening, and take care not to hurt his hands on their skulls. And while he's doing that he isn't the same fighter that he was (and might possibly be again) against the stand-up style of opponent.

Whether he's slipping or not, he's still tops by a good margin, and he's still the fairest, cleanest fighter I ever saw. Arthur Donovan told us the other day that in 16 fights as Louis' referee he had never seen him clinch, nor break a rule or resort to any of the seamy roughhouse, thumb-sticking of a lot of his honored predecessors.

Tennis?—It is difficult to keep tab on the outcome of the Budge-Tilden, Marble-Hardwick tour, for the boys and girls get around the country with the rapidity and impartiality of a rassling troupe. But the most recent check-up shows that Don Budge has won 28 of the 33 matches he has played against wear-proof-Willie.

Alice Marble had won 38 of the 40 matches against the British girl who is her opponent. The turnouts have been good, but not quite as good as expected. However, with her tennis, dress designing, radio and other work, Alice will make about $50,000 this year—which news will bring a yelp of pain from the Messrs. Buck Newsom, Joe DiMaggio, Sammy Baugh, Craig Wood, etc.

Golf's Hall of Fame a Hit

Golf?—You can't beat those selections for the first four places in golfdom's hall of fame, to be erected at the Augusta (Ga.) National Course. Francis Ouimet, Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen made golf our national participation sport. Ouimet took it out of the country club class in 1913 when, hardly out of poor-boy caddy ranks, he turned back the great Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, of England, and won the U. S. Open. Jones made it glittering, during the dazzling twenties. Hagen gave it a good-natured colorful Babe Ruthish flavor. Sarazen's little bully-boy air gave it toughness and removed the last retarding vestiges of its fancy-pants origin.

Pro football?—All of us bleacherites, experts and second guessers who bray at the blunders of the big league football team owners now have a chance to show our wares. All we have to do is buy the Cleveland Rams' franchise for $150,000, find a new town, new stadium, go $100,000 more in hock to guarantee 1941 salaries—and buy a gun to shoot the first sucker who tries to tell us how to run our business.

100 Players Out for Team At Fort Dix

By the Associated Press

Fort Dix, N. J., April 10.—Positions on an all-Forty-fourth Division baseball team were at stake today as 100 diamond aspirants worked out under Capt. Frank G. Hartleroad.

Among the candidates were Privates Robert North, of the 119th Ordnance Company, former catcher for the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers of the American League; John Windzigl, of Battery B, 165th Field Artillery, former pitcher for Cambridge in the Eastern Shore League, and Walter Singer, erstwhile baseball and football star at Syracuse University and later an end on the New York Giants football team.

Capt. Hartleroad plans to slice the squad to 25 players when the season gets under way.

Wants Players

The Petworth A. C. would like a right-handed pitcher, a shortstop and an outfielder. Call RAndolph 5026 after 6.

Eddie Payne Leads Bowlers In Petworth Pin League

Harbour Paces D. C. Government Scores; Bill Bowers Leads Team at Arlington

Eddie Payne's 154 and 419 counts were the bright spots in the Petworth meet at Frank Furman's drives with Bill Jawish Service Station quintet winning the team highs after pinfalls of 639 and 1,816. Sollers is on top with 52-29, with City Awning and Bill Jawish three and four games behind, respectively. Lou Jenkins is top average man with 124-47.

GOVERNMENT

Harbour's 162 top single game in the D. C. Government League at Brookland Recreation enabled his Public Schools quintet to win all the team honors after pinfalls of 629 and 1,731. Marty Alexander, Sewer Department, was the best man for set with a 395 total that aided in his team taking three from Police No. 2.

ARLINGTON

Bill Bowers, Arlington Pharmacy, made it possible for his quintet to take team highs with 585—1,635 with his own individual top scores of 135—376 and win all three from the Independents as well. The Arlington Pharmacy quintet tops them all in this Arlington Bowling Center League with Sher & Cohen Market the runner-up.

SILVER SPRING

Florence Douglas, Hilltop Market, and Miss Thomas, Kay-Rene, tied for top single with 133 each in the Silver Spring Ladies League at Hugh Arbaugh's drives while the latter finished stronger to win top set honors with a nice 337 count. The Brookville Carries quintet captured team top totals with 538 and 1,510 and defeated the leading Silver Spring Standard girls 3-0. Hendricks Service also won all three games from their opponents, Logan Motors.

HEBREW LEAGUE

Julie Singer, Youdie's Men's Shop, once more was the best pinman in the Hebrew League for his top counts of 159, 410 led his team in a sweep over Hayman's Cash Registers and highs of 592 and 1,710 as well. Madisa leads the league, with Youdie's one game in the rear and Hayman's third.

G. A. O. LEAGUE

Norman Simpson, Check Section No. 2, was high man of the G. A. O. League at Convention Hall for his high single of 147 and set of 398 was the boost his team needed in winning all three from Chief Clerks. The R. & S. quintet was best for high team game after a 633 pinfall.

TAXI LEAGUE

Pop Coleman, Yellow Cab, sparked his team to a sweep over the D. C. Mutual boys in the D. C. Taxi League at Brookland Recreation with his top single of 153, but the District League star, Eddie Keith, won the high set for his Bell Cab boys with a 385 count. The Diamond Senators were best as a team as their 617 game and 1,687 set were tops. Bell Cab leads with 45-24, while Arrow is four games behind.

Hoya Linksmen Defeat Penn, 6 to 3

Minus three regular players, due to illness and absence, Georgetown University's golf team still proved too good for the University of Pennsylvania linksmen yesterday, winning, 6-3, over the Bannockburn course. The match was not a regularly scheduled Eastern League encounter.

Jack Donohue, the Omaha youngster who was runner-up in the District Amateur last year, went over par on the last hole, but still finished with a 68, two under par, and beat Bill Crosson, 5 and 4, in the No. 3 match.

Bunnell, Penn, defeated Sharker, Georgetown, 1 up; Meyer, Georgetown, defeated Markle, Penn, 2 and 1. Best ball—Pennsylvania, 1 up.

Donohue, Georgetown, defeated Crosson, Penn, 5 and 4; Harris, Georgetown defeated Uphouse, Penn, 5 and 3. Best ball—Georgetown, 5 and 3.

Holligan, Georgetown, defeated Nurbut, Penn, 2 and 1; Muend, Penn, defeated Ghecas, Georgetown, 1 up. Best ball—Georgetown, 1 up.

Softball Teams to Meet At Westbrook School

Softball teams, representing four suburban areas in Northwest Washington will meet at 8 p. m. tonight in the Westbrook School, Baltimore and Massachusetts Avenues, to organize a league.

Green Acres, Glencoe, Brookdale and Westmoreland Hills will be represented. However, Curtis J. Ireland, who announced the meeting, said yesterday that other teams in that section of the city will be invited to become members of the new league.

Business Loans Of Banks Soar To 10-Year Top

The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday that the defense program has caused the largest rise in business loans of banks in nearly a decade.

"Perhaps the most striking banking development in recent months has been the sharp rise in commercial loans at banks to the highest level in nearly a decade," said the board's monthly bulletin.

"Banks have shown a rapid expansion in their commercial loans, a large proportion of which have been made to firms filling defense contracts.

The board added, however, that idle funds in the banks were still unusually large and that "banks throughout the country have ample funds available to meet any further needs that may arise."

Although Nationwide figures were not available, the rise in business loans, the board said, has amounted to about $1,000,000,000 in 101 leading cities during approximately the last 12 months.

During most of this time expansion of business loans occurred generally throughout the country, but more recently there "has been an acceleration in the rate of growth in commercial loans at banks in New York City and in other northern and eastern cities, where the heavier defense industries are concentrated, while the growth has slackened at banks in southern cities."

One reason for the availability of more funds for defense and other loans, the board said, was a steady rise in bank deposits. In mid-March, the board estimated, the total of bank deposits and currency in circulation had reached a record high of $72,000,000,000. This figure was $15,000,000,000 larger than the high point before the depression.

D. C. Agent Leads Area

David Samakow, of the Washington branch of New York Life Insurance Co., made an outstanding record in March by being the leading agent in the entire Atlantic department of the company in volume of paid business and number of paid applications.

Delegates Leave Tonight

Delegates to the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Winston-Salem to be held tomorrow night in the North Carolina metropolis will leave today by train at 10.35 p. m. A large delegation from Baltimore will accompany the local group which will be headed by Edward C. Baltz, secretary of the Perpetual Building Association and vice chairman of the bank board, and F. Willson Camp, secretary of the District of Columbia Building and Loan League.

The business meeting Saturday will be followed by a dinner with Henry A. Wallace, Vice President of the United States, as guest speaker.

Hotel Committee Named

William B. Willard, vice president of the National Savings & Trust Co., has been appointed chairman of the hotel committee for the convention of the District of Columbia Bankers Association to be held in early June at Hot Springs, Va., it was announced today by A. M. McLachlen, president of the association. John Saul, executive vice president of the American Security & Trust Co., was named vice chairman.

Other members of the committee are David Bornet, Aubrey O. Dooley, W. Frank D. Herron, F. E. Hildebrand, Edward L. Hillyer, Hilleary G. Hoskinson, C. D. Ratcliffe.

RFC Notes Oversold

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said yesterday an offering of $600,000,000 of Reconstruction Finance Corporation notes, made to the investing public yesterday, "went very well."

He said he had no figures yet on the amount of subscriptions, but indicated they exceeded the amount of available securities by a wide margin.

Acting as the banker of the RFC, the Treasury sold $300,000,000 of ⅞ per cent 1½-year notes and $300,000,000 of 1⅛ per cent 2¼-year notes.

The Secretary said subscriptions were nearly even on both types of securities, with the 1⅛ per cent notes having a "slight preference" among investors.

Brokers' Loans Drop $26,000,000 in Week

By the Associated Press

The Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday that last week's loans to brokers and dealers on securities held by reporting member banks in New York City totaled $344,000,000. The week ended Wednesday and the total represented a decrease of $26,000,000 when compared with the previous week. Loans for the corresponding week a year ago totaled $489,000,000.

Cotton Futures

New York, April 10 (AP).—Vigorous buying for trade account offset war nervousness in the cotton futures market today and active contracts closed 14 to 16 points higher.

Subsidence of professional liquidation and hedge selling was a cue for revival of trade demand. Buying broadened on the recovery, encouraged in part by a general feeling that the recent drop of more than $2 a bale on the adverse news from the Balkans had bolstered the market's internal position.

New York Cotton Exchange Service estimated consumption of all cottons in the United States in March at 840,000 bales, or only a few thousand bales under the all-time high recorded in January.

Delivery problems continued to hold new business in Worth Street at low levels, but the cotton goods price structure was firm throughout.

Exports Wednesday nil. Season so far, 620,476 bales. Port receipts, 7,580. Port stocks, 3,398,916.

Cottonseed Oil

New York, April 10 (AP).—On another sparing advance today cottonseed oil futures prices reached the highest since the summer of 1938.

Closing only a point of two under the tops, the active contracts showed net gains ranging from 23 to 27 points. Transactions were 505 contracts.

Trading sources said the day's wave of buying was touched off by reports of continued heavy absorption of crude cottonseed oil by refining interests. A further sharp rise in lard accentuated bullish sentiment. May closed at 8.75; July, 8.79; September, 8.88; October, 8.91.

Tin Rises

The trade heard that sales of crude oil in the Southeast Wednesday at 7½ cents approximated 1,200,000 pounds, and today refiners were bidding 7¾ cents in the Southeast and Valley, with mills holding firm at 8 cents. In Texas sales were reported at 7.60 and 7.65 cents, compared with 7¼ cents Wednesday.

SEC Approves Revised Plan Of Alleghany

By the Associated Press

Cleveland, April 10.—Alleghany Corporation, top holding company of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway system, today announced Securities and Exchange Commission approval of amendments to a registration statement covering an indenture readjustment plan for Alleghany's three bond issues.

Alleghany said bondholders would be solicited in letters of consent to be mailed next week, and listed these objectives for the plan:

To stabilize collateral behind the 1944s and 1949s, and to provide 'a realistic program" for improving collateral behind the 1950s; to stabilize payment of interest on all three issues; and to enable utilization of surplus cash under the three indentures for purchase and further reduction of the corporation's bonded debt.

As a "special inducement' holders of 1944s may convert them into pledged shares of C. & O. stock at 22 shares per bond prior to February 1, 1943, and at 21 shares after that date. Collateral for the 1944s and 1949s would be stabilized by freezing "substantial amounts" now held under those indentures, but now subject to withdrawal when collateral appreciates to above 150 per cent of the face value of the issue. Holders of "the badly collateralized 1950 issue" are asked to place their bonds on a contingent interest basis.

Rejection by holders of any issue means failure of the plan, Alleghany said, pointing out one of its "principal results" would be termination of two-year-old litigation between Alleghany and three New York banks serving as trustees for the issues.

Steel Shipments Set New Record

New York, April 10 (AP).—Shipments of finished products by subsidiaries of U. S. Steel Corporation in March were the highest in the company's history at 1,720,366 tons.

This compared with February shipments of 1,548,451 tons and 931,905 tons in March, 1940.

The previous high for shipments of finished products was in May, 1929, when the tonnage aggregated 1,701,874.

For the first three months of 1941 shipments totaled 4,951,271 tons, compared with 3,086,753 in the like 1940 period.

N.Y. Test Cases To Decide Fate Of Reich Bonds

By the Associated Press

New York, April 10.—The appellate division of the State Supreme Court today ordered to trial two suits regarded as test cases with a bearing on hundreds of millions of dollars of American money invested in German bonds.

The appellate division reversed a decision of Supreme Court Justice William T. Collins, who had granted the plaintiffs summary judgment against the German Reichsbank (Central Bank). Funds of the bank in New York were attached by Collins' decision, which involved claims totalling $45,451, including interest and principal, invested by the plaintiffs in two issues of German bonds.

The Reichsbank funds were attached when plaintiffs claimed that money to redeem their bonds had been turned over to the bank by the issuers of the obligations.

In reversing Justice Collins, the higher court ruled that "there are issues of fact which can be determined only upon a trial."

American investments in bonds of the German government, states, cities and corporations originally had a face value of about $900,000,000, practically all now in default.

The total now outstanding in the hands of United States citizens is not known, but large amounts have been bought up for German account and repatriated.

The importance of the cases sent to trial today will lie in the judicial determination of the question of whether investors here can lay claim to any assets of the Reichsbank in the United States.

The plaintiffs in the suits were John Roth, with holdings of $35,000 face value of German Central Bank for agriculture bonds, and Mrs. W. T. La Gosh, owner of $3,000 City of Munich bonds.

Big Board Expels Member for Trade On Own Account

New York, April 10 (AP).—The New York Stock Exchange announced today expulsion from membership of Edward W. King, of Butler, N. J.

King, a member of the firm of Chauncey & Co., from May, 1929, to October, 1940, was charged before the governors of the exchange with having assumed for his own account between August, 1930, and November, 1932, certain trades in stocks, without the knowledge of his partners, instead of executing them for the account of his firm.

As a specialist, King had no dealings with the public. He was found guilty of the infraction of exchange rules at a meeting of the governors late yesterday and his expulsion was announced to members from the rostrum of the trading floor this morning by Robert T. Boylan, vice chairman of the exchange.

The exchange later announced the membership of King had been sold for $25,000, unchanged from the previous "seat" sale.

Strike Curtails Rail Loadings

By the Associated Press

The Association of American Railroads reported yesterday that 683,402 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday

This was a decrease of 108,723 cars, or 13.7 per cent (attributed by the association to the coal strike), compared with the preceding week; an increase of 80,567 cars, or 13.4 per cent, compared with a year ago and an increase of 148,450 cars, or 27.8 per cent, compared with 1939.

The drop in totoal loadings caused by the coal strike was substantially more than seasonal.

Living Cost Rises For Fourth Month

New York, April 10 (AP).—The cost of living for wage earners in the United States made its fourth successive monthly advance in March, the National Industrial Conference Board said today.

The board, a private research organization, set the March Index at 86.3 per cent of the 1923 average, up 0.2 per cent over February, and 1.8 per cent over March, 1940.

Rises in the prices of food, clothing and sundries accounted for the advance in the index.

London Stocks

London, April 10 (AP).—War developments, especially the unsettled situation in the Balkans and Middle East, was blamed partly for lower prices in the Stock Exchange today.

In light trading, British funds were mostly ⅛ lower at the close and losses up to ½ ruled in the foreign bond group, including South American and Far Easterns. Egyptian unifieds were off around 3.

Industrials were more or less neglected, but oils were firm and small demand steadied kaffirs at slightly lower levels. The home rail group was under moderate liquidating pressure.

Winter Wheat Crop May Set 3-Year High

By the Associated Press

A winter wheat crop of 616,128,000 bushels—the largest since 1938 and 4.6 per cent larger than last year—was indicated by conditions April 1, the Agriculture department reported today.

Officials said this estimate pointed to a potential supply of about 1,176,000,000 for the coming season. This total was based upon a spring wheat crop tentatively estimated at 180,000,000 bushels, a carryover of 380,000,000 bushels from previous crops and the winter wheat forecast. Domestic demands and exports are not expected to exceed 725,000,000 bushels.

Because of this indicated large surplus, the departent prepared to conduct a Nation-wide farmer referendum, May 31, on a proposal to invoke strict marketing quotas.

The board reported the condition of rye on April 1 was 81 per cent of normal, compared with 69 a year ago, and 76, the ten-year average; and the condition of pasture, 77 per cent, compared with 71 and 74.

Stocks of grain on farms April 1 were reported as follows:

Corn (for grain), 1,180,078,000 bushels, or 54.2 per cent of the previous year's crop, compared with 1,273,015,000 and 54.3 a year ago, and 828,331,000 and 40.9 two years ago.

Wheat, 195,755,000 bushels, or 24.0 per cent, compared with 153,776,000 and 20.5 a year ago, and 130,615,000 and 17.4 two years ago.

Oats, 469,913,000 bushels, or 38.0 per cent, compared with 345,664,000 and 36.9 a year ago, and 373,240,000 and 36.6 two years ago.

Holiday to Close Markets Today

By the Associated Press

Major domestic securities and commodity exchanges will take a holiday today in observance of Good Friday.

The New York cocoa and wool futures markets also will remain closed on Saturday, April 12.

Remaining open, however, are livestock markets and the New York Mercantile Exchange, which will function both days as usual.

In London the stock exchange will operate Friday, close on Saturday, as usual, but will observe a holiday Easter Monday. This action was taken following a request by government authorities that the nation continue its normal activities.

New Record Set In Steel Output

New York, April 10 (AP).—The American Iron & Steel Institute reported today that March steel production set a new record at 7,146,372 net tons, equivalent to 100 per cent of the industry's rated capacity.

The March total was 14 per cent above February's output of 6,250,413 tons and 63 per cent larger than the March, 1940, outturn of 4,390 090 tons.

First quarter production likewise reached a new peak, said the Institute, totaling 20,339,869 tons, an average of 98 per cent of capacity.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, April 10 (AP).—The wheat market's recovery from its relapse that followed the German Balkan invasion continued today, but was restricted by cautious operations due to unwillingness of many traders to extend commitments over the Good Friday holiday.

Gains of as much as 1⅛ cents were registered in the first few minutes of trading. Later, prices slipped back to around the previous close or slightly below, but final figures were ⅛-⅜ higher than yesterday; May, 90⅝@90½; July, 88⅜@89.

Corn closed unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 67⅜. July 67¼; oats unchanged to ¼ up; soybeans 2⅜-3 higher; rye ¼ lower to ¾ higher and lard 25-28 higher.

Most of the buying of wheat was attributed to local and Eastern professional interests, some of whom were covering previous short sales or reinstating lines sold out earlier in the week, and to commercial interests, including transactions in futures to offset flour business. Adjustments of accounts for the holiday in view of the first Government crop report of the year after the close and possibility of far-reaching developments in the Balkans also was in evidence.

Feeble Stock Rally Erased Before Close; Pre-Holiday Trade Moves at Slow Pace

New York, April 10.—Leading stocks put a feeble foot forward in today's early market proceedings but initial fractional rallies were reduced or canceled in many cases at the finish.

Mild recovery symptoms were displayed by some steels and rails in the forenoon. Dealings were so slow, however, that follow-through power was lacking in most cases.

A little nibbling was attributed to short covering for protection over tomorrow's recess—the exchange will be closed for observance of Good Friday—and meager purchasing came in on the theory the list had been oversold despite adverse implications of the Balkan conflict. The labor picture was a trifle brighter and satisfactory business developments aided in stemming the selling tide.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 40.4, the smallest decline of the week. It was the sixth consecutive session in which the composite was on the losing side. Today's closing figures compared with a 1941 high of 45 and a low of 39.8. A year ago the average stood at 50.8. Transfers amounted to 357,230 shares against 584,020 yesterday.

U. S. Steel ended up ¼ of a point as the company announced March shipmen's of finished products established a new peak. Bethlehem, though, was off ¼ and Youngstown Sheet a ful. point.

Santa Fe, Great Northern and N. Y. Central retained minor gains despite today's summary of last week's freight loadings, disclosing a much more than seasonal fall owing mainly to the walk-out in the soft coal mining industry. Early settlement of this dispute was expected to bring a quick rebound in traffic.

Emerging behind minus signs were Chrysler, American Smelting, Montgomery Ward, Douglas, Aircraft, United Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, du Pont, U. S. Gypsum, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison and International Harvester.

Moderately ahead were Sears Roebuck, Goodyear, Woolworth, Glenn Martin, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, Continental Baking "A," Texas Corporation and Westinghouse.

Secondary rails edged forward in a generally diffident bond department. Major commodities were higher. Cotton futures advanced 60 to 80 cents a bale. Wheat at Chicago was up ⅛ to ⅝ of a cent a bushel and corn unchanged to off ⅛.

In a ragged Curb Aluminum of America retreated 1⅛ and lesser recessions were posted for Gulf Oil, American Gas, Brewster Aero and Lake Shore. Improved were American Cyanamid "B," Creole Petroleum, Pantepec, Penroad and Phoenix Securities. The turnover here was around 96,000 shares versus 86,000 Wednesday.

Rail bonds were fairly successful in attempting a comeback today after several days of slipping prices. The balance of the market acted indifferently, however, and the trend was mixed at the close.

Trading dropped off considerably from the recent active pace, the day's business aggregating but $6,248,850, par value, compared with $9,570,500 Wednesday. The Associated Press average of ten low-yield bonds (the high priced group) touched another 1941 low at 112.2, the second time in as many days. Other groups held within a small fraction either way of Wednesday's prices.

Trading in U. S. Governments was quiet on both the stock exchange and over the counter. Prices held generally within small fractions either way of Wednesday's quotations. There was a better inquiry by out-of-town banks for some of the longer term Treasury tax exempts.

SEC Is Cold To Whiting's Survey Plea

By the Associated Press

The Securities Commission took under advisement yesterday a request by the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation that it be permitted to file a statement contending that the SEC was required to make a detailed study of holding company systems before ordering integration steps under the so-called "death sentence."

The statement was offered by Justin R. Whiting, C. & S. president. Declining to admit it without further consideration, Commissioner Robert E. Healy said that the SEC previously had ruled against that contention and indicated that it felt the matter was closed.

Whiting's statement called for the appointment of a "compact committee of representatives of the Government, directed to work with representatives of industry selected by the commission and with outstanding independent engineers and economists also so selected."

"The study should be made by the outstanding economists and engineers of the country rather than by legalistic specialists," Whiting said. "The times are critical. No one can afford to do anything which might make the electric industry less efficient than it now is. Everyone recognizes that the future power supply of this country is vital to our national interests."

He asserted that the carrying out of the integration section of the Holding Company Act should be done on a Nation-wide basis "so that successive individual integrations fall into a design instead of disorder."

Whiting added:

"Simply to dismember and disrupt the present companies now functioning under common ownership through the present holding companies into the separate component parts without common ownership is fraught with grave economic danger to this country in production and utilization of its vital electric energy. The danger that threatens the industry from a planless enforcement of section 11 is disintegration."

Whiting asserted that as a result of publication of the SEC's tentative findings concerning Commonwealth & Southern that the market value of its common stock had dropped to 37½ cents a share in the face of consolidated earnings in January and February at the rate of 6½ cents a share.

Auto Output At Year's Low On Ford Halt

By the Associated Press

Detroit, April 10.—Automotive News, in its weekly survey of automobile production, estimated today that this week's assemblies would total 100,395, which it describes as a new low for the year and due to the halting of operations by the Ford Motor Co.

Last week's output was estimated at 114,500 cars and trucks. A year ago this week assemblies numbered 103,853.

The trade publication placed General Motors' production at 54,580 cars and trucks compared with last week's 53,620. Chrysler output was estimated at 26,775 compared with the previous week's 26,592.

A few Ford branches were reported able to get about one day's operation this week before materials supplied by the Rouge plant were exhausted. Their output, along with the production of the Ford Canadian plant, was placed at a total of 2,450 cars. Last week the Ford aggregate was 17,650.

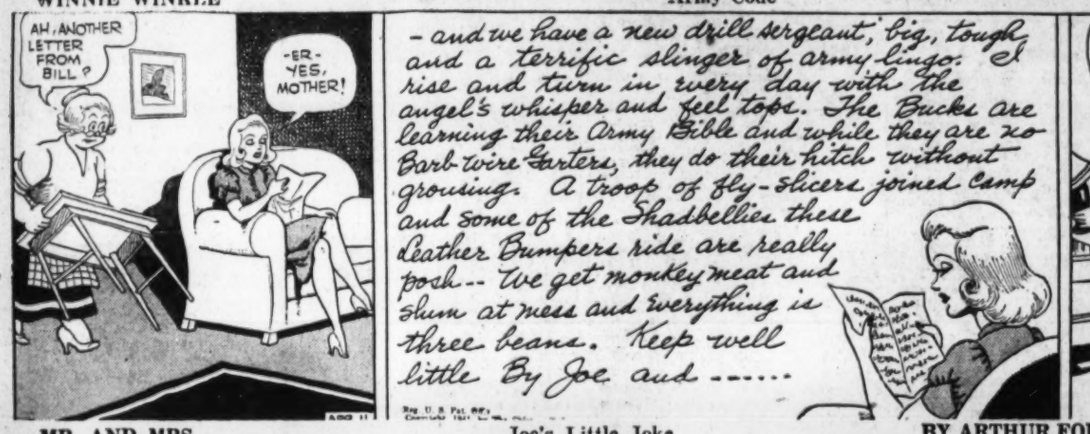
SUPERMAN — Birds of a Feather — BY JERRY SIEGEL AND JOE SHUSTER

YOU WONDER, NO DOUBT, HOW I HAD THE AUDACITY TO SUMMON ALL OF YOU, THE PROMINENT CRIMINALS OF THIS CITY, HERE TONIGHT-- IT'S TO PROVE THAT WE MUST COMBINE TO COMBAT OUR COMMON FOE, THE NEMESIS OF ALL CRIME.
SUPERMAN!
SO THAT'S THE PURPOSE OF THIS MEETING!
PASSED AMONG YOU ARE LEAFLETS DETAILING SUPERMAN'S CRIME-BUSTING FEATS IN THE PAST. IT IS MY CONTENTION, GENTLEMAN, THAT UNLESS THIS IRRESISTIBLE FIGHTING MACHINE IS DESTROYED FIRST, WE ARE ALL DOOMED TO DESTRUCTION!
I HAVE A PLAN TO OFFER, DARING-YET PRACTICAL! IF A FUND OF ONE MILLION DOLLARS COULD BE RAISED AND WERE IT OFFERED AS A REWARD TO WHOEVER SUCCEEDED IN DESTROYING SUPERMAN, HIS DAYS WOULD BE NUMBERED! THE FUND WOULD BE RAISED THRU VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS BY CRIMINALS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD!
IT'S A GREAT IDEA!
SUPERMAN MUST BE DESTROYED!
AND THIS IS THE WAY TO DO IT!

JOE PALOOKA — Ann! — BY HAM FISHER

ANN DEARIST-
JOE--OH MY DARLING--- WHERE ARE YOU CALLING FROM, NEW YORK?
I'M AT THE ARMY FIELD OUT AT MIAMI MUNICIPUL AIRPORT. KIN YOU COME OUT DEARIST?
OHH--IT'S UNBELIEVABLE ---I'LL BE THERE BEFORE YOU CAN SAY BOO--- MY DARLING--- GOOD BYE.
SIR, WOULD IT BE AWRIGHT IF I MET 'ER OUTSIDE THE CAMP---I--UH---
OF COURSE. IT WOULD BE ALL RIGHT IF YOU TOOK A LITTLE RIDE FOR AN HOUR TOO.

WINNIE WINKLE — Army Code — BY BRANNER



AH, ANOTHER LETTER FROM BILL?
-ER- YES, MOTHER!
- and we have a new drill sergeant, big, tough and a terrific slinger of army lingo. I rise and turn in every day with the angel's whisper and feel tops. The Bucks are learning their Army Bible and while they are no Barb-wire Garters, they do their hitch without grousing. A troop of fly-slicers joined camp and some of the Shadbellies these Leather Bumpers ride are really posh-- We get monkey meat and slum at mess and everything is three beans. Keep well little By Joe and -----

EVERYONE TELLS YOU WHAT A RAMSHACKLE HOUSE THIS IS — YET THEY ALL WANT TO BUY IT— WHY?
IT DOES SEEM STRANGE-
BUT UNDER THE WILL IT'S ONLY MINE IF I LIVE HERE —AND WITH NO MONEY, HOW CAN I KEEP IT UP?
YOUR UNCLE HAD PLENTY— WHERE DID HIS MONEY COME FROM?
AND WHERE DID IT GO?
I WISH I KNEW—BUT SINCE IT'S GONE I THINK I'D BETTER MAKE THE BEST DEAL I CAN-
THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT THEY WANT YOU TO DO — REMEMBER THE HATCHET? SOMEONE WAS TRYING TO GET RID OF YOU THEN, TOO—SOMEONE IS PLAYING FOR BLUE CHIPS HERE— IF YOU'LL TAKE MY ADVICE, YOU'LL SIT TIGHT!
I BELIEVE YOU'RE RIGHT— IF YOU'LL HELP ME, I'LL STICK IT OUT!

That Fred Allen is one of the greatest comedians of the age you'll find few, if any, people to deny. And, therefore, when Fred thinks a radio play is one of the funniest he's ever heard it's fairly safe to come right out and say unequivocally that undoubtedly it's very funny.

The play in question is a little thing called "My Client, Curley," written about a year ago by Lucille Fletcher, of the C. B. S. publicity department, and Norman Corwin, C. B. S.'s brilliant young producer, and it was presented on "Columbia Workshop" to all sorts of critical acclaim. Hundreds upon hundreds of letters (honest) came in asking that it be repeated.

And so tonight it's to be given again on "Campbell Playhouse" and you'll hear it over WJSV from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

As we said, Mr. Allen thinks it's a great comedy. So much so that Mr. Allen is going to play the major role in tonight's performance. His part will be that of a theatrical agent whose somewhat peculiar client, Curley, is a dancing caterpillar, whose capers make millions for all concerned. You should know that the play pokes fun at the entertainment world, at publicity and at people in general, all with the best of good nature, and that it's something of a masterpiece of dramatic whimsy.

The sponsors, indeed, think it's so good they're not going to interrupt with any commercials. That should prove something!

Weather Conditions

U. S. Dept. of Commerce, Weather Bureau. Washington, April 10—7:30 P. M.

Forecasts

For the District of Columbia—Partly cloudy and continued mild temperature Friday and Saturday; gentle variable winds becoming moderate southerly Saturday.

For Maryland—Partly cloudy Friday; Saturday partly cloudy in east and central portions, mostly cloudy in mountains; continued mild temperature.

For Virginia—Partly cloudy Friday; Saturday partly cloudy in east and central portions; mostly cloudy followed by occasional light rain in extreme west; continued mild temperature.

Weather Conditions

Relatively stagnant weather conditions with mild temperatures continue over the eastern part of the United States. The disturbance in the western part of the country now appears as a trough along the Rocky Mountains, with lowest pressure reported at Sidney, Nebr., 995.9 millibars (29.41 inches), and at Missoula, Mont., 983.6 millibars (29.34 inches). Strong gusty southerly winds east of this disturbance have brought comparatively warm air into the Great Plains region, while colder air from the Pacific Ocean has entered the country west of the disturbance. Light rains have occurred west of the Rocky Mountains and a few thunderstorms have been reported in the Ohio Valley and in the Middle Atlantic States.

Son James To Wed Nurse Next Week

By the Associated Press

Los Angeles, April 10.—James Roosevelt and Miss Romelle Schneider, his nurse in a Rochester, Minn., hospital in 1938, applied for a marriage license today.

The President's oldest son said they would be married in a civil ceremony early next week, possibly Tuesday. The date depends on his mothers' ability to attend.

(In New York, Mrs. Roosevelt said the wedding probably would be Monday.)

Roosevelt said it had not been decided who would officiate. The ceremony will be performed either at the home of Miss Schneider's mother, Mrs. Agnes Schneider, or at that of a friend.

There will be no honeymoon, Roosevelt explained, because he has standby orders from the Marine Corps, in which he is a reserve captain on active duty at San Diego.

He and his bride will make their home in San Diego.

In view of Miss Schneider's membership in the Roman Catholic Church, there were reports the ceremony would be performed by a priest, and that Jimmy had been receiving instructions in the doctrines of that church.

"James is not a Catholic and is not becoming a Catholic," his mother told reporters in New York.

Roosevelt first met Miss Schneider in the Rochester hospital, where he went for a stomach operation. He said today they have been engaged "for a long time."

She accompanied him to California, where he came to recuperate. She has remained near him. Her sister, Phyllis, has been Roosevelt's secretary since he entered the motion picture business.

They were joined here by their mother, for whom Roosevelt bought a home in Beverly Hills.

It will be Miss Schneider's first marriage and Roosevelt's second. He was divorced from Betsey Cushing Roosevelt a year ago. She was given custody of their two daughters.

Miss Schneider is 25, Roosevelt 33.

Niece's Wedding Tomorrow

Dedham, Mass., April 10 (AP).—The Nation's first family will hail a new bridegroom Saturday in the wedding here of Eleanor Roosevelt, niece of the First Lady, and Edward P. Elliott, son of Mrs. Arthur Spencer Elliott of Brierly, Yorkshire, England.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her son, John, will represent the Presidential family at the marriage of her niece, who is the daughter of Mrs. John Cutter, of Dedham, and G. Hall Roosevelt. Brother of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Miss Roosevelt was presented to Washington society by her aunt following her debut on Thanksgiving Day in 1938 at the Country Club in Brookline. She studied at the Winsor School in Boston and the Cranbrook Academy of Art in Detroit.

President's Son to Wed Nurse

THEY GET THE LICENSE—James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, and Romelle Schneider, who nursed him back to health after an operation in Rochester, Minn., two years ago, applied yesterday for a marriage license in Los Angeles. They plan to wed next week and live in San Diego, where Roosevelt is a captain at the U. S. Marine base

Son James to Be Sent To China and Egypt

Copyright by New York Times

James Roosevelt, son of the President, will leave on April 19 by a transpacific clipper plane on the first leg of a journey which will end in Cairo, it was learned last night from official sources. He will go as an official observer for this Government.

Capt. Roosevelt will go to China, it was stated, and will confer with officials of the Chinese government at Chungking. He is expected also to visit Hong Kong.

From the Orient he will proceed by air to Cairo, with intermediate stops which have not been disclosed.

The sending of the President's eldest son to Cairo coincides with a widespread belief in informed circles that important war developments in that area are expected. Other observers, it was learned, are to be sent to Egypt in the near future by the same route Capt. Roosevelt will follow, except that they are not expected to pause long in China.

It had been planned originally to send Capt. Roosevelt to Yugoslavia as an observer, but it is understood that this plan was abandoned in the face of the rapidity with which events have developed on the Balkan front.

Haste Makes Headache, Oculist Says

Many a Government worker is blaming eyestrain and a defective vision for headaches when the real cause is too much hurry-up, according to the professor of ophthalmology at George Washington University.

That is what Dr. William Thornwall Davis told the postgraduate course in ophthalmology at the G. W. U. medical school yesterday. Lecturing on the painful subject, "Headache," he administered an oral spanking particularly to women workers who rush through breakfast, eat an inadequate lunch so they will have more time for shopping, don't get enough sleep, and then attribute headaches to eye deficiencies.

He pointed out, however, that many cases of eyestrain in Washington undoubtedly are due to faulty office illumination, especially in large rooms where many persons are at work. Lighting in Government offices leaves much to be desired, he declared.

Dr. G. Victor Simpson, also of Washington, described recent improvements in telescopic and contact lenses. The former look like compressed opera glasses and work like regular eyeglasses. Contact lenses are fitted directly to the eyeballs.

Other speakers yesterday, fourth day of the 6-day session, were Dr. Frank Walsh, of Baltimore, who discussed advances in diagnosis and treatment of ocular syphilis, and Dr. James I. Moore, also of Baltimore, whose subject was the use of X-ray and radium in ophthalmology.

Mrs. Small Denies Guilt in Shortage

Mrs. Hattie F. Small, 57, former District dog license clerk, pleaded not guilty yesterday on charges of embezzling approximately $250 from the District government. She was released on a bond of $500.

The total dog tax shortage has been placed at $4,200. It was emphasized that Mrs. Small is not held responsible for the total shortage.

Above-Ground Raid Shelters Urged by Briton in Talk Here

Overground bomb shelters should be constructed in war-threatened countries rather than the famous underground variety common in London, Michael Rosenaur, British architect and fellow of the Royal Institute of Architects, said last night at a dinner of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

ROSENAUR

The speaker explained that concussion waves traveling through the earth after a bomb explodes make the underground shelters more vulnerable than structures above ground. He spoke at the Roger Smith Hotel.

Rosenaur said that the overground structures, with reinforced concrete roof and walls, should include air-conditioning plants for ventilation purposes, and special lighting arrangements.

He emphasized that construction of these shelters involved problems of city planning, but that many buildings already standing could be converted for use as shelters.

The architect also advocated bomb-proof hospitals and rural camps to which urban populations could be evacuated in wartime and which could be used as recreation and open-air health centers in peacetime.

Army Strength Reaches 1,185,600

Copyright by New York Times

The Army reached a strength yesterday of 1,185,600 officers and men, the War Department estimated.

The total figures include the following components: Regular Army, 14,000 officers and 473,000 enlisted men; National Guard, 16,600 officers and 270,000 men in Federal service; Reserve officers, 38,000, and Selective Service trainees, 374,000.

Capital Designated As Defense Area

Washington has been designated by President Roosevelt as a defense housing area under Title VI of the National Housing Act, H. Loy Anderson, District director, announced yesterday.

This means the "normal, reasonable commuting area" of the Nation's Capital is placed in a special category, permitting local builders to use facilities of recently enacted legislation aimed to meet defense housing needs by utilizing private funds insured by FHA.

Army Plane Blows Up; Pilot Killed

Dayton, Ohio, April 10 (AP).—An explosion in midair shattered a Curtiss P-40, one of the Army's fastest pursuit planes today, and the pilot, Lieut. John M. Carlton, 27, of St. Peter, Minn., was killed trying to parachute from an altitude of less than 500 feet. Carlton had been testing planes at Wright Field since last fall. He entered the Army Air Corps in 1938.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.
